New Serial Titles ,1992 Contemporary Authors ,2005 Catalogue of Music and Musical Literature Contained in the Library of St. Martin's Hall Saint Martin's Hall (LONDON),1850 The Canadian Who's who ,2001 The Publishers Weekly ,1900 Voice in Later Medieval