

Business core processes model landscape

This diagram illustrates the Business Core Processes Model Landscape, showing the relationship between Management Processes, Core Processes, and Support Processes. The diagram is organized into three main horizontal layers: Management Processes (top), Core Processes (middle), and Support Processes (bottom). The Management Processes layer includes Strategy Planning, Marketing, Finance Management, Management of core and compliance, and Quality Management. The Core Processes layer is divided into three main categories: Development & Innovation, Business Development & Sales, and Operations & Order Processing. Each category contains a sequence of processes represented by arrows. The Support Processes layer includes Human Resources, Information Systems, Legal, Compliance, and Risk Management, and Management of core and compliance. The diagram is flanked by two vertical bars: 'Customer and Market Interface' on the left and 'Customer and Market Interface' on the right.
