Capitalism and Cartography in the Dutch Golden Age Elizabeth A. Sutton, 2015-06-05 In Capitalism and Cartography in the Dutch Golden Age Elizabeth A Sutton explores the fascinating but previously neglected history of corporate cartography during the Dutch Golden Age from ca 1600 to 1650 She examines how maps were used as propaganda tools for the Dutch West India Company in order to encourage the commodification of land and an overall capitalist agenda Building her exploration around the central figure of Claes Jansz Vischer an Amsterdam based publisher closely tied to the Dutch West India Company Sutton shows how printed maps of Dutch Atlantic territories helped rationalize the Dutch Republic's global expansion Maps of land reclamation projects in the Netherlands as well as the Dutch territories of New Netherland now New York and New Holland Dutch Brazil reveal how print media were used both to increase investment and to project a common narrative of national unity Maps of this era showed those boundaries commodities and topographical details that publishers and the Dutch West India Company merchants and governing Dutch elite deemed significant to their agenda In the process Sutton argues they perpetuated and promoted modern state capitalism [Studies in medieval and Reformation traditions / Texts & sources] ; Studies in medieval and Reformation traditions. Texts & sources [Anonymus AC10669664], 2011 The Benedictines in the Middle Ages James G. Clark, 2014-11-20 The men and women that followed the 6th century customs of Benedict of Nursia c 480 c 547 formed the most enduring influential numerous and widespread religious order of the Latin Middle Ages This text follows the Benedictine Order over 11 centuries from their early diaspora to the challenge of continental reformation A Very Brief Introduction to Reformation Doctrine Corneliu C. Simut, 2024-12-17 This book is for anyone who has an interest in the theology of the Reformation irrespective of one's prior training in the field Undergraduate students and laypersons will find it particularly helpful because it does not require any previous acquaintance with Reformation doctrines All those who want to become minimally acquainted with Reformation thought would therefore find it useful to read or perhaps only browse because the chapters can be approached individually which means that they can read in any order Those who want to delve a little deeper into Reformation issues have a selection of over four hundred sources in the bibliography that can be consulted for further reference Studies in Medieval and Reformation Traditions Andrew Colin Gow, 2004 Between Betrothal and Bedding Mia Korpiola, 2009-02-23 Swedish medieval marriage formation was a process written down in the secular laws However it started to evolve because of the interaction with the medieval Catholic marriage doctrine which focused on mutual words of consent Although first the canon law of marriage and then Lutheran marriage dogma influenced the Swedish development the perception of marriage as a process consisting of several legal acts and accompanied by property transfers proved remarkably resilient The pragmatic and rural character of Sweden contributed to this despite pressure from canon and Roman law and attempts at bringing marriage formation under ecclesiastical control Marrying by stages was in itself unremarkable in Europe but the legal foundation and formality make medieval and sixteenth century Sweden a unique case study Politics and Reformations Christopher Ocker,2007 These twenty three essays explore the historiographies of the Reformation from the fifteenth century to the present and study the history of religion from the sixteenth to eighteenth centuries especially in Germany but also in Switzerland the Netherlands and colonial Mexico The ^AFlesh of the Word K.J. Drake,2021-04-13 The Flesh of the Word explores how disputes between Ulrich Zwingli and Martin Luther over the nature of Christ s body crystalized into a lasting distinction between the Lutheran and Reformed branches of Protestantism Reformed theologians articulated a view called the extra Calvinisticum that the eternal Son maintains his existence beyond the flesh during his earthly ministry and perpetually The book investigates how this doctrine that Christ exist both wholly within and wholly beyond his human flesh developed from its first articulation by Zwingli to the end of the sixteenth century and how this affected the Reformed understanding of Christ

Female Agency in Manuscript Cultures Eike Grossmann,2024-06-17 Manuscript cultures have frequently forgotten neglected or even erased women s contributions from memory Women s agency has also been a glaring blind spot in the scholarly pursuit of gender perspectives on the production of written artefacts This volume addresses these lacunae by highlighting manuscripts and inscriptions by and for women their active participation and enabling sponsorship and their role in the circulation and dissemination of written artefacts Seven papers present case studies from East Asian inscriptions to ancient cuneiform epigraphic Egyptian graffiti from late antiquity to individual specimen and large scale collections in medieval Europe focusing on how women participated in and contributed to those How did they assert their involvement their claims and their aspirations By what rationales and mechanisms were they excluded or their contribution marginalised How did they react to structures that discriminated against them eventually circumventing subverting and transforming them The present volume sheds light on new findings gives unique insights and discusses methodological considerations in the budding field of women s manuscript studies Trafficking with Demons Martha Rampton,2022-01-15 Trafficking with Demons explores how magic was perceived practiced and prohibited in western Europe during the first millennium CE Through the overlapping frameworks of religion ritual and gender Martha Rampton connects early Christian reckonings with pagan magic to later doctrines and dogmas Challenging established views on the role of women in ritual magic during this period Rampton provides a new narrative of the ways in which magic was embedded within the foundational assumptions of western European society informing how people understood the cosmos divinity and their own Christian faith As Rampton shows throughout the first Christian millennium magic was thought to play a natural role within the functioning of the universe and existed within a rational cosmos hierarchically arranged according to a great chain of being Trafficking with the demons of the lower air was the essence of magic Interactions with those demons occurred both in highly formalistic ritual settings and on a routine and casual basis Rampton tracks the competition between pagan magic and Christian belief from the first century CE when it was fiercest through the early Middle Ages as atavistic forms of magic mutated and found sanctuary in the daily habits of the converted peoples and new paganisms entered Europe with their own forms of magic By the year 1000 she concludes many forms of magic had been tamed and were by the reckoning of the elite essentially ineffective as were the women who practiced it and the rituals that attended it
