Talk To Me Listening Between The Lines:

Talk to Me Anna Deavere Smith, 2001-01-18 Anna Deavere Smith the award winning playwright and actor has spent a lifetime listening really listening to the people around her As a child in the segregated Baltimore of the early 1960s Smith absorbed the words of her parents teachers neighbors even train conductors and realized that there was something more being communicated than the actual words The conductor s voice had a mild kind of grandeur that was a cousin to the vocal tones I had heard at funerals Ashes to ashes and at christenings and weddings These are words that have been said many times but the person who speaks them understands that each time it must be said as if it matters because it does matter We never know what lies ahead and we never know what just happened and all words must house respect of those two unknowns In Talk to Me Smith looks back at a singular career as a seeker and interpreter of language in America revealing the methodology behind her extraordinary search for the truth and nuances of verbal communication For thirty years the defining thesis of Smith s work has been that how we speak is just as important in communicating truth and identity as what we say Everything from individual vocal tone to grammar Smith demonstrates can be as identifiable and revealing as a fingerprint Her journey has taken her from the rarefied bastions of academia to riot torn streets she has conducted hundreds of interviews with subjects ranging from women prisoners to presidents of the United States In 1995 her ongoing investigation led her to Washington D C After all what better place to wage an inquiry into the power of language and the language of power than in the city where message is a manufactured product What happens when we as citizens accept which we seem to be doing more and more our chosen leaders failure to tell the truth And how can we know that we are hearing what Washington really has to say when everything we receive is filtered through the media Armed with a blazing intellect and a tape recorder Smith tackled these questions head on conducting more than four hundred interviews with people both inside and outside the power structure of Washington She recorded these sessions in her trademark verbatim transcripts which include every tic and verbal utterance of her subjects More than thirty of these remarkable documents appear in this book including interviews with Bill Clinton Anita Hill Studs Terkel George Bush Mike McCurry and Helen Thomas After five years of searing investigation into the world of the politicians spin doctors and power brokers who are steering the course of our country from inside the beltway Smith has come away with a revelatory assessment by turns devastating and hopeful of the lexicon of power and politics in America Talk to Me is a landmark contribution from a woman whose pioneering insights into language speak volumes Talk to Me Anna Deavere Smith, 2000 Ventriloquism, Performance, and Contemporary Art Jennie Hirsh, Isabelle Loring Wallace, 2023-05-31 Ventriloquism Performance and Contemporary Art volume calls attention to the unexpected prevalence of ventriloquial motifs and strategies within contemporary art Engaging with issues of voice embodiment power and projection the case studies assembled in this volume span a range of media from painting sculpture and photography to installation performance architecture and video

Importantly they both examine and enact ventriloquial practices and do so as a means of interrogating and performatively bearing out contemporary conceptions of authorship subjectivity and performance Put otherwise the chapters in this book oscillate seamlessly between art history theory and criticism through both analytical and performative means Across twelve essays on ventriloquism in contemporary art the authors who are curators historians and artists shine light on this outdated practice repositioning it as a conspicuous and meaningful trend within a range of artistic practices today This book will be of interest to scholars working in art history contemporary art media studies performance museum curatorial studies and theater

An Actress Prepares Rosemary Malague, 2013-06-17 Every day thousands of women enter acting classes where most of them will receive some variation on the Stanislavsky based training that has now been taught in the U S for nearly ninety years Yet relatively little feminist consideration has been given to the experience of the student actress What happens to women in Method actor training An Actress Prepares is the first book to interrogate Method acting from a specifically feminist perspective Rose Malague addresses the Method not only with much needed critical distance but also the crucial insider's view of a trained actor Case studies examine the preeminent American teachers who popularized and transformed elements of Stanislavsky's System within the U S Strasberg Adler Meisner and Hagen by analyzing and comparing their related but distinctly different approaches This book confronts the sexism that still exists in actor training and exposes the gender biases embedded within the Method itself Its in depth examination of these Stanislavskian techniques seeks to reclaim Method acting from its patriarchal practices and to empower women who act I've been waiting for someone to write this book for years a thorough going analysis and reconsideration of American approaches to Stanislavsky from a feminist perspective lively intelligent and engaging Phillip Zarrilli University of Exeter Theatre people of any gender will be transformed by Rose Malague's eye opening study An Actress Prepares This book will be useful to all scholars and practitioners determined to make gender equity central to how they hone their craft and their thinking Jill Dolan Princeton University

