Strategy Of Decision Policy Evaluation As A Social Process:

A Strategy of Decision David Braybrooke, Charles E. Lindblom, 1963 A Strategy of Decision David Braybrooke, Charles Edward Lindblom, 1963 Social Decision Methodology for Technological Projects C.A. Vlek, G. Cvetkovich, 2012-12-06 This book grew out of the conviction that the preparation and management of large scale technological projects can be substantially improved We have witnessed the often unhappy course of societal and political decision making concerning projects such as hazardous chemical installations novel types of electric power plant or storage sites for solid wastes This has led us to believe that probabilistic risk analysis technical reliability analysis and environmental impact analysis are necessary but insufficient for making acceptable and justifiable social decisions about such projects There is more to socio technical decision making than applying acceptance rules based on negligibly low accident probabilities or on maximum credible accidents Consideration must also be given to psychological social and political issues and methods of decision making Our conviction initially gave rise to an international experts workshop titled Social decision methodology for technological projects SDMTP and held in May 1986 at the University of Groningen the Netherlands at a time when Cvetkovich spent a sabbatical there The work shop aimed at surveying the issues and listing the methods to address them was the first part of an effort whose second part was directed at the production of this volume Plans called for the book to deal systematically with the main problems of socio technical decision making it was to list a number of useful approaches and methods and it was to present a number of integrative conclusions and recommendations for both policy makers and methodologists Managing Uncertainties in Networks Joop Koppenjan, Erik-Hans Klijn, 2004-08-02 As public and private sector organizations work more frequently in partnership managing uncertainties problems and controversies becomes increasingly difficult Despite sophisticated technology and knowledge the strategic networks and games required to solve uncertainties becomes more complex and more important than ever before This unique text examines such developments in the area of network strategy Differentiating itself from other policy network approaches which mainly have a research focus this text has a managerial orientation presenting strategies and management recommendations for public and private sector organizations as well as the analytical tools required by practitioners seeking to support their own internal decision making and strategy formulation Tapping into the important and ever growing area of risk and uncertainty management this is a vital and long awaited staple for the arena written by two leading authors in the field and is key reading for students scholars and policy makers seeking to understand the complexities of the network society

Literature and Ethics Archibald Edward Malloch, 1988 Literature and Ethics presents an original definition of the relation between literature and ethics at a time when the whole concept of ethical literary criticism is being widely reconsidered The book focuses on ethical conditions that are presupposed in literary communication between authors and readers rather than on ethical themes within literature Roosevelt and the Munich Crisis Barbara Reardon

Farnham,2021-03-09 Franklin Roosevelt's intentions during the three years between Munich and Pearl Harbor have been a source of controversy among historians for decades Barbara Farnham offers both a theory of how the domestic political context affects foreign policy decisions in general and a fresh interpretation of FDR's post Munich policies based on the insights that the theory provides Between 1936 and 1938 Roosevelt searched for ways to influence the deteriorating international situation When Hitler's behavior during the Munich crisis showed him to be incorrigibly aggressive FDR settled on aiding the democracies a course to which he adhered until America's entry into the war This policy attracted him because it allowed him to deal with a serious problem the conflict between the need to stop Hitler and the domestic imperative to avoid any risk of American involvement in a war Because existing theoretical approaches to value conflict ignore the influence of political factors on decision making they offer little help in explaining Roosevelt's behavior As an alternative this book develops a political approach to decision making which focuses on the impact that awareness of the imperatives of the political context can have on decision making processes and through them policy outcomes It suggests that in the face of a clash of central values decision makers who are aware of the demands of the political context are likely to be reluctant to make trade offs seeking instead a solution that gives some measure of satisfaction to all the values implicated in the decision

Health Services Restructuring in Canada Charles M. Beach, Richard Chaykowski, Shortt, 2007-01-18 The recent Chaoulli Supreme Court decision and health care proposals by Quebec and Alberta have led to renewed debate on how best to restructure the Canadian health care system This volume offers a timely analysis of access and wait times alternative modes of health care delivery and funding methods from the perspective of evidence based policy making Building Strategy from the Middle Steven W. Floyd, Bill Wooldridge, 2000-03-15 For much of its history the academic literature in strategy has focused on the actions and decisions of top managers The argument of Building Strategy From the Middle is that rapidly developing technologies and competitive dynamics heighten needs for enhanced organizational competencies which puts a premium on new ideas generated at the operating level and creates a shift in the strategic responsibilities within organizations Strategic leadership now occurs not only at the top but at all levels of the organization This ground breaking new book reframes the perspective taken in most strategy research in two key ways by describing organizational renewal from a middle level perspective and by reconceptualizing the theoretical basis for strategy process research Part I of the book Foundations reviews the existing literature on the strategy process including recent literature on strategic change renewal Part II New Theoretical Horizons builds the theoretical basis for a middle level perspective focusing on knowledge development social network analysis and organizational trust Part III Middle Level Perspective moves from synthesizing existing research toward the development of a model for conducting research from a middle level perspective Designing Bureaucracies James A. Desveaux, 1995 Drawing upon evidence from recent experiments in energy policy making in Canada this book explores the strategic consequences of bureaucratic change focussing on the technical and political roles of

The Psychology of Decision Making Lee R. Beach,Terry Connolly,2005-01-05 The Psychology of Decision Making provides an overview of decision making as it relates to management organizational behavior issues and research This engaging book examines the way individuals make decisions as well as how they form judgments privately and in the context of the organization It also discusses the interplay of group and institutional dynamics and their effects upon the decisions made within and on the behalf of organizations Politics and Petroleum in Ecuador John D. Martz, In 1972 Ecuador began to produce and export petroleum in the Amazon interior and the formulation and execution of the petroleum policy became central to the political life of the nation The nation s armed forces seized political power that same year and continued to rule until the reestablishment of democratic pluralist government in 1979 In this book John D Martz probes the differences and similarities between military authoritarianism and democratic pluralism through an analysis of the politics of petroleum in Ecuador The Ecuadorian experience provides an ideal laboratory to test the policymaking characteristics and the overall performances of the two regimes ideal types Martz uses a textured and detailed analysis of global oil companies and nationalist politics to trace the growth and evolution of Ecuador s petroleum industry The course of partisan and sectoral politics and the internal workings of military politics are also examined Against this interplay of politics and the nationalistic struggle against multinational pressures Martz compares policymaking under military and civilian government John D Martz is a professor of political science at Pennsylvania State University He is the author and editor of more than a dozen books on Latin American politics and was the editor of the Latin American Research Review from 1975 to 1980 Journal of Human Services Abstracts ,1976

Campaign Strategy and the Key to Political Longevity Laure Paquette,2005 Strategy is a simple and powerful method of analysis it works in the abstract and it is new to most readers Designed for the overburdened political operative constituent steps of strategy are easy to understand analyse or design once divested of their theoretical apparatus Strategy s powers for coping with uncertainty and the unexpected are easily harnessed for the achievement of political success and it is by this ease of application that the design of the present book may be judged It is possible for example for the harried reader to go directly to the chapters on developing a campaign strategy or designing a response to a political tactic The goal of the present book is to propose that strategy can be a suitable foundation for the analysis and development of any electoral candidate s campaign the significance of events in the course of that campaign and the prescription of a course of action strategic or tactical for winning elections By taking into account strategic interventions as well as strategic interactions it is possible to run a successful campaign for parties or individual candidates Strategy provides a useful forecasting tool for relations between all the actors who may be involved individuals groups political parties factions within those parties governments at various levels pressure groups and even election officials which are fraught or otherwise difficult This book is the most recent instalment in a series of books and articles introducing a new general theory of strategy and its applications to an audience primarily composed of non strategists The present series of books also fit into a broader oeuvre integrated along three axes The first axis focuses on the methodological and theoretical development of this new theory of strategy The second axis presents several structured sets of case studies focusing on the various types of actors in political systems broadly defined The third axis presents a series of exercises and worksheets which pertain either to particular applications of strategy or which spans the intellectual development of a good strategist This book covers both the first and third axes explaining the use of strategy in election campaigns Strategies for International Industrial Marketing (RLE International Business) Peter W Turnbull,Jean-Paul Valla,2013-05-07 This study considers the key strategic issues of the management of customer relationships in international industrial marketing It is based on extensive original research by the International Marketing and Purchase Group The book reports on that research in particular pointing out the differences in

approach by different national groups in Europe Dyadic Decision Making David Brinberg, James Jaccard, 2012-12-06
Recent research on joint or dyadic decision making has received renewed attention from behavioral scientists This interest is due mostly to the advances in analytic and conceptual models used to study interaction processes A number of related disciplines have used distinctive paradigms to study the same focal problem namely the processes by which two people interact come to resolve a problem and finally reach a decision Dyadic Decision Making presents in a single integrated volume the conceptual and analytic strategies developed in communications research marketing psychology and sociology to investigate joint decision making Readings in Accounting for Management Control David Otley and Kenneth Merchant Clive Emmanuel, 2013-12-19 This collection contains the main journal articles necessary to complement and support the established second edition of Accounting for Management Control The success of the text stems from the authors commitment to examining management accounting in an organizational and behavioural context Only in this way can the contribution to the management control system be evaluated The articles contained in this volume follow the structure and content of the main book providing deeper insights into those fundamental issues of accounting control systems design and indicating the direction of future developments in research The collection contains articles with a variety of perspectives and range from as early as the 1950s through to the present The inclusion of all these papers in one volume gives the student easier access to the body of work upon which the main text is based A teacher s manual to be used in conjunction with the main text is also available This book should be of interest to senior undergraduate students of accounting and finance and university and polytechnic libraries
