Frédéric Bozo, Susan Emanuel

Strategies For The European Construction:

Strategies for the European Construction Sector Commission of the European Communities, 1994      Strategies for the European Construction Sector WS Atkins International Limited, European Commission, 1994 Construction is back on the agenda after two decades of declining markets Environmental concerns the building of European infrastructure networks solving housing problems reconstruction in Eastern Europe and the return to more rapid economic development in many parts of the third world mean there is much to do and many markets to win There is however a danger of failing to grasp these opportunities and of allowing the markets in Europe and the quality of construction to decline This report deals with the long term strategies required to improve the construction sector's competitiveness and quality and to raise the level of construction output It is intended to stimulate debate There will not be universal agreement with the consultants views of the future and the strategies pursued The initiative for action should be expected to come from the firms and their representative in the sector with support and legislation from national governments and from the Community where necessary

Construction Management Strategies Milan Radosavljevic, John Bennett, 2012-04-23 An authoritative textbook on construction management offering a clear model for understanding theoretical aspects The construction industry has become a truly global network of interconnected stakeholders making demands which require the involvement of skilled workforces from all over the world Construction Management Strategies sets the foundations for understanding and managing construction's inherent complexity and uniqueness It establishes clear definitions of commonly accepted terms like built environment construction civil engineering etc which are often given confusing and conflicting interpretations It cuts through the plethora of overlapping role titles currently used in the construction sector that make it difficult to establish how projects are actually managed Construction Management Strategies Offers a robust and consistent theoretical basis to explain the performance of the main approaches to construction management Describes corporate and project management in construction as an integrated whole Provides the basic toolkit a student needs to think through the practical situations they will later face Helps bring the theory of construction management to international students who struggle to find a solid grounding in this complex and fragmented subject Includes a companion website featuring a wealth of directly transferable examples for students as well as PPT slides and topic discussion ideas for lecturers      Two Strategies for Europe Frédéric

Bozo, Susan Emanuel, 2002-07-15 This timely book explores the often stormy French U S relationship and the evolution of the Atlantic Alliance under the presidency of Charles de Gaulle 1958-1969 The first work on this subject to draw on previously inaccessible material from U S and French archives the study offers a comprehensive analysis of Gaullist policies toward NATO and the United States during the 1960s a period that reached its apogee with de Gaulle's dramatic decision in 1966 to withdraw from NATO's integrated military arm This launched the French policy of autonomy within NATO which has since been adapted without having been abandoned De Gaulle's policy often has been caricatured by admirers and detractors alike as an expression of nationalism or anti Americanism Yet Frederic Bozo argues that although it did reflect the GeneralOs quest for grandeur it also and perhaps more important stemmed from a genuine strategy designed to build an independent Europe and to help overcome the system of blocs Indeed the author contends de GaulleOs actions forced NATO to adapt to new strategic realities Retracing the different phases of de GaulleOs policies Bozo provides valuable insight into current French approaches to foreign and security policy including the recent attempt by President Chirac to redefine and normalize the France NATO relationship As the author shows de GaulleOs legacy remains vigorous as France grapples with European integration a new role within a reformed NATO and relations with the United States

Strategies and methods for implementing CE in construction activities in the Nordic countries: supporting cases Wahlström, Margareta, zu Castell-Rüdenhausen, Malin, Fruergaard Astrup, Thilde, Oberender, Anke, Jensen, Carl, Johansson, Pernilla, Wærner, Eirik, 2021-04-12 Available online <https://pub.norden.org/temanord2021/508> The national strategies for a circular economy set the overall targets for implementation of circular economy in the country Putting theory into practice via local strategies can be a good means for the transition towards a circular economy in the construction sector Municipalities can set demands for CE solutions by requiring e.g. the use of recycled and/or recyclable construction materials the application of design for disassembly principles in construction and requiring resource mapping and reuse and recycling in the demolition phase The study identifies and presents cases and experiences from the implementation of CE concepts at the local level in the Nordic communities with a focus on construction renovation and demolition Barriers and drivers for the uptake of CE solutions are analysed and enabling factors that could support the implementation of circular economy concepts and identified barriers in norms legislation and guidelines are described As part of the project the project group gave 10 policy recommendations

