Nonviolent Action Ronald M. McCarthy, Gene Sharp, Brad Bennett, 2013-07-04 This comprehensive guide to research sources and theories about nonviolent action as a technique of struggle in social and political conflicts discusses the methods and techniques used by groups in various encounters Although violence and its causes have received a great deal of attention nonviolent action has not received its due as an international phenomenon with a long history An introduction that explains the theories and research used in the study provides a practical guide to this essential bibliography of English language sources The first part of the book covers case study materials divided by region and subdivided by country Within each country materials are arranged chronologically and topically The second major part examines the methods and theory of nonviolent action principled nonviolence and several closely related areas in social science such as conflict analysis and social movements The book is indexed by author and subject The People's Champion, Fred Paterson Ross Fitzgerald, 1997 The first biography of F W Paterson radical barrister and Communist Party MLA for Bowen from 1944 to 1950 when his electorate was gerrymandered out of existence by the ruling Labor Party Detailed index Law and Order in Australia Donald James Weatherburn, 2004 How much crime is committed in Australia What sort of crime where and by whom What can we do to stop it This book deals in facts and dispels myths Don Weatherburn Director of the NSW Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research shows how policies are driven by the political need to manage public reactions not to control and prevent crime Law and Order in Australia informs public debate about crime in Australia by contrasting popular assumptions about crime and crime control with what is actually known to be true The opening chapter sets the scene by asking how serious Australia's crime problems are Weatherburn then offers a critique of the way Australian governments attempt to deal with Australia's crime problems This is followed by the foundations for a discussion of what actually works in crime prevention and control by highlighting some basic facts about crime and offenders The final chapters discuss what the evidence reveals about crime prevention and control and the key issues in crime prevention and control in Australia Weatherburn clearly provides numerous ideas for better policies ones that will actually work Communism in Australia Beverley Symons, 1994 This bibliography covers the 70 years of existence of the Communist Party in Australia The material listed relates not only to the CPA but to its allied and breakaway movements from 1920 to 1991 Contains over 3400 references and includes a name index Work and Strife in Paradise Bradley Bowden, 2009 From Queensland's inception as a self governing colony in December 1859 the issue of labour relations has preoccupied governments and shaped the experiences of its working men and women However despite the often turbulent nature of labour relations in Queensland there has prior to this book been no attempt to provide an overview of the system as a whole This important addition to Queensland's sesquicentenary celebrations redresses this failure looking at the diverse range of experiences that together made up a unique system of labour relations including those of employers women workers indigenous workers unions the

Queensland Industrial Relations Commission labour law industrial disputation the workings of health and safety system and life in regional areas It is argued that overall Queensland s system of industrial regulation was central to its economic and social development Despite past emphasis on the large scale strikes that periodically raked the state this book finds that consensus normally prevailed

Neither Power Nor Glory Paul Strangio,2012 When Frank Hardy published Power Without Glory his notorious novel about corruption and venality in the Victorian Labor Party it quickly came to be seen as a true account of the party Until now there has been no authoritative chronicle of the struggles of political Labor in Victoria from its origins in the mid nineteenth century through to the calamitous split of the 1950s By conventional measures these were fallow years Ensnared by the colony s powerful liberal protectionist tradition in the late nineteenth century Victorian Labor then found itself hindered by a grossly unfair electoral system and the lack of a constituency outside Melbourne s industrial suburbs But exile from government also meant that the party developed its own distinctive traditions and culture It was a unique and intriguing species among the state Labor parties Meticulously researched and elegantly written Neither Power Nor Glory fills an important gap in Australian political history and our understanding of the Labor Party It is also a timely antidote to nostalgia about Labor s past In Victoria at least that past was anything but golden

Days of Violence Gavin Brown,2009-07-27 Days of Violence The 1923 police strike in Melbourne The police strike of 1923 resulted in a weekend orgy of destruction Three persons were killed and property valued at hundreds of thousands of pounds destroyed in the Melbourne central business district The strike resulted from a breakdown in communication between an inept Chief Commissioner and a manipulative constable determined to be as vindictive as possible It sucked in the Government and the Police Association Its most immediate cause was a system of supervision by senior constables in plain clothes which the men bitterly resented The other major factors leading to the strike were the abolition of police pensions in 1906 the very poor standards of pay and conditions when compared with the New South Wales police and the revolting barrack accommodation in which single men resided First warning of impending disaster occurred on a Wednesday night shift when twenty nine men refused to parade at Russell Street The Chief Commissioner was summoned and the men walked to their beats two hours later After discussion between the parties the same group refused to parade and the Chief Commissioner directed their discharge and the dismissal of two men whom he believed to be their ring leaders The manner in which other men were confronted eventually led to almost one third of uniformed constables joining the strikers Unfortunately for these men rioting in the city turned a skirmish into an all out war in which the Government and the Chief Commissioner very early in the event determined to take no prisoners Although the Government immediately met virtually all the strikers demands none was reinstated in the Force

