The Lost Battalion Flashback War:

The Lost Battalion Allan Moore, 1987-06-01 Lost Battalion of Tet Charles A Krohn, 2013-05-11 Published to commemorate the 40th anniversary of the Tet Offensive this new paperback edition brings back into print a book that became an essential source for a 2006 study of the battle by the U S Army's Center of Military History It takes a critical look at what went wrong in early 1968 during one of the first engagements of Tet when a U S infantry battalion was ordered to attack a large North Vietnamese force near Hue City without air or artillery support The tragic military foul up resulted in over 60 percent casualties for the 2d Battalion 12th Regiment 1st Cavalry Division when the soldiers were surrounded by the enemy and began running out of ammunition The bold decision by battalion commander Lt Col Richard Sweet to break out with his remaining soldiers under cover of darkness saved this encirclement from being a total disaster Author Charles Krohn the unit's intelligence officer at the time provides a much needed analysis of what took place and fills his account with details that have been confirmed as factual by other survivors Krohn examines the battalion's involvement in two other major attacks for lessons learned when vital systems break down lessons he says that are timeless and applicable anywhere This book is published in cooperation with the Association of the United States Army Flashback War Elizabeth Van Steenwyk, 1987 World War I on Film Paul M. Edwards, 2016-04-11 One of the central events of modern history World War I has been poorly presented in English language films Torn between the powerful isolationist movement in the U S and a growing hatred of the Hun contemporary films were mainly propaganda calling citizens to arms The American film industry used the outbreak of the war and the government's interest in promoting patriotic sacrifice as a means to expand and take the lead in the film industry worldwide More a business model than an art form these early efforts claimed a place of respectability for film among the arts Twenty years later though films produced about the war were few they were technically superior and generally carried conflicting messages about the war's mission and value while focusing more on storyline than history This study of English Language World War I films examines nearly 350 films from 1914 to 2014 Descriptions and critiques of each of the films are included with stories and details about the actors and directors The Last and Greatest Battle John Bateson, 2015 In The Last and Greatest Battle the first book devoted exclusively to the problem of military suicides John Bateson brings this neglected crisis into the spotlight Blood in the Argonne Alan D. Gaff, 2005 In this unique history of the Lost Battalion of World War I Alan D Gaff tells for the first time the story of the 77th Division from the perspective of the soldiers in the ranks On October 2 1918 Maj Charles W Whittlesey led the 77th Division in a successful attack on German defenses in the Argonne Forest of northeastern France His unit comprised of men of a wide mix of ethnic backgrounds from New York City and the western states was not a battalion nor was it ever lost but once a newspaper editor applied the term lost battalion to the episode it stuck Gaff draws from new unimpeachable sources such as sworn testimony by soldiers who survived the ordeal to correct the myths and legends and to reveal what really happened in the Argonne Forest during early October 1918
