Studies In Motivation:

Research on Motivation in Education: Goals and cognitions Russell Ames, Carole Ames, 1984 Motivation: Theory and Research Harold F. O'Neil, Michael Drillings, 2012-11-12 Designed for professionals and graduate students in the personality social military and educational psychology and assessment evaluation communities this volume explores the state of the art in motivational research for individuals and teams from multiple theoretical viewpoints as well as their effects in both schools and training environments The great majority of education and training R an examination of the impact of motivation on performance and thus also on cognition rather than only on motivation itself research in training as well as educational settings The data reported were collected in various venues including schools laboratories and field settings The chapter authors are the researchers that in many cases have defined the state of the art in motivation Motivation in Education Paul R. Pintrich, Dale H. Schunk, 2002 Intended for upper level undergraduate courses in Motivation also for graduate Education courses in Motivation Educational Psychology Learning and Development and Psychology courses in Motivation Cognition and Learning Informing students about major motivational theories and related research this thought provoking text includes an overview of metatheoretical perspectives expectancy and efficacy beliefs attribution theory social cognitive theory goal theory intrinsic motivation values and affect and social cultural influences such as schools classrooms peers and families Offering intensive conceptual details of different theories it describes and applies the most recent advances in motivation theory and research to the classroom context Contemporary Perspectives on Research in Motivation in Early Childhood Education Olivia Saracho, 2019-03-01 Researchers from different disciplines e g physiological psychological philosophical have investigated motivation using multiple approaches For example in physiology the scientific study of the normal function in living systems such as biology researchers may use electrical and chemical stimulation of the brain the recording of electrical brain wave activity with the electroencephalograph and lesion techniques where a portion of the brain usually of a laboratory animal is destroyed and subsequent changes in motivation are noted Petri Cofer 2017 Physiological studies mainly conducted with animals other than humans have revealed the significance of particular brain structures in the control of fundamental motives such as hunger thirst sex aggression and fear In psychology researchers may study the individuals behaviors to understand their actions In sociology researchers may examine how individuals interactions influence their behavior For instance in the classroom students and teachers behave in expected ways which may differ when they are outside the classroom Saracho 2003 examined the students academic achievement when they matched or mismatched their teachers way of thinking She identified both the teachers and students individual differences and defined consistencies in their cognitive processes In philosophy researchers can study the individuals theoretical position such as supporting Maslow s 1943 concept that motivation can create behaviors that augments motivation in the future Abraham H Maslow s theory of self actualization supports this theoretical position Petri Cofer 2017

These areas and others are represented in this volume This volume is devoted to understanding mutual and contemporary themes in the individuals motivation and its relationship to cognition The current literature covers several methods to the multifaceted relationships between motivational and cognitive processes Comprehensive reviews of the literature focus on prominent cognitive perspectives on motivation with young children which includes ages from birth to eight years of age The chapters in this special volume review and critically analyze the literature on several aspects of the relationships between motivational and cognitive processes and demonstrates the breadth and theoretical effectiveness of this domain This brief introduction acknowledges the valuable contributions of these chapters to the study of human motivation This volume can be a valuable tool to researchers who are conducting studies in the motivation field It focuses on important contemporary issues on motivation in early childhood education ages 0 to 8 to provide the information necessary to make judgments about these issues It also motivates and guides researchers to explore gaps in the motivation literature

Narratives of Doctoral Studies in Science Education Shirley Simon,Christina Ottander,Ilka Parchmann,2015-08-20 This book explores the ways in which small scale research studies arise from issues of practice and how they are conceptualised theorised and implemented using a variety of methodological approaches and frameworks The narratives written by thirteen doctoral students tell real stories of projects and challenges that researchers face when making the transition from educational practitioner to researcher Considering case studies from the UK Sweden and Germany chapters seek to investigate and inform others about how doctoral students solved individual and typical problems linking practice and research Each methodological journey highlights and illustrates the iterative and cyclic nature of research and the normality of the process of going back and forth between data and theory making changes of direction as research proceeds The book includes frameworks for combining research theory and practice drawing from the methodological decisions and conclusions each contributor made to develop their own practice oriented research Narratives of Doctoral Studies in Science Education will be key reading for researchers and academics in the fields of educational research science education research methods and higher education as well as masters and doctoral students undertaking their own research projects