Brinkmanship is a feature of police industrial relations in the last years of this millennium Days of Violence contains powerful lessons for all parties the Government the police administration the police associations and the members Gavin Brown and Robert Haldane have produced an engrossing and detailed account of a neglected period in Melbourne s history when the security of the community was threatened by the withdrawal of labour by its guardians in the only strike by police in Australia s history

Coal, Class & Community Len Richardson,2013-11-01 Geographically isolated and long regarded as the quintessential proletarians industrial bogeymen and revolutionaries coal miners occupy an important place in the history of industrial radicalism in New Zealand Looking behind the stereotypes this study tells a story about New Zealand s industrial past with clear identification of the central issues and attention to the colorful personalities involved In Their Merit Rodney Gouttman,2015-03-06 Australia entered the Great War of 191418 on the coattails of her imperial mother Great Britain Some 420 000 of her citizens fought in the islands off New Guinea Gallipoli the Western Front and the Middle East Among them was a relatively large chunk of the countrys small Jewish population The precise number remains unknown since many enlisted as Christians The Jewish story of World War I is far more complex than the current communal narrative monopolised as it is by the superb military leadership of General Sir John Monash and the avowals of passionate loyalty of Australian Jewry to king country and empire It is claimed that this was manifest in its relatively large enlistment and war effort on the home front At all times an edgy Anglo Australian Jewish leadership was looking over its shoulder worried by possible accusations of disloyalty The sketchy account of the Australian Jewish involvement in World War I is due to a lack of evidence from that era and little enthusiasm for collecting whatever was available subsequently Much of what does exist lacks a grassroots Jewish voice except for a few diaries and letters Nonetheless it is most likely that the capacity of Jewish communal leaders to influence the average Australian Jews attitude to enlistment or home front activities was minimal One matter is certain and that is that a strong belief in social integration helped prevent the formation of any communal organisation to care for ill and wounded Jewish veterans Australia's Boldest Experiment Stuart Macintyre, 2015-06-01 In this landmark book Stuart Macintyre explains how a country traumatised by World War I hammered by the Depression and overstretched by World War II became a prosperous successful and growing society by the 1950s An extraordinary group of individuals notably John Curtin Ben Chifley Nugget Coombs John Dedman and Robert Menzies re made the country planning its reconstruction against a background of wartime sacrifice and austerity The other part of this triumphant story shows Australia on the world stage seeking to fashion a new world order that would bring peace and prosperity This book shows the 1940s to be a pivotal decade in Australia At the height of his powers Macintyre reminds us that key components of the society we take for granted work welfare health education immigration housing are not the result of military endeavour but policy planning politics and popular resolve Fuss That Never Ended Deborah Gare, Geoffrey Bolton, Stuart Macintyre, Tom Stannage, 2013-04-18 It is time to reassess the work of Geoffrey Blainey and consider his role in Australian history politics and public life Geoffrey Blainey has steered Australian history into the nation s conversation No one would dispute that he is a courageous public intellectual a writer of rare grace and a master storyteller And he has indeed provoked a rare fuss both public and professional with some of his comments on Asian immigration and Aboriginal land rights Blainey has challenged the academic history profession not only with his ideas but also by his practice A brilliant student he looked set for Oxford but chose instead the austere west coast of Tasmania for his postgraduate research For the next decade he earned a living with his pen And instead of political history in the traditional academic mould he wrote corporate histories that dispensed with footnotes Always probing and speculative Blainey has dislodged many of the keystones in our understandings of Australia s past He was one of the first to write about the expansive social history of this land before 1788 he questioned whether Botany Bay was founded primarily as a convict colony he argued that the Eureka uprising had economic rather than political causes and he identified sport as a neglected key to the Australian character His controversial views earned such newspaper headlines as Brave Man Set Upon by Thugs for Telling Truth In The Fuss That Never Ended a lively and distinguished assembly of fellow historians of various ages interests and political stances take a fresh look at Blainey s remarkable and sometimes controversial career John Curtin Lloyd Ross, 2018-07-20 This is an important classic biography of an Australian Prime Minister whose life still exerts an abiding influence on Australian society and national consciousness a key figure in Australian history Curtin was a complex character Warm and sympathetic but cold and aloof a comrade but a loner a rebel and anti conscriptionist but Prime Minister Moody