Society and Personality Tamotsu Shibutani,2017-09-29 Being an interactionist approach to social psychology Society and Personality deals with people not as isolated individuals but as participants in groups The aim of the book is to help the reader develop an orderly perspective a consistent point of view from which to see his or her own conduct and that of his or her fellows Propositions about behavior seen from the viewpoint are presented and relevant evidence both descriptive and experimental is examined and evaluated The author draws upon the two great intellectual traditions of pragmatism and psychoanalysis and attempts to integrate them into a single consistent approach All concepts are reduced to behavioristic terms defined always in terms of what people do In this way it is possible to draw freely on these two schools and at the same time avoid much of the jargon of both Other approaches to the study of human behavior are frequently mentioned and sometimes discussed but the objective is to give the reader one perspective rather than confuse him with many Of course this standpoint is presented as only one of many possible ways of looking at people Although the book s basic ideas are drawn from two main schools of psychological thought relevant material has been gathered from other sources as well sociology ethnography linguistics experimental psychology and clinical data from psychiatry. One very important extra feature is the List of Personal Documents compiled by the author to guide interested readers to first person accounts biographies diaries clinical records each of which provides a valuable record of human experience Education and Anthropology Annette Rosenstiel, 2019-07-23 Originally published in 1977 and compiled over a period of 25 years of teaching and research in the fields of education and anthropology this annotated bibliography was designed as a single source reflecting 1 historical influences 2 current trends 3 theoretical concerns and 4 practical methodology at the interfaces of these disciplines All entries listed alphabetically by author are numbered for ready reference and the material covered spans nearly three centuries from the earliest entry in 1689 to the most recent in 1976 The volume also contains entries for items dealing with the teaching of anthropology and the use of anthropological concepts and data in teaching For Those Who Come After Arnold Krupat, 2023-04-28 Drawing on the life stories of Native Americans solicited by historians during the 19th century and later by anthropologists concerned with amplifying the cultural record Arnold Krupat examines the Indian autobiography as a specific genre of American writing This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1986 Drawing on the life stories of Native Americans solicited by historians during the 19th century and later by anthropologists concerned with amplifying the cultural record Arnold Krupat examines the Indian autobiography as a specific genre of American w Navajo and the Animal People Steve Pavlik, William B Tsosie, 2014-07-01 This text examines the traditional Navajo relationship to the natural world Specifically how the tribe once related to the Animal People and particularly a category of animals which they collectively referred to as the naatl eetsoh the ones who hunt These animals like Native Americans were once viewed as impediments to progress requiring Both Sides of the Bullpen Robert S. McPherson, 2017-10-19 Between 1880 and 1940 Navaio and Ute extermination families and westward trending Anglos met in the bullpens of southwestern trading posts to barter for material goods As the products of the livestock economy of Navajo culture were exchanged for the merchandise of an industrialized nation a wealth of cultural knowledge also changed hands In Both Sides of the Bullpen Robert S McPherson reveals the ways that Navajo tradition fundamentally reshaped and defined trading practices in the Four Corners area of southeastern Utah and southwestern Colorado Drawing on oral histories of Native peoples and traders collected over thirty years of research McPherson explores these interactions from both perspectives as wool blankets and silver crossed the counter in exchange for flour coffee and hardware To succeed traders had to meet the needs and expectations of their customers often interpreted through Navajo cultural standards From the organization of the post building to gift giving health care and burial services and a credit system tailored to the Navajo calendar every feature of the trading post served trader and customer alike Over time these posts evolved from ad hoc business ventures or profitable cooperative stores into institutions with a clearly defined set of expectations that followed Navajo traditional practices Traders spent their days evaluating craft work learning the financial circumstances of each Native family following economic trends in the wool and livestock industry back east and avoiding conflict In detail and depth the many voices woven throughout Both Sides of the Bullpen restore an underappreciated era to the history of the American Southwest They show us that for American Indians and white traders alike in the Four Corners region during the late 1800s and early 1900s barter was as much a cultural expression as it was an economic necessity Documents of Life 2 Ken Plummer, 