Spellbound in Darkness George C. Pratt,1966 Silent Film Sound Rick Altman,2004 Based on extensive original research and filled with gorgeous illustrations Silent Film Sound reconsiders all aspects of sound practices during the silent film period in America Beginning with sound accompaniment and continuing through to the more familiar sound practices of the 1920s renowned film historian Rick Altman discusses the variety of sound strategies cinema exhibitors used to differentiate their products During the nickelodeon period prior to 1910 this variety reached its zenith with carnival like music automatic pianos small orchestras lecturers synchronized sound systems and voices behind the screen In the 1910s musical accompaniment began to support a film s narrative and emotional content with large theaters and blockbuster productions driving the development of new instruments new music publication projects and a new style of film music A monumental achievement Silent Film Sound challenges common assumptions about this period and reveals the complex and swiftly changing nature of silent American cinema The Griffith Project, Volume 9 Paolo Cherchi Usai,2019-07-25 No other silent film director has been so extensively studied as D W Griffith However only a small group of his more than 500 films has been the subject of a systematic analysis and the vast majority of his other works stills await proper examination For the first time in film studies the complete creative output of Griffith from Professional Jealousy 1907 to The Struggle 1931 will be explored in this multi volume collection of contributions from an international team of leading scholars in the field Of Gods and Monsters John T. Griffith,Elizabeth Crespo Kebler,2008 These essays explore various critical dimensions of race from a sociological anthropological and literary perspective They engage with history either textually materially or with respect to identity in an effort to demonstrate that these discourses Early Cinema in Russia and its Cultural Reception Yuri Tsivian,2013-12-13 This book examines the development of cinematic form and culture in Russia from its late nineteenth century beginnings as a fairground attraction to the early post Revolutionary years The author traces the changing perceptions of cinema and its social transition from a modernist invention to a national art form He explores reactions to the earliest films from actors novelists poets writers and journalists His richly detailed study of the physical elements of cinematic performance includes the architecture and illumination of the cinema foyer the speed of projection and film acoustics In contrast to standard film histories this book focuses on reflected images rather than discussing films and film makers it features the historical film goer and early writings on film The book presents a vivid and changing picture of cinema culture in Russia in the twilight of the tsarist era and the first decades of the twentieth century The study expands the whole context of reception studies and opens up questions about reception relevant to other national cinemas Buffalo Bill on the Silver Screen Sandra K.
