Mandair, 2009-10-23 Arguing that intellectual movements such as deconstruction postsecular theory and political theology have different implications for cultures and societies that live with the debilitating effects of past imperialisms Arvind Mandair unsettles the politics of knowledge construction in which the category of religion continues to be central Through a case study of Sikhism he launches an extended critique of religion as a cultural universal At the same time he presents a portrait of how certain aspects of Sikh tradition were reinvented as religion during the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries India's imperial elite subtly recast Sikh tradition as a sui generis religion which robbed its teachings of their political force In turn Sikhs began to define themselves as a nation and a world religion that was separate from but parallel to the rise of the Indian state and global Hinduism Rather than investigate these processes in isolation from Europe Mandair shifts the focus closer to the political history of ideas thereby recovering part of Europe's repressed colonial memory Mandair rethinks the intersection of religion and the secular in discourses such as history of religions postcolonial theory and recent continental philosophy Though seemingly unconnected these discourses are shown to be linked to a philosophy of generalized translation that emerged as a key conceptual matrix in the colonial encounter between India and the West In this riveting study Mandair demonstrates how this philosophy of translation continues to influence the repetitions of religion and identity politics in the lives of South Asians and the way the academy state and media have analyzed such phenomena

Clarke, Peter Beyer, 2009-05-07 This comprehensive volume focuses on the world's religions and the changes they have undergone as they become more global and diverse in form. It explores the religions of the world not only in the regions with which they have been historically associated but also looks at the new cultural and religious contexts in which they are developing. It considers the role of migration in the spread of religions by examining the issues raised for modern societies by the increasing interaction of different religions. The volume also addresses such central questions as the dynamics of religious innovation which is evidenced in the rise and impact of new religious and new spirituality movements in every continent Religion, Enlightenment and Empire Jessica Patterson, 2021-12-16 In the second half of the eighteenth century several British East India Company servants published accounts of what they deemed to be the original and ancient religion of India. Drawing on what are recognised today as the texts and traditions of Hinduism these works fed into a booming enlightenment interest in Eastern philosophy. At the same time the Company's aggressive conquest of Bengal was facing a crisis of legitimacy and many of the prominent political minds of the day were turning their attention to the question of empire. In this original study Jessica Patterson situates these Company works on the Hindu religion in the twin contexts of enlightenment and empire. In doing so she uncovers the central role of heterodox religious approaches to Indian religions for enlightenment thought. East India Company policy and contemporary ideas of empire Annual Review of the Sociology of Religion Patrick Michel, Enzo Pace, 2011-08-25 The main goal of the second issue of the Annual Review of the Sociology of Religion devoted entirely to religion and politics is precisely to question the sense of a reconstruction of the mutual and simultaneous relations between these two spheres of social life. What does this process mean and where is it taking us Annual Review of the Sociology of Religion. Volume 2 (2011) Patrick Michel, Enzo Pace, 2011-08-26 Over the past thirty years religion has increasingly played a relevant role both on a national level and in international affairs. The attempt made by politicians to reframe the policy of social cohesion in a neo-nationalist light (one land, one language, one religion, one political community) demising any kind of multiculturalism facilitating instead a return to assimilation shaped by fear of the other (culture, religion, language) and so on is very often associated with a restoration of the primacy of religious discourse in the public sphere. It is not just a return of religion in the public sphere but the exploitation of religion by politics to reconstruct a social cohesion in the absence of ideological resources Rethinking Religion in India Esther Bloch, Marianne Keppens, Rajaram Hegde, 2009-12-24 Critically assesses recent debates about the colonial construction of Hinduism. Written by experts in their field the chapters present historical and empirical arguments as well as theoretical reflections on the topic offering new insights into the nature of the construction of religion in India.
