Strengthening The United Nations And Enhancing War Prevention:

Strengthening the United Nations and Enhancing War Prevention John Norton Moore, Alex Morrison, 2000 When the UN was created during the closing months of World War II its primary purpose was to maintain international peace and security Sadly the Cold War quickly undermined that goal and reduced effective Security Council actions with the exception of an unusual setting in Korea to peripheral conflicts The fall of the Berlin Wall followed quickly by dramatic Security Council success during Operation Desert Storm led many to envision the effective realization of the original UN dream But subsequent mistakes in Bosnia and Somalia quickly dampened expectations and promoted speculation that perhaps it was simply unrealistic to expect the UN to do much about armed conflict This important volume by Moore and Morrison brings together a remarkable international group of senior theorists and practitioners to address ways in which the United Nations can play an important and effective role in keeping the peace and preventing international armed conflict Originating as a joint project by the Center for National Security Law at the University of Virginia School of Law and the Lester B Pearson Canadian International Peacekeeping Training Centre this volume features contributions by the Legal Adviser to the Canadian Department of Foreign Affairs an experienced UN diplomat a retired Canadian officer who has trained hundreds of international peacekeepers from scores of countries around the globe an American legal scholar who served for two terms as the first Chairman of the Board of the U S Institute of Peace and the dean of American political scientists specializing in international organizations Given the diversity of the contributors their conclusions and recommendations are remarkably similar including the necessity of active U S leadership if UN peacekeeping is to be successful Anyone interested in the subject will benefit from their insights on this important topic and it is must reading for policymakers and anyone actually involved in the business of peacekeeping Peacekeeping and the International System Norrie MacQueen, 2006-10-16 A comprehensive text on the history and politics of peacekeeping primarily in the post World War Two period but dealing also with pre 1939 precursors While it will deal principally with operations undertaken by the United Nations it will also

Pragmatic Liberal Approach To World Order Nejat Dogan, 2012-12-21 There are two well known approaches to the study of international relations Realism and Idealism This book explores the writings of Inis L Claude Jr a preeminent scholar on international relations to define a third approach Pragmatic liberalism an in between approach argues that a liberal world order can be sustained and promoted by the pragmatic application of liberal principles It rejects both the over pessimism of Realism and the over optimism of Idealism while refusing to maintain that the anarchic nature of the international system is unchangeable or even that we can change it overnight However it is possible to eventually improve the international system This melioristic approach to world order and international relations can be explained through the sophisticated writings of Inis L Claude Jr who has remained a celebrated scholar and an example to students of international relations everywhere for over a half century The United Nations Sven Bernhard Gareis, 2012-03-29 There hardly seems to be a global issue in the world today in which the United Nations UN is not expected to play a key role And indeed despite a persistent gulf between high expectations and the UN s capacities the organization continues to be a unique and indispensable actor in areas such as peace maintenance human rights protection and development Thoroughly revised and updated the second edition of this highly acclaimed text provides a concise analysis of the UN its structure and work achievements and shortcomings and its likely role and prospects in the twenty first century The new edition covers the latest institutional and structural developments including the creation of the Peacebuilding Commission and the establishment of a permanent Human Rights Council and reflects recent debates on UN reform Rethinking Humanitarian Intervention Brian D. Peacekeeping Operations ,2007 On the Redundancy of the United Nations - Improving the Allocation of Social, Economic, and Military Resources in the Global Community Mark O'Doherty, 2018-01-22 In its 70 years the United Nations may have been hailed as the great hope for the future of mankind it s biggest achievement being the Universal Declaration of Human Rights according to the author a notion comparable to the belief in the Easter Bunny and the Tooth Fairy the UN failing to give any concrete incentive to the global community to believe in this extremely abstract ideology Infuriating with its numbing bureaucracy its institutional cover ups of corruption and the undemocratic politics of its security council the UN goes to war in the name of peace but has been a bystander through genocide It has spent more than half a trillion dollars in 70 years it is bloated undemocratic and very expensive costing over 40 billion dollars a year Hence the author concludes that the UN has become redundant in today s Information Age offering suggestions to improve the allocation of social economic and military resources so that social equality and harmony can be improved in the Global Community

Virginia journal of international law ,2002      UN Emergency Peace Service and the Responsibility to Protect Annie Herro, 2016-05-20 This book examines the attitudes of political military and non state actors towards the idea of a UN Emergency Peace Service and the issues that might affect the establishment of this service in both theory and practice The United Nations Emergency Peace Service UNEPS is a civil society led idea to establish a permanent UN service to improve UN peace operations as well as to operationalise the emerging norm of the responsibility to protect civilians from atrocity crimes The UNEPS proposal has received limited support The book argues that interest in and support for the UNEPS proposal is determined by perceptions that it would erode state sovereignty the extent to which the principles of the proposal are consistent with actors views on the world and perceptions on whether UNEPS will realistically be capable of contributing to the workings of the UN and regional peacekeeping systems in areas that are seen to be deficient This book makes the case for localising the UNEPS proposal so that it is more consistent with attitudes of those consulted for this research It concludes that the development of a series of less ambitious proposals could be the first steps to creating a rapidly deployable service with the mandate to prevent atrocity crimes This book will be of much interest to students of peace operations the Responsibility to Protect international organisations IR and security studies