2001-03-20 Documents of Life was originally published in 1983 and became a classic text providing both a persuasive argument for a particular approach and a manifesto for social research As a critique of anti humanist methodology in the social sciences it championed the use of life stories and other personal documents in research which are now widely used today This book is a substantially revised and expanded version which takes on recent developments Providing numerous illustrations from a range of life documents the book traces the history of the method examines ways of doing life story research and discusses the many political and ethical issues raised by such research The whole book has been substantially re written and From the Boarding Schools Arnold Krupat, 2023-04 Arnold Krupat's From the Boarding Schools makes available previously unheard Apache voices from the Indian boarding schools It includes selections from two unpublished autobiographies by Sam Kenoi and Dan Nicholas produced in the 1930s with the anthropologist Morris Opler as well as material by and about Vincent Natalish a contemporary of Kenoi and Nicholas Natalish was one of more than one hundred Apaches taken from Fort Marion to the Carlisle Indian School by its superintendent Captain Richard Henry Pratt in 1887 A considerable number of these students died at the school and many who were sent home for illness or poor health did not recover Natalish however remained at Carlisle and graduated in 1899 He married had a son and lived and worked in New York He also actively sought the release of his relatives and other Apaches held prisoner at Fort Sill Oklahoma Apache people have been telling and circulating stories among themselves for generations But in contrast to their neighbors the Hopis and the Navajos Apaches have produced relatively few written autobiographical narratives and even fewer about their boarding school experiences Supplementing the narratives with detailed cultural and historical commentary From the Boarding Schools brings these lived experiences from the archives into Talking to the Ground Douglas Preston, 2019-06-04 From the author of the 1 New York Times current discourse bestseller The Lost City of the Monkey God comes an entrancing eloquent and entertaining account of the author s adventurous journey on horseback through the Southwest in the heart of Navajo desert country In 1992 author Douglas Preston and his wife and daughter rode horseback across 400 miles of desert in Utah Arizona and New Mexico They were

retracing the route of a Navajo deity the Slayer of Alien Gods on his guest to restore beauty and balance to the Earth More than a travelogue Preston's account of their one tough journey luminously remembered Kirkus Reviews is a tale of two cultures meeting in a sacred land and is like traveling across unknown territory with Lewis and Clark to the Pacific Dee Brown author of Bury My Heart At Wounded Knee Women Ethnographers and Native Women Storytellers Susan Berry Brill de Ramírez, 2015-11-19 This book focuses on the collaborative work between Native women storytellers and their female ethnographers and or editors but the book is also about what it is that is constitutive of scientific rigor factual accuracy cultural authenticity and storytelling signification and meaning Regardless of discipline academic ethnographers who conducted their field work research during the twentieth century were trained in the accepted scientific methods and theories of the time that prescribed observation objectivity and evaluative distance In contradistinction to such prescribed methods regarding the ethnographic work conducted among Native Americans it turns out that the intersubjectively relational work of women both ethnographers and the Indigenous storytellers with whom they worked has produced far more reliably factual historically accurate and tribally specific Indigenous autobiographies than the more scientifically objective approaches of most of the male ethnographers This volume provides a close lens to the work of a number of women ethnographers and Native American women storytellers to elucidate the effectiveness of their relational methods Through a combined rhetorical and literary analysis of these ethnographies we are able to differentiate the products of the women s working relationships By shifting our focus away from the surface level textual reading that largely approaches the texts as factually informative documents literary analysis provides access into the deeper levels of the storytelling that lies beneath the surface of the edited texts Non Native scholars and editors such as Franc Johnson Newcomb Ruth Underhill Nancy Lurie Julie Cruikshank and No l Bennett and Native storytellers and writers such as Grandma Klah Mar a Chona Mountain Wolf Woman Mrs Angela Sidney Mrs Kitty Smith Mrs Annie Ned and Tiana Bighorse help us to understand that there are ways by which voices and worlds are more and less disclosed for posterity The results vary based upon the range of factors surrounding their production but consistent across each case is the fact that informational accuracy is contingent upon the the degree of mutual respect and collaboration in the women's working relationships And it is in their pioneering intersubjective methodologies that the work of these women deserves far greater attention and approbation
