The Street of Crocodiles Bruno Schulz, 1977 The Street of Crocodiles in the Polish city of Drohobych is a street of memories and dreams where recollections of Bruno Schulz's uncommon boyhood and of the eerie side of his merchant family's life are evoked in a startling blend of the real and the fantastic Most memorable and most chilling is the portrait of the author's father a maddened shopkeeper who imports rare birds eggs to hatch in his attic who believes tailors dummies should be treated like people and whose obsessive fear of cockroaches causes him to resemble one Bruno Schulz a Polish Jew killed by the Nazis in 1942 is considered by many to have been the leading Polish writer between the two world wars

Time Images Tyrus Miller, 2020-07-13 The concept of time image this book argues holds broad potential for the historical interpretation of cultural and aesthetic works Many works that would not ordinarily be thought to be historical artifacts reveal their intrinsic historical character in light of this innovative interpretative concept The book's first section Time Images as Theory and Historiography considers alternative temporalities underlying historicizing theories and specific practices of history Examples treated here include the notion of retro avantgardism works by the Frankfurt School on the interrelations of images and history and Mass Observation's dream documentation project The second section Time Images in Modernist and Postmodernist Literature considers literary instances in which alternative notions of historical time are engaged These include discussions of Wyndham Lewis and cultural revolution Theodor Adorno's reading of Samuel Beckett's Endgame and Pier Paolo Pasolini's use of Antonio Gramsci in the practice of poetry and philology The third section Moving Images of Time discusses questions of cinema including children's experience in films depicting traumatic historical events the Quay Brothers animated adaptation of Bruno Schulz's Street of Crocodiles and Sergei Eisenstein's and Charles Olson's engagements in Mexico with pictographic representation etymology and archeological time

Engendering Realism and Postmodernism Beate Neumeier, 2001 This volume assembles critical essays on and excerpts from works of contemporary women writers in Britain Its focus is the interaction of aesthetic play and ethical commitment in the fictional work of women writers whose interest in testing and transgressing textual boundaries is rooted in a specific awareness of a gendered multicultural reality This position calls for a distinctly critical impetus of their writing involving the interaction of the political and the literary as expressed in innovative combinations of realist and postmodern techniques in works by A S Byatt Maureen Duffy Zoe Fairbairns Eva Figes Penelope Lively Sara Maitland Suniti Namjoshi Ravinder Randhawa Joan Riley Michele Roberts Emma Tennant Fay Weldon Jeanette Winterson All contributions to this volume address aspects of these writers positions and techniques with a clear focus on their interest in transgressing boundaries of genre gender and post colonial identity The special quality of these interpretations first given in the presence of writers at a symposium in Potsdam derives from the creative and prosperous interactions between authors and critics The volume concludes with excerpts from the works of the participating writers which exemplify the range of concrete concerns and technical accomplishments discussed in the essays They are taken from fictional works by Debjani Chatterjee Maureen Duffy Zoe Fairbairns Eva Figes Sara Maitland and Ravinder Randhawa They also include the creative interactions of Suniti Namjoshi and Gillian Hanscombe in their joint writing and Paul Magrs critical engagement with Sara Maitland

Bruno Schulz: An Artist, a Murder, and the Hijacking of History Benjamin Balint, 2023-04-11 Winner of the 73rd National Jewish Book Award for Biography A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice A fresh portrait of the Polish Jewish writer and artist and a gripping account of the secret operation to rescue his last artworks The twentieth century artist Bruno Schulz was born an Austrian lived as a Pole and died a Jew First a citizen of the Habsburg monarchy he would without moving become the subject of the West Ukrainian People's Republic the Second Polish Republic the USSR and finally the Third Reich Yet to use his own metaphor Schulz remained throughout a citizen of the Republic of Dreams He was a master of twentieth century imaginative fiction who mapped the anxious perplexities of his time Isaac Bashevis Singer called him one of the most remarkable writers who ever lived Schulz was also a talented illustrator and graphic artist whose masochistic drawings would catch the eye of a sadistic Nazi officer Schulz's art became the currency in which he bought life Drawing on extensive new reporting and archival research Benjamin Balint chases the inventive murals Schulz painted on the walls of an SS villa the last traces of his vanished world into multiple dimensions of the artist's life and afterlife Sixty years after Schulz was murdered those murals were miraculously rediscovered only to be secretly smuggled by Israeli agents to Jerusalem The ensuing international furor summoned broader perplexities not just about who has the right to curate orphaned artworks and to construe their meanings but about who can claim to stand guard over the legacy of Jews killed in the Nazi slaughter By re-creating the artist's milieu at a crossroads not just of Jewish and Polish culture but of art sex and violence Bruno Schulz itself stands as an act of belated restitution offering a kaleidoscopic portrait of a life with all its paradoxes and curtailed possibilities