Neighbourhood Policy and the Construction of the European External Borders Filippo Celata, Raffaella Coletti, 2015-06-11 This book looks both backward and forward with regard to the European Union's political strategies towards its neighbouring countries By bringing together the perspectives of critical geopolitics policy studies and border studies it presents a comprehensive review of the European Neighbourhood Policy and how it impacts the ongoing construction of the EU's external frontiers Is the EU committed to promoting integration in a wider European space or is a fortress Europe emerging where the strengthening of internal cohesion is coupled with the militarisation of its external borders The book aims to problematize this question by showing how the EU's external policies are based on a mixture of openness and closure inclusion and exclusion cooperation and securitisation The European Neighbourhood Policy is a controversial strategy where regionalization and bordering homogenisations and differentiations centrifugal and centripetal forces proceed side by side in an explicit attempt to construct a selective mobile and fragmented border A specific focus is devoted to the diversity of geo strategies the EU is pursuing in its neighbouring countries and regions macro regional strategies and cross border cooperation initiatives as new scales of cooperation and the role of other global players

Strategies for Circular Economy and Cross-sectoral Exchanges for Sustainable Building Products Marco Migliore, Cinzia Talamo, Giancarlo Paganin, 2019-09-25 This book offers a valuable tool for understanding current efforts to promote the reuse and enhancement of pre consumer waste in the development of new products for the construction sector as well as the financial and regulatory tools being used to support this trend It explores the vast and complex topic of the circular economy from the perspective of strategies for the reuse recycling of waste and develops a number of key premises waste reuse recycling must be considered using a logic of cross sectorality recognizing the need to enhance the dialogue between different sectors pre consumer waste is particularly interesting for the recycling market because the construction sector can reduce its environmental impacts by enhancing its capacity to use secondary raw materials and by products from other sectors and lastly the manufacturing sector is currently experimenting with promising forms of reducing recycling pre consumer waste and is at the same time providing by products that can be used in other production chains As such the book offers a valuable asset for professionals who are interested in sustainability in construction and in the study of construction products however it will be equally useful for local decision makers tasked with implementing development policies and innovations in the industrial sector

Social Democratic Party Policies in Contemporary Europe Giuliano Bonoli, Martin Powell, 2004-07-31 The end of the twentieth century saw an unprecedented coincidence of electoral success for social democratic parties in western Europe leading to intensive discussion on the future of this new European left. The debates often centred on the notion of a Third way and generated major expectations for policy change among social democratic politicians and voters. The authors collected here examine the recent social and employment policies of these progressive parties looking for change in the guiding principles of policy and on actual policy decisions. They show how the maxims of demand management and egalitarianism have been replaced by social investment and equality of opportunity and demonstrate the full extent of convergence on policies such as employment maximization, the containment of social expenditure and a shift towards a social investment welfare state.

Embedding Resilience in the Built Environment Using the EU Taxonomy Elzbieta Rynska, 2025-02-14. Taxonomy is the common name for an EU regulation that supports companies in sustainable environmental and climate action. Regulation EU No 2020/852. It is a classification tool designed for investors, companies and financial institutions to define the environmental impact of business activities and the requirements that organisations must meet to be considered as sustainable. The aim of this book is to examine the EU taxonomy from the built environment perspective and the ways in which it can be used to build resilience in real estate. It presents the issues, hot points and possible choices from the designers, construction consultants and investing bodies' points of view, those who must set forth initial conditions which should later become the keystones for greener developments. It brings together the expertise of a unique team of both researchers and professionals and presents a methodology, case studies and solutions which together comprise a novel understanding of the taxonomy's influence on the pre-construction phase. The book describes the role of the built environment within sustainable development and how real estate can be used to build resilience. With the use of taxonomy, it describes the characteristics of resilient environmentally friendly cities in the future, proposes a roadmap to demonstrate urban policies that promote decarbonisation and enables investors to compare their products, operations and strategies in terms of sustainability. Overall, this book is essential reading for decision makers in the public and private sectors, urban developers, space and spatial designers, architects, planners, community stakeholders and real estate investors.
