Holmes,2012-10-22 A second nuclear age has begun in the post Cold War world Created by the expansion of nuclear arsenals and new proliferation in Asia it has changed the familiar nuclear geometry of the Cold War Increasing potency of nuclear arsenals in China India and Pakistan the nuclear breakout in North Korea and the potential for more states to cross the nuclear weapons threshold from Iran to Japan suggest that the second nuclear age of many competing nuclear powers has the potential to be even less stable than the first Strategy in the Second Nuclear Age assembles a group of distinguished scholars to grapple with the matter of how the United States its allies and its friends must size up the strategies doctrines and force structures currently taking shape if they are to design responses that reinforce deterrence amid vastly more complex strategic circumstances By focusing sharply on strategy that is on how states use doomsday weaponry for political gain the book distinguishes itself from familiar net assessments emphasizing quantifiable factors like hardware technical characteristics and manpower While the emphasis varies from chapter to chapter contributors pay special heed to the logistical technological and social dimensions of strategy alongside the specifics of force structure and operations They never lose sight of the human factor the pivotal factor in diplomacy strategy and war

Understanding World Order and Structural Change H. Abrahamsson, 2015-12-22 Hans Abrahamsson assesses the current world order and structural change within an historical framework He analyzes the interaction of Pax American and the Bretton Woods system in the postwar period and its impact specifically on the development of Southern Africa The author also proposed an analytical model and a methodological framework for the study of the international political economy and its global and local implications Finally he addresses the circumstances behind the current opportunity for global change and the social forces and political action required in order to seize it Military Strategy in an Era of Unipolar Demise Håkan Edström, Jacob Westberg, 2024-11-15 This book presents a systematic comparison of the military strategies pursued by five great powers eight major middle powers and eight middle powers during the early twenty first century In addition to mapping the strategic priorities of these states the study develops and applies a theoretical framework to explain differences and similarities in their strategic priorities Moreover the work evaluates how the stability of the present international system and the US led liberal international order LIO is affected by the strategies pursued by the US and other leading states The book aims to contribute to previous research in three ways First it intervenes in the debate on the stability of the unipolar system and the US led international order by offering a theoretical framework and an empirical approach for exploring and explaining the strategic priorities and defence strategies of different categories of states Second it aims to fill a void in research on strategy the lack of a comparative and systematic approach to contemporary strategy that facilitates and guides systematic comparisons and analyses of the alignment and military strategies pursued by both major powers and less powerful states Third it provides an empirical contribution to the debate on the stability of the unipolar system and the US led international order by presenting a documentation of the strategic priorities of 21 states based on primary sources consisting of official documents such as national security and defence strategies and defence bills In the conclusion the authors summarise the empirical findings on the system level the regional level and the unit level and present their overarching conclusions for the whole project This book will be of much interest to students of military and strategic studies defence studies foreign policy and international relations in general

Laying the BRICS of a New Global Order Kornegay, Francis A.,Bohler-Muller, Narnia,2013-10-20 The contributions in this compilation on the emergence of a new global order through BRICS serve to illustrate the complexities inherent in the creation of such a coalition alternatively referred to as a grouping association or forum with each country differently situated geo politically as well as ideologically and culturally and in some instances even in conflict with one another in matters of regional peace and security The fact that there are important commonalities of converging interests amongst others the status of emerging economic powers and the furtherance of South South cooperation as well as reforming global governance cannot and should not hide complexities and contradictions These are clearly apparent both within and between the BRICS countries These diversities are also clear from the varied perspectives of the chapter authors in this compilation which is why we have assembled this collection relatively loosely as a means of expressing our intellectual and analytic convergences and divergences within and across BRICS Each chapter contributor writes from a different discipline country and regional perspective and it is this diversity that enriches the debate and conversation As such there remains enormous room for debate on the subject matter of this book and the diverse contributions open up the parameters of the debate even further The aim is to ensure that scholars commentators and practitioners continue to engage critically with theory and practice related to global multilateralism and BRICS in particular

Nuclear Past, Nuclear Present Ian Clark,2019-04-11 The controversial atomic bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 represent the only occasions when atomic weapons have been employed in war yet surprisingly little attention has been paid to the relationship between the bombings and the course of subsequent nuclear strategy Dr Clark contends that the August 1945 experience was crucially formative

The Decline of the Western-Centric World and the Emerging New Global Order Yun-han Chu,Yongnian Zheng,2020-11-24 The Western liberal democratic world order which seemingly triumphed following the collapse of communism is looking increasingly fragile as populists and nationalists take power in the United States Europe and elsewhere as the momentum of democratization in developing countries stalls and as Western liberal establishments fail to deal with economic stagnation worsening political polarization social inequality and migrant crises At the same time there is a shift of economic power from the West towards Asia This book explores these critical developments and their consequences for the world order It considers how far the loss of the West's power to dominate the world order together with the relative decline of US power and its abdication of its global leadership role will lead to more conflict disorder and chaos and how far non Western actors including China India and the Muslim world are capable of establishing visionary policy initiatives which reconfigure the paths and rules of economic integration and globalization and the mechanisms of global governance The book also assesses the sustainability of the economic rise of China and other non Western actors explores the Western liberal democratic order s capacity for resilience and discusses how far the outlook is pessimistic or optimistic
