The Lost Brothers Jack El-Hai, 2019-10-22 The dread the drama and the hope of a break in one of the country's oldest active missing child investigations On a cold November afternoon in 1951 three young boys went out to play in Farview Park in north Minneapolis The Klein brothers Kenneth Jr 8 David 6 and Danny 4 never came home When two caps turned up on the ice of the Mississippi River investigators concluded that the boys had drowned and closed the case The boys' parents were unconvinced hoping against hope that their sons would still be found Sixty long years would pass before two sheriff's deputies with new information in hand and the FBI on board could convince the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension to reopen the case This is the story of that decades long ordeal one of the oldest known active missing child investigations told by a writer whose own research for an article in 1998 sparked new interest in the boys' disappearance Beginning in 2012 when deputies Jessica Miller and Lance Salls took up the Kleins' cause author Jack El Hai returns to the mountain of clues amassed through the years then follows the trail traced over time by the boys' indefatigable parents right back to those critical moments in 1951 Told in brisk longform journalism style The Lost Brothers captures the Kleins' initial terror and confusion but also the unstinting effort with its underlying faith that carried them from psychics to reporters to private investigators and TV producers and ultimately produced results that cast doubt on the drowning verdict and even suggested possible suspects in the boys' abduction An intimate portrait of a parent's worst nightmare and its terrible toll on a family the book is also a genuine mystery spinning out suspense at every missed turn or potential lead along with its hope for resolution in the end

Thomas Wolfe and Lost Children in Southern Literature Paula Eckard, 2024-01-12 Paula Gallant Eckard not only explores the utterly teachable The Lost Boy she also provides substantive and provocative readings of a wide variety of contemporary Southern fiction Through her critical analysis and admirable focus on lost children and children suffering loss Eckard examines how some contemporary writers provide new stories of the Civil War the role of other wars in Southern lives and the centrality of family Margaret M Bauer Rivers Chair of Southern Literature at East Carolina University First published in 1937 Thomas Wolfe's The Lost Boy gives name to the theme of lost children that has permeated much of southern literature and provides a template for telling their stories In Thomas Wolfe and Lost Children in Southern Literature which grew out of many years of teaching The Lost Boy and other works of southern literature Paula Gallant Eckard uses Wolfe's novel as a starting point to trace thematic connections among contemporary southern novels that are comparably evocative in their treatment of lostness Eckard explores six authors and their works Fred Chappell's I Am One of You Forever Mark Powell's Prodigals Kaye Gibbons's Ellen Foster Sue Monk Kidd's The Secret Life of Bees Bobbie Anne Mason's In Country Robert Olmstead's Coal Black Horse and Lee Smith's On Agate Hill Though each novel is unique and a product of its own time period all the novels explored here are cast against the backdrop of the South during eras of conflict and change Like The Lost Boy these novels reflect a sense of history a sense of loss associated with that history and an innate love of story and narrative as well as representations of work that historically have defined the lives of individuals and families throughout the South In its artistic treatment of lostness The Lost Boy creates a significant literary legacy As Eckard demonstrates that legacy continues in the form of these six contemporary authors who in writing about the South perpetuate Wolfe's efforts as they also create or find the lost child in new ways
