A Record in Pictures and Text of the Shakespearean Festival in Canada. With a Foreword by Vincent Massey and an Introd. by Herbert Whittaker, Romancing the Bard Martin Hunter, 2001-10 A look at the Stratford Festival in its first 50 years as it developed from a bold venture to a multi million dollar enterprise The Shakespeare Revolution J. and finest history of Shakespeare studies in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries Shakespeare and Canada Irena R. Makaryk, Kathryn Prince, 2017-03-08 Shakespeare in Canada is the result of a collective desire to explore the role that Shakespeare has played in Canada over the past two hundred years but also to comprehend the way our country's culture has influenced our interpretation of his literary career and heritage What function does Shakespeare serve in Canada today How has he been reconfigured in different ways for particular Canadian contexts The authors of this book attempt to answer these questions while imagining what the future might hold for William Shakespeare in Canada Covering the Stratford Festival the cult CBC television program Slings and Arrows major Canadian critics such as Northrop Frye and Marshall McLuhan the influential acting teacher Neil Freiman the rise of Quebecois and First Nation approaches to Shakespeare and Shakespeare's place in secondary schools today this collection reflects the diversity and energy of Shakespeare's afterlife in Canada Collectively the authors suggest that Shakespeare continues to offer Canadians remembrance of ourselves This is a refreshingly original and impressive contribution to Shakespeare studies a considerable achievement in any work on the history of one of the central figures in the western literary canon Published in English Shakespeare, Theory, and Performance James C. The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Conchita Sugars, 2016 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields genres and periods in Canadian literary studies The essays in this volume written by prominent theorists in the field reflect the plurality of critical perspectives regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism trauma and memory citizenship material culture literary prizes disability studies literature and history digital cultures globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory mourning melancholy haunting memory and autobiography The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole

Reimagining Shakespeare's Playhouse Joe Falocco, 2010 Numerous attempts have been made in the modern and postmodern era to recreate the staging conventions of Shakespeare's theatre from William Poel to the founders of the New Globe This volume examines the work of these directors analyzing their practical successes and failures it also engages with the ideological critiques of early modern staging advanced by scholars such as W B Worthen and Ric Knowles The author argues that rather than indulging in archaism for its own sake the movement looked backward in a progressive attempt to address the challenges of the twentieth century The book begins with a re-examination of the conventional view of Poel as an antiquarian crank Subsequent chapters are devoted to Harley Granville Barker and Nugent Monck the author argues that while Barker's major contribution was the dubious achievement of establishing the movement's reputation as an essentially literary phenomenon Monck took the first tentative steps toward an architectural reimagining of modern performance space an advance which led to later triumphs in early modern staging The book then traces the sporadic and irregular development of Tyrone Guthrie's commitment to early modern practices The final chapter looks at how competing historical theories of playhouse design influenced the construction of the Globe while the conclusion discusses the ongoing potential of early modern staging in the new millennium

Looking at Shakespeare Dennis Kennedy, 2001-12-20 Most studies of the performance of Shakespeare's work concentrate on how the text has been played and what meanings have been conveyed through acting and interpretive directing Dennis Kennedy demonstrates that much of audience response is determined by the visual representation which is normally more immediate and direct than the aural conveyance of a text Ranging widely over productions in Britain Europe Japan and North America Kennedy gives a thorough account of the main scenographic movements of the century investigating how the visual relates to Shakespeare on the stage The second edition of this acclaimed history includes a new chapter on Shakespeare performance in the 1990s bringing the story up to date by drawing on examples from a wide international field There are more than twenty new illustrations some of them in colour bringing the total number of illustrations to almost 200 and previous references have been updated
