Donald A. Landes

The Logic Of Perception:

The Logic of Perception Irvin Rock, 1983-01 The theory of visual perception that Irvin Rock develops and supports in this book with numerous original experiments views perception as the outcome of a process of unconscious inference problem solving and the building of structural descriptions of the external world It is a radical departure from his earlier work and contrasts with traditional perceptual theories like those of James J Gibson or the Gestalt view Rock experiments with a series of phenomena like motion perception illusory contours and size and brightness constancy and shows that they can be understood in terms of the knowledge applied by the visual system to the interpretation of the retinal image His work largely complements that being done in artificial intelligence demonstrating that the visual system is far more subtle and intelligent in many tasks which have not yet been modelled on the computer Irvin Rock a noted investigator of perceptual phenomena for nearly three decades is Professor of Psychology at Rutgers University

Landes, 2013-10-10 Merleau Ponty and the Paradoxes of Expression offers a comprehensive reading of the philosophical work of Maurice Merleau Ponty a central figure in 20th century continental philosophy By establishing that the paradoxical logic of expression is Merleau Ponty's fundamental philosophical gesture this book ties together his diverse work on perception language aesthetics politics and history in order to establish the ontological position he was developing at the time of his sudden death in 1961 Donald A Landes explores the paradoxical logic of expression as it appears in both Merleau Ponty's explicit reflections on expression and his non explicit uses of this logic in his philosophical reflection on other topics and thus establishes a continuity and a trajectory of his thought that allows for his work to be placed into conversation with contemporary developments in continental philosophy The book offers the reader a key to understanding Merleau Ponty's subtle methodology and highlights the urgency and relevance of his research into the ontological significance of expression for today's work in art and cultural theory
