Service Firms Bente Løwendahl, 2000 The book is written with two audiences in mind the practicing manager of a professional service firm and the student of strategy and knowledge based services With its strong empirical research foundation the book should also be of interest to researchers focusing on managerial issues related to service sector organizations This revised second edition contains a new chapter on internationalization and its implications for firms and governments BOOK JACKET Strategic Management of Professional Service Firms Stephan Kaiser, Max Josef

Ringlstetter, 2011-03-30 Managing The Professional Service Firm David H. Maister, 2012-12-11 Professional service firms differ from other business enterprises in two distinct ways first they provide highly customised services thus cannot apply many of the management principles developed for product based industries Second professional services are highly personalised involving the skills of individuals Such firms must therefore compete not only for clients but also for talented professionals Drawing on more than ten years of research and consulting to these unique and creative companies David Maister explores issues ranging from marketing and business development to multinational strategies human resources policies to profit improvement strategic planning to effective leadership While these issues can be complex Maister simplifies them by recognising that every professional service firm in the world regardless of size specific profession or country of operation has the same mission statement outstanding service to clients satisfying careers for its people and financial success for its owners Performance in Professional Service Firms Felix Schulze-Borges, 2011-03-30 Felix Schulze Borges

Professional Service Firms Laura Empson, Daniel Muzio, Joseph P. Broschak, Christopher Robin Hinings, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of Professional Service Firms discusses firms providing services in the traditional professions such as law accounting and architecture as well as newer sectors such as management consulting advertising and engineering It provides a critical overview of contemporary research on PSFs and suggests avenues of future inquiry Handbook of Research on Entrepreneurship in Professional Services Markus Reihlen, Andreas Werr, 2012-01-01 Professional service firms are critical agents of contemporary economies and understanding them has become a central focus of recent scholarship This very timely and well organized Handbook brings together several leading scholars who explore how we might think and theorize about professional service firms and their entrepreneurial behaviours The Handbook will become a key source for the growing community of researchers in this area Royston Greenwood University of Alberta Canada For too long both researchers and practitioners have presumed that professional service firms follow the status quo when they should better understand how these professionals set the rules for globalization This Handbook reminds us that professionals are as much the shock troops of capitalism as the multinational corporations that they serve As this Handbook shows the leading firms successfully compete with each other by fostering entrepreneurship and innovation in order to service an institutional system that undergirds the international economy Christopher McKenna University of Oxford UK Professional services are increasingly seen as an important foundation for future economic growth and prosperity Yet research on innovative and entrepreneurial processes in professional services has been surprisingly scarce This Handbook provides a collection of original contributions from leading scholars outlining the current stock of knowledge in the area as well as providing directions for further research The expert contributors discuss entrepreneurship and innovation from a number of different perspectives including the entrepreneurial professional team the entrepreneurial firm and the institutional environment The first part of the book looks at the challenges of entrepreneurship specific to the professional service firm while the second explores the creation and exploitation of entrepreneurial opportunities in the professional service team Part III turns to the organization and Part IV to the management and growth of the entrepreneurial professional service firm The final part discusses the interplay between professions firms and the institutional environment Researchers scholars and PhD students in the areas of entrepreneurship and professional service firms along with advanced students of management will find this volume of great value The Governance of Professional Service Firms Dirk Harlacher, 2010 Entrepreneurial Strategies of Professional Service Firms Andreas B. Günther, 2012 Over the past years knowledge intensive industries have gained significant importance as economic factor giving rise to professional service firms PSFs such as law firms accounting firms or consultancies Following this development the research interest especially in the strategies pursued by PSFs has grown substantially However past research focused mainly on strategies of established mature PSFs leaving academics as well as potential entrepreneurs without guidance on what newly founded entrepreneurial PSFs should pay attention to in order to ensure lasting competitive advantages Based on an explorative grounded theory analysis of two outstanding commercial law firm spin offs in Germany this work advances the research in this field In addition to a detailed case study report it offers a comprehensive theoretical framework and argues that PSFs have to employ a set of seven specific entrepreneurial strategies including for example service delivery people development and client acquisition strategies in order to successfully manage the entrepreneurial phase In providing examples for the growing PSF industry the findings on commercial law firm spin offs also inform entrepreneurship research in other professions

Market potential of the Czech Republic for IT Consulting firms Katerina Fischerova, 2000-02-25 Inhaltsangabe Abstract The determination to expand abroad especially in the form of foreign direct investment involves very important and complex decisions that have to be based on a detailed analysis and understanding of opportunities as well as threats The main goal of this thesis is to provide a framework for this decision making in the context of the formulation of long term competitive strategy The thesis is divided into two main parts The first theoretical one should outline the approaches to strategic management in consulting companies with special focus on international expansion It attempts to provide sound background to strategic management in order to answer the following Which principles can be used to manage a consulting company successfully How should FDI decisions be involved in the strategic management Furthermore a broader theoretical framework for analysing market opportunities will be introduced which can be applied to any other market a company might decide to enter An answer to the following question should be found in the text What analytical proceedings should be carried out before final decision to invest in a country is made The second analytical part will be based largely on the tools described in the first part The goal is to provide detailed description of the business environment in the Czech Republic in order to give a qualified answer to the following question Is Czech Republic a strategic opportunity for an IT consulting firm It has been realised by many firms that the CEE market might have an attractive potential and therefore should be paid at least a minimal attention Nevertheless I do not want to overestimate its importance and on the following pages I will try to make a critical assessment whether the Czech Republic should be regarded as a potential opportunity or not Last but not least the provided theoretical frameworks and analysis of the Czech IT market can be regarded either as a form of present or future knowledge i e something a company should have in order to sustain or develop its present market position Short explanations to the limitations set In this thesis I will not attempt to develop any empirical models my main interest will lie in model building at a verbal or a conceptual level that an IT consulting company may use to analyse the opportunities of international expansion In the theoretical part only an overview of reasons to expand abroad is
