Studies in Ideology J. M. Beach, 2005 In Studies in Ideology poet and theorist J M Beach delivers a comprehensive analysis of the history and theory of ideology The narrow concept of ideology has traditionally been lodged in the domain of Marxist political theory but Beach reaches past Marxism to focus on the wide definition of ideology which can be basically summarized as all theory is ideological Beach strays from the Marxist totalizing and determinist narratives to deliver a discussion of ideology as process which takes its lead from Gramsci and analyzes the intricate and complicated mechanisms of individual subject formation in relation to dominant dominating social modes of meaning productions Beach offers his theory of ideology in conjunction with an extensive reading of history and contemporary affairs and ends the book with a brief biographical sketch of his own intellectual maturation which is imbedded within a daring and timely critique of Christianity Publisher's website

S The Subjectivity Of Participation M. Nissen, 2012-02-17 What is a we a collective and how can we use such communal self knowledge to help people This book is about collectivity participation and subjectivity and about the social theories that may help us understand these matters It also seeks to learn from the innovative practices and ideas of a community of social youth workers in Copenhagen between 1987 and 2003 who developed a pedagogy through creating collectives and mobilizing young people as participants The theoretical and practical traditions are combined in a unique methodology viewing research as a contentious modeling of prototypical practices Through this dialogue it develops an original trans disciplinary critical theory and practice of collective subjectivity for which the ongoing construction and overcoming of common sense or ideology is central It also points to ways of relating discourse with agency and fertilizing insights from interactionism and ideology theories in a cultural historical framework The Symbolic, the Sublime, and

Algorithms and Subjectivity

Eran Fisher, 2022-01-26 In this thought provoking volume Eran Fisher interrogates the relationship between algorithms as epistemic devices and modern notions of subjectivity Over the past few decades as the instrumentalization of algorithms has created knowledge that informs our decisions preferences tastes and actions and the very sense of who we are they have also undercut and arguably undermined the Enlightenment era ideal of the subject Fisher finds that as algorithms enable a reality in which knowledge is created by circumventing the participation of the self they also challenge contemporary notions of subjectivity Through four case studies this book provides an empirical and theoretical investigation of this transformation analyzing how algorithmic knowledge differs from the ideas of critical knowledge which emerged during modernity Fisher argues that algorithms create a new type of knowledge which in turn changes our fundamental sense of self and our concept of subjectivity This book will make a timely contribution to the social study of algorithms and will prove especially valuable for scholars working at the intersections of media and communication studies internet studies information studies the sociology of technology the philosophy of technology and science and technology studies Subjectivity, Language and the Postcolonial Hannah Botsis, 2017-11-10 In

Subjectivity Language and the Postcolonial Hannah Botsis draws on theoretical work that exists at the intersection of critical social psychology sociolinguistics and the political economy of language to examine the relationships between language subjectivity materiality and political context The book foregrounds the ways in which the work of Bourdieu could be read in conjunction with poststructural theorists such as Butler and Derrida to offer a critical understanding of subjectivity language and power in postcolonial contexts This critical engagement with theorists traditionally from outside of psychology allows for a situated approach to understanding the embodied and symbolic possibilities and constraints for the postcolonial subject This exploration opens up how micro politics of power are refracted through ideological categories such as language race and class in post apartheid South Africa Also drawing on the empirical findings of original research undertaken in the South African context on students linguistic biographies the book offers a unique perspective critical social theory is brought to bear on the empirical linguistic biographies of postcolonial subjects offering insight into how power is negotiated in the postcolonial symbolic economy Ideal for advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students on courses including social psychology sociolinguistics sociology politics and education this is an invaluable resource for students and researchers alike