Civil Racism Lynn Mie Itagaki, 2016-03-15 The 1992 Los Angeles rebellion also known as the Rodney King riots followed the acquittal of four police officers who had been charged with assault and the use of excessive force against a Black motorist. The violence included widespread looting and destruction of stores many of which were owned or operated by Korean Americans in neighborhoods that were predominantly Black and Latina.

Civil Racism examines a range of cultural reactions to the riots anchored by calls for a racist civility, a central component of the aesthetics and politics of the post civil rights era. Lynn Mie Itagaki argues that the rebellion interrupted the rhetoric of civil racism which she defines as the preservation of civility at the expense of racial equality. As an expression of structural racism, Itagaki writes, civil racism exhibits the active though often unintentional perpetuation of discrimination through one's everyday engagement with the state and society. She is particularly interested in how civility manifests in societal institutions such as the family, the school, and the neighborhood, and she investigates dramatic, filmic, and literary texts by African American, Asian American, and Latina/o artists and writers that contest these demands for a racist civility. Itagaki specifically addresses what she sees as two blind spots in society and in scholarship. One is the invisibility of Asians and Latinas/os in media coverage and popular culture that she posits importantly shapes Black/White racial formations in dominant mainstream discourses about race. The second is the scholarly separation of two critical traditions that should be joined in analyses of racial injustice: the 1992 Los Angeles rebellion, comparative race studies, and feminist theories. Civil Racism insists that the 1992 riots continue to matter, that the artistic responses matter, and that more than twenty years later, debates about issues of race, ethnicity, class, and gender are more urgent than ever.

Race Sounds Nicole Brittingham Furlonge, 2018-05-15. We live in a world of talk. Yet Race Sounds argues that we need to listen more, not just hear things but actively listen, particularly in relation to how we engage race, gender, and class differences. Forging new ideas about the relationship between race and sound, Furlonge explores how Black artists, including well-known figures such as writers Ralph Ellison and Zora Neale Hurston, and singers Bettye LaVette and Aretha Franklin, among others, imagine listening. Drawing from a multimedia archive, Furlonge examines how many of the texts call on readers to listen in print. In the process, she gives us a new way to read and interpret these canonical, aurally inflected texts and demonstrates how listening allows us to engage with the sonic lives of difference as readers, thinkers, and citizens. Intervening in discourses of African American and Black feminist literatures where sound and voice dominate, Furlonge shifts our attention to listening as an aural strategy of cultural, social, and civic engagement that not only enlivens how we read, write, and critique texts but also informs how we might be more effective audiences for each other and against injustice in our midst. The result is a fascinating examination that brings new insights to African American literature and art, American literature, democratic philosophy, and sound studies.

Worldmaking Dorinne Kondo, 2018-12-06. In this bold, innovative work, Dorinne Kondo theorizes the racialized structures of inequality that pervade theater and the arts. Grounded in twenty years of fieldwork as dramaturg and playwright, Kondo mobilizes critical race studies, affect theory, psychoanalysis, and dramatic writing to trenchantly analyze theater's work of creativity as theory-acting-writing, dramaturgy. Race-making occurs backstage in the creative process and through economic forces institutional hierarchies hiring practices ideologies of artistic transcendence and aesthetic form For audiences the arts produce racial affect structurally over determined ways affect can enhance or diminish life Upending genre through scholarly interpretation vivid vignettes and Kondo's original play Worldmaking journeys from an initial romance with theater that is shattered by encounters with racism toward what Kondo calls reparative creativity in the work of minoritarian artists Anna Deavere Smith David Henry Hwang and the author herself Worldmaking performs the potential for the arts to remake worlds from theater worlds to psychic worlds to worldmaking visions for social transformation