irritable uncertain changeable vacillating temperamental opportunist sentimental courageous all are true of Curtin Lloyd Ross sums up the character of the wartime Labor Prime Minister who fought Churchill to bring back Australian troops from Europe to defend our nation An intense and passionate orator Curtin inspired respect in cynical Australians by his unassuming dignity straightforwardness and refusal of any personal privilege Claiming the City Shelton Stromquist, 2023-02-14 How workers fought for municipal socialism to make cities around the globe livable and democratic and what the lessons are for today Winner of the International Labor History Association ILHA 2023 Book of the Year Award for labor history For more than a century municipal socialism has fired the imaginations of workers fighting to make cities livable and democratic At every turn propertied elites challenged their right to govern Prominent US labor historian Shelton Stromquist offers the first global account of the origins of this new trans local socialist politics He explains how and why cities after 1890 became crucibles for municipal socialism Drawing on the colorful stories of local activists and their social democratic movements in cities as diverse as Broken Hill Christchurch Malm Bradford Stuttgart Vienna and Hamilton OH the book shows how this new urban politics arose Long governed by propertied elites cities in the nineteenth century were transformed by mass migration and industrialization that tore apart their physical and social fabric Amidst massive strikes and faced with epidemic disease fouled streets unsafe water decrepit housing and with little economic security and few public amenities urban workers invented a local politics that promised to democratize cities they might themselves govern and reclaim the wealth they created This new politics challenged the class power of urban elites as well as the centralizing tendencies of national social democratic movements Municipal socialist ideas have continued to inspire activists in their fight for the right of cities to govern themselves 'We are a farming class' Peter Woodley, 2025-04-03 Notions of an arcadian farming life permeate settler Australian understandings of themselves and their nation Qualities of hard work perseverance resourcefulness and a steady devotion to family and community the historian John Hirst's Pioneer Legend are idealised in this nation But the people from whom the legend is derived have rarely been studied in depth They are more the stuff of myth and fond imagining than of concerted examination To what extent is the legend built on lived experience How have farming people thought of themselves and their contribution to a wider national mythos We are a farming class examines the lives of people in the farmlands surrounding Dubbo in the New South Wales central west between the 1870s and the 1950s from free selection and the establishment of agriculture to the dawning of postwar prosperity and change What emerges is a closely documented ethnographically rich portrait of a way of life and culture at once distinctive and surprising recognisable and unknown Policing the Lucky Country Mike Enders, Benoît Dupont, 2001 Policing The Lucky Country addresses key challenges of contemporary Australian policing and places them within the context of Australia's particular culture and history The book's approach is to combine policing case studies with an analysis of the wider social and political environment Policing students are given information which enables them to think critically about contemporary policing practice and to understand the factors behind pervasive attitudes in the forces and the community In this way it aims to increase each officer's range of responses leading to appropriate policing practices and increased safety for the officer One of the key strengths of the book is the discussion of policing and indigenous persons with articles on policing indigenous peoples and indigenous participation in policing Specific police indigenous clashes are examined and situated within the Aboriginal policies of the day This historical perspective illuminates the discussion of current police force relationships with and responsibilities towards indigenous persons Other issues considered the use of technology the enforcement of drug laws the maintenance of public order the role of police in industrial disputes the social construction of crime are studied in similar fashion and provide a useful source of information and discussion about areas of policing relevant to contemporary police work This book is designed for first year policing students but will also be useful in criminology courses

Remembering Hope Ann Rigney, Emeritus Professor of Comparative Literature Ann Rigney, 2025-10-24 In Remembering Hope Ann Rigney examines the role of storytelling in transferring hope in social transformation from one generation of activists to another She uses the tools of cultural memory studies to explain how shared narratives about protest are produced using words images video and performance Rigney's long term approach shows that cultural memory and activism are deeply entwined across generations and reveals how cultural memory work has been used as a form of resistance to historical outcomes and as a tool for kick starting older campaigns in new contexts Above all the book challenges the assumption that grievance rather than active citizenship has always been at the heart of collective memory