Animation: A World History Giannalberto Bendazzi, 2015-10-23 A continuation of 1994's groundbreaking Cartoons Giannalberto Bendazzi's Animation: A World History is the largest, deepest, most comprehensive text of its kind based on the idea that animation is an art form that deserves its own place in scholarship. Bendazzi delves beyond just Disney, offering readers glimpses into the animation of Russia, Africa, Latin America, and other often neglected areas, and introducing over fifty previously undiscovered artists. Full of first-hand, never-before-investigated and elsewhere unavailable information, Animation: A World History encompasses the history of animation production on every continent over the span of three centuries. Volume II delves into the decades following the Golden Age, an uncertain time when television series were overshadowing feature films; art was heavily influenced by the Cold War, and new technologies began to emerge that threatened the traditional methods of animation. Take part in the turmoil of the 1950s through 90s as American animation began to lose its momentum, and the advent of television created a global interest in the art form. With a wealth of new research, hundreds of photographs and film stills, and an easy-to-navigate organization, this book is essential reading for all serious students of animation history.

Key Features: Over 200 high-quality headshots and film stills to add visual reference to your research. Detailed information on hundreds of never-before-researched animators and films. Coverage of animation from more than 90 countries and every major region of the world. Chronological and geographical organization for quick access to the information you're looking for.

Cities and Wetlands Rod Giblett, 2016-08-11 This book is available as open access through the Bloomsbury Open Access programme and is available on www.bloomsburycollections.com. From New Orleans to New York, from London to Paris to Venice, many of the world's great cities were built on wetlands and swamps. Cities and Wetlands is the first book to explore the literary and cultural histories of these cities and their relationships to their environments and buried histories. Developing a ground-breaking new mode of psychoanalytic ecology and surveying a wide range of major cities in North America and Europe, ecocritic and activist Rod Giblett shows how the wetland origins of these cities haunt their later literature and culture, and might prompt us to reconsider the relationship between human culture and the environment. Cities covered include Berlin, Boston, Chicago, Hamburg, London, New Orleans, New York, Paris, St Petersburg, Toronto, Venice, and Washington.

Theatre and National Identity Nadine Holdsworth, 2014-06-27 This book explores the ways that pre-existing national works or national theatre sites can offer a rich source of material for speaking to the contemporary moment because of the resonances or associations they offer of a different time, place, politics, or culture. Featuring a broad international scope, it offers a series of thought-provoking essays that explore how playwrights, directors, theatre makers, and performance artists have re-staged or re-worked a classic national play, performance, theatrical form, or theatre space in order to engage with conceptions of and questions around the nation, nationalism, and national identity in the contemporary moment, opening up new ways of thinking about or problematizing questions around the nation and national identity Chapters ask how productions engage with a particular moment in the national psyche in the context of internationalism and globalization for example as well as how productions explore the interconnectivity of nations intercultural agendas or cosmopolitanism They also explore questions relating to the presence of migrants exiles or refugees and the legacy of colonial histories and post colonial subjectivities The volume highlights how theatre and performance has the ability to contest and unsettle ideas of the nation and national identity through the use of various sites stagings and performance strategies and how contemporary theatres have portrayed national agendas and characters at a time of intense cultural flux and repositioning
