Did I Listen?

Listening often involves not understanding what is being said. We need to focus on the person who is talking and not be distracted by people or things that are going on around us.

When we are in a noisy place, we often hear the words but do not understand what the speaker is saying. This is because we are not listening to what the speaker is saying.

The speaker wants to be heard and we often hear the words but do not understand what the speaker is saying. This is because we are not listening to what the speaker is saying.

How can we listen better?

How Do You Know When You Are Being Listened To?

Think about a time when you felt that you were being listened to.

What did the person who was listening to you do that made you feel like this?

Remember that people who are not listening to you are not listening to you.

For example, the person listening might not look at you or not hear what you are saying.
