South Africa The Struggle For A New Order:

South Africa Marina Ottaway,2010-12-01 The unbanning of the African National Congress and the release of Nelson Mandela in February of 1990 cleared the way for negotiations toward a new post apartheid political order in South Africa But three years later the main parties have made little progress toward a compromise while violence escalates in the townships In this revealing study Marina Ottaway examines the new conflicts emerging in South Africa the factors influencing them and the probable outcome She shows that the black on white conflict that has made the country a pariah in the past has evolved into a much more complex state of affairs and explains that the transition is likely to take an unprecedented form Beginning with a brief history of the events since Mandela s release Ottaway provides a vivid account of the evolving conflict over apartheid She discuses the complexity of conflict resolution in a country where internal and external currents work against each other and where the struggle for power transcends any strides toward peace Ottaway thoroughly addresses the issues involved in South Africa s transition from apartheid She explains that the abolition of the pervasive system has more far reaching implications than originally thought South Africa explores the effects that the international climate of the 1990s has had on the county s transition Ottaway contends that the international community rejects apartheid but is unsympathetic to black demands for redistribution and has condemned the white government s vision of separate development but accepts ethnic nationalism as inevitable She describes the dramatic effects the new world order has had on South Africa and assesses what those changes will mean to the country s difficult transition South Africa's Weapons of Mass Destruction Helen E. Purkitt,Stephen F. Burgess,2005-05-11 South Africa s Weapons of Mass Destruction offers an in depth view of the secret development and voluntary disarmament of South Africa s nuclear biological and chemical weapons program Project Coast Helen E Purkitt and Stephen F Burgess explore how systems used for nuclear biological and chemical weapons in South Africa were acquired and established beyond the gaze of international and domestic political actors On the basis of archival evidence from Project Coast and their own extensive interviews with military and political officials Purkitt and Burgess consider what motivates countries to acquire and build such powerful weaponry and examine when and how decisions are made to dismantle a military arsenal voluntarily Questions such as how to destroy weapons safely and keep them from reappearing on international markets are considered along with comparative strategies for successful disarmament in other nation states State ,1995 Politics and Government in South Africa Mueni Wa Muiu,2023-06-20 Politics and Government in South Africa introduces readers to all aspects of government and politics in South Africa from local to provincial national and on to international considerations The perfect guide for students and general readers this textbook explains how South Africa s key institutions are governed and interact with each other and how important issues such as economics gender race and class shape relations between citizens and government Grounded in history and leading theories and debates the book also brings in alternative perspectives from artists writers and popular culture to demonstrate the diverse ways in which issues of politics and social justice are engaged with within South Africa Written with the needs of students at the forefront each chapter includes Review and discussion questions Key terms and further resources Fun facts in a Did you know section Supplementary sources and quotations in a The Past as Present section Interactive and engaging Politics and Government in South Africa invites readers to consider what they would do in tackling issues such as land distribution peacekeeping South Africa s role in the African Union and military engagement abroad It is an essential read for undergraduate students studying Political Science International Relations and African Studies and for anyone looking to develop a deeper understanding of South Africa Broadcasting the End of Apartheid Martha Evans,2014-07-15 South Africa came late to television when it finally arrived in the late 1970s the rest of the world had already begun to boycott the country because of apartheid While the ruling National Party feared the integrative effects of television they did not foresee how exclusion from globally unifying broadcasts would gradually erode their power South Africa was barred from participating in some of television s greatest global attractions including sporting events such as the Olympics and contests such as Miss World With the release of Nelson Mandela from prison came a proliferation of large scale live broadcasts as the country was permitted to return to international competition and its re admittance was played out on television screens across the world These events were pivotal in shaping and consolidating the country s emerging post apartheid national identity Broadcasting the End of Apartheid assesses the socio political effects of live broadcasting on South Africa s transition to democracy Martha Evans argues that just as print media had a powerful influence on the development of Afrikaner nationalism so the liveness of television helped to consolidate the post apartheid South African national identity

