in Modern History Donald Anthony Low, 1971 The Amritsar Massacre Nick Lloyd, 2011-09-27 On 13 April 1919 a fateful event took place which was to define the last decades of the British Raj in India At 5 10pm on that day Brigadier General Rex Dyer led a small party of soldiers through the centre of Amritsar into a walled garden known as the Jallianwala Bagh He had been informed that an illegal political meeting was taking place and had come to disperse it On entering the garden Dyer's men immediately lined up in formation Dyer then gave the order to open fire on the huge crowd that had gathered there 379 people were killed and at least 1 000 more were wounded in what has become known as the Amritsar Massacre Nick Lloyd here provides a highly readable but detailed account of the most infamous British atrocity in the entire history of the Raj He considers the massacre in its historical context but also describes its impact in uniting the people of the sub continent against their colonial rulers The book dispels common myths and misconceptions surrounding the massacre and offers a new explanation of the decisions taken in 1919 Ultimately it seeks to examine whether the massacre was an unfortunate and tragic mistake or a case of cold blooded murder and one which would fatally weaken the British position in India

Communalism in Bengal Rakesh Batabyal, 2005-05 This book explores the ascent and trajectory of communal ideology in pre Partition Bengal from the famine of 1943 to the Noakhali riots of 1946 47 The first major work to analyse communalism as an ideology located in a concrete historical plane this book argues that the period after 1943 witnessed a clash between nationalism and communalism where communal ideologies embarked on a new phase determined to replace nationalism Among the distinguishing features of this important study are that it Critically evaluates the historiography of communalism in India Relates the occurrence of the Bengal famine of 1943 to the agendas and activities of the major political parties of that region the Muslim League the Hindu Mahasabha the Congress and the Communist Party of India Examines in detail the Calcutta riots of 1946 and the role of both the colonial authorities and the Premier of the province H S Suhrawardy in the violence Presents an entirely fresh perspective on the reasons behind the Noakhali riots with the help of an array of new sources both primary and secondary Analyses Gandhi s visit to Noakhali presenting him as resolute and prepared to embark on an ideological fight against communalism Indian Liberalism between Nation and Empire Elena Valdameri,2022-03-10 This book analyses the political thought and practice of Gopal Krishna Gokhale 1866 1915 preeminent liberal leader of the Indian National Congress who was able to give a global voice to the Indian cause Using liberalism nationalism cosmopolitanism and citizenship as the four main thematic foci the book illuminates the entanglement of Gopal Krishna Gokhale s political ideas and action with broader social political and cultural developments within and beyond the Indian national frame The author analyses Gokhale s thinking on a range of issues such as nationhood education citizenship modernity caste social service cosmopolitanism and the women s question which historians have either overlooked or inserted in a rigid nation bounded historical narrative The book provides new enriching dimensions to the understanding of Gokhale whose ideas remain relevant in contemporary India A new biography of Gokhale that brings into consideration current questions within historiographical debates this book is a timely and welcome addition to the fields of intellectual history the history of political thought Colonial history and Indian and South Asian history Bangladesh Cinema and National Identity Zakir Hossain Raju,2014-12-17 Throughout the twentieth and early twenty first centuries cinema has been adopted as a popular cultural institution in Bangladesh At the same time this has been the period for the articulation of modern nationhood and cultural identity of Bengali Muslims in Bangladesh This book analyses the relationship between cinema and modernity in Bangladesh providing a narrative of the uneven process that produced the idea of Bangladesh cinema This book investigates the roles of a non Western national film industry in Asia in constructing nationhood and identity within colonial and postcolonial predicaments Drawing on the idea of cinema as public sphere and the postcolonial notion of formation of the Bangladesh nation interactions between cinema and middle class Bengali Muslims in different social and political matrices are analyzed The author explores how the conflict among different social groups turned Bangladesh cinema into a site of contesting identities In particular he illustrates the connections between film production and reception in Bangladesh and a variety of nationalist constructions of Bengali Muslim identity Questioning and debunking the usual notions of Bangladesh and cinema this book positions the cinema of Bangladesh within a transnational frame Starting with how to locate the beginning of the second Bengali language cinema in colonial Bengal the author completes the investigation by identifying a global Bangladeshi cinema in the early twenty first century The first major academic study on this large and vibrant national cinema this book demonstrates that Bangladesh cinema worked as different public spheres for different publics throughout the twentieth century and beyond Filling a niche in Global Film and Media Studies and South Asian Studies it will be of interest to scholars and students of these disciplines Hindi Nationalism (tracks for the Times) Alok Rai,2001 This tract looks at the politics of language in India through a study of the history of one language Hindi It traces the tragic metamorphosis of this language over the last century from a creative dynamic popular language to a dead

Sanskritised dePersianised language manufactured by a self serving upper caste North Indian elite nurturing hegemonic ambitions From being a symbol of collective imagination it became a signifier of narrow sectarianism and regional chauvinism The tract shows how this transformation of the language was tied up with the politics of communalism and regionalism
