Prevention Zili Sloboda, William J. Bukoski, 2007-08-06 There are a number of reasons why this book is important First there is no one source that summarizes what we know about the prevention of substance abuse from the research field so the book serves as a repository of accumulated knowledge on prevention theory intervention design and development and prevention research methodology Second as an evolving field prevention science has only begun to assert itself in both the arenas of practice and policy The formation of the Society for Prevention Research in 1991 was the first recognition that a science of prevention existed and required a separate forum to present the rapidly growing content of the field for discussion and review Finally there is a need to establish a baseline a reference point against which progress in the field of prevention science can be assessed This book serves all of these purposes The idea for this book grew from the observation in the early 1990s that after decades of attempts to develop effective interventions to prevent drug use among children and adolescents in the United States that we were finally having success particularly in addressing the initiation of use These successes are the result of research that has provided a better understanding of the factors and processes associated with the onset of substance use Achieving the National Education Goals Barry Leonard, 1999 Designed to inform people involved in education reform of the myriad of programs and resources available from the federal government to support each of the National Education Goals The effectiveness of local efforts can be strengthened if reformers are informed of the funding and technical resources that are available Includes programs of U S Dept of Agriculture Defense Air Force Education Health and Human Services Housing and Urban Development Justice National Endowment for the Arts National Endowment for the Humanities National Science Foundation Institute of Museum Services and the Smithsonian Combating Violence and Delinquency, 1996 Evidence-based Parenting Education James Ponzetti, Jr., 2015-08-14 This is the first book to provide a multidisciplinary critical and global overview of evidence based parenting education PEd programs Readers are introduced to the best practices for designing implementing and evaluating effective PEd programs in order to teach clients how to be effective parents Noted contributors from various disciplines examine evidence based programs from the U S Canada Europe

Asia Australia as well as web based alternatives The best practices used in a number of venues are explored often by the developers themselves Examples and discussion questions encourage application of the material Critical guidance for those who wish to design implement and evaluate PEd programs in various settings is provided All chapters feature learning goals an introduction conclusion key points discussion questions and additional resources In addition to these elements chapters in Part III follow a consistent structure so readers can easily compare programs theoretical foundations and history needs assessment and target audience program goals objectives curriculum issues cultural Implications evidence based research and evaluation and professional preparation and training issues The editor has taught parenting and family life education courses for years This book reviews the key information that his students needed to become competent professionals Highlights of the book s coverage include Comprehensive summary of evidence based PEd training programs in one volume Prepares readers for professional practice as a Certified Family Life Educator CFLE by highlighting the fundamentals of developing and evaluating PEd programs Exposes readers to models of parenting education from around the world The book opens with a historical overview of PEd development It is followed by 20 chapters divided in four parts The initial six chapters focus on fundamentals of parenting education program design implementation evaluation the role of mediators and moderators as well as the U S Cooperative Extension Parent Framework The three chapters in Part II review the latest status of parenting education in Europe Asia and web based alternatives Part III presents ten stellar evidence based parenting programs offered around the world In addition to the learning goals introduction conclusion key points discussion questions and additional resources that are found in all chapters those in Part III also consider theoretical foundations and history needs assessment and target audience program goals objectives curriculum issues cultural Implications evidence based research and evaluation and professional preparation and training issues Part IV reviews future directions Ideal for advanced undergraduate or graduate courses in parent education parent child relations parenting early childhood or family life education family therapy and home school and community services taught in human development and family studies psychology social work sociology education nursing and more the book also serves as a resource for practitioners counselors clergy members and policy makers interested in evidence based PEd programs or those seeking to become CFLEs or Parent Educators
