Management News Academy of Management, 2002 Broadband in Europe Dan Maldoom, Richard Marsden, American Enterprise Institute, Hal J. Singer, 2005-11-22 Broadband is a key enabler of the information society increasing productivity and competitiveness across all sectors of the economy Unlike traditional narrowband connections broadband provides high speed always on connections to the Internet and supports innovative content and services Direct consumer welfare gains from mass market adoption of broadband across the EU could easily reach 50 billion euros or more per annum This is quite apart from the more profound societal shifts that ubiquitous broadband could bring It may allow the individual to distribute content and ideas independent of traditional media and bring together communities of interest without regard to borders Public policy for broadband will have a big impact on whether and how quickly these benefits are realised Getting policy right could bring large benefits for consumers firms and the economy at large getting policy wrong risks slowing both the rollout of broadband and new innovative services and thus the realisation of the EU's Europe vision In this book we focus on the residential market for broadband access in EU countries analysing the current and prospective level of competition and drawing implications for public policy A key aim is to understand better the relative importance of facilities based and access based provision in fostering competition and promoting take up of broadband services

The Strategic Communication Imperative James Mahoney, 2021-12-30 This book proposes a model for directly aligning strategic communication with organisational business planning to enable effective management of mid to long term organisational issues It argues that current conceptualisations of strategic communication need to be extended to locate it more precisely within definitions of strategy and as an essential element of mid and long term business planning This approach re positions strategic issues communication in a professional practice dimension that has a specific focus on issues that do not immediately impact on an organisation's ability to achieve its day to day business goals Full of contemporary examples from business and including a thorough explanation of how the model can be applied in professional practice the book will prove illuminating reading for scholars students and professionals alike

European Perspectives on Innovation Management Rob Dekkers, Laure Morel, 2023-12-30 This book covers European perspectives on innovation management including new product and service development due to the inherent variety of socio economic perspectives and institutional settings in Europe The numerous settings and differing perspectives explored in the chapters exemplify diversity which ultimately leads to enhancing innovation Understanding such unique approaches will enable companies universities and other actors to more effectively create innovative products and services and policy makers to effectively stimulate growth and innovation The fragmented distributed economies in Europe also put a strong focus on internationalisation including innovation management new product and service development even within the internally open market of the European Economic Area European Perspectives on Innovation Management will be of help to researchers managers entrepreneurs practitioners and students working on innovation management and practices embedded in national and regional innovation systems thus fostering a more innovative Europe