Autonomy and Ethnicity Yash P. Ghai,2000-10-12 This book first published in 2000 deals with one of the most urgent problems of contemporary times the political organisation of multi ethnic states Most major conflicts of our time are internal to the state and revolve around the claims of access to or the redesign of the state Responses to ethnic conflicts have ranged from oppression and ethnic cleansing to accommodations of ethnic claims through affirmative policies special forms of representation power sharing and the integration of minorities One of the most sought after and resisted devices for conflict management is autonomy Within an overarching framework that examines different understandings of ethnic consciousness and the variety of territorial autonomies the authors examine the experiences of spatial distribution of power in Canada India China South Africa Ethiopia PNG Spain the former Yugoslavia Cyprus Sri Lanka and Australia Transforming Violent Political Movements Kevin E. Grisham,2014-03-21 This book explores the factors that influence violent rebellious political organisations to transform into other entities such as political parties criminal organisations and terrorist organisations From the end of the Second World War until 1990 many events in the world centred on the bipolar struggle between the United States and the USSR Although there were numerous civil wars occurring during the Cold War era many of these conflicts went virtually unnoticed unless they were linked to the Cold War struggle for ideological dominance In the aftermath of the fall of the Soviet Union the number of intra state conflicts was prevalent around the globe Along with the occurrence of civil wars a variety of violent political movements also developed Examining cases from Latin America Africa Europe and Asia this book addresses how violent political movements transform during and after conflict into new types of organisations using the collective political violence transformative CPVT model The study uses a combination of pre existing literature from the fields of sociology and political science archival research and interviews with movement members former and active conducted by the author In studying the Provisional IRA and Sinn F in the Spear of the Nation MK and the African National Congress ANC the Abu Sayyaf Group and the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia FARC EP Transforming Violent Political Movements paints a picture of organisations that have to respond to their environments to survive This book will be of much interest to students of political violence terrorism war and conflict studies security studies and IR Constitutionalism and Transitional Justice in South Africa Andrea Lollini,2011 Over the last fifteen years the South African postapartheid Transitional Amnesty Process implemented by the Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC has been extensively analyzed by scholars and commentators from around the world and from almost every discipline of human sciences Lawyers historians anthropologists and sociologists as well as political scientists have tried to understand describe and comment on the shocking South African political decision to give amnesty to all who fully disclosed their politically motivated crimes committed during the apartheid era Investigating the postapartheid transition in South Africa from a multidisciplinary perspective involving constitutional law criminal law history and political science this book explores the overlapping of the postapartheid constitution making process and the Amnesty Process for political violence under apartheid and shows that both processes represent important innovations in terms of constitutional law and transitional justice systems Both processes contain mechanisms that encourage the constitution of the unity of the political body while ensuring future solidity and stability From this perspective the book deals with the importance of several concepts such as truth about the past publicly shared memory unity of the political body and public confession Funding Virtue Marina Ottaway,2000 The United States and many other international donors have embraced civil society aid as a key tool of democracy promotion This collection of essays analyzes civil society aid in five regions South Africa the Philippines Peru Egypt and Romania focusing on crucial issues and dilemmas Comparative Democratization and Peaceful Change in Single-Party-Dominant Countries M. Rimanelli,2016-01-26 One of the more positive international trends as of late has been the transformation of several countries from authoritarian based dictatorships and single party systems into multi party democracies characterized by peaceful political transitions In this volume a group of experts are gathered to analyse this progression on a comparative level The scholars examine previously right wing regimes in Brazil Argentina and South Africa former Communist states in Russia Poland Hungary and Czechoslovakia and single party dominant democracies in Italy Japan Mexico and Israel The essays reveal how the dramatic collapse of the USSR functioned as a crucial catalyst in allowing pent up domestic pressures for change to emerge in a less charged international environment In addition the chapters study the historical and current evolution of these countries focusing on their success in developing long term pluralistic structures and gauging whether these recent trends are more overnight fads than long lasting advancements
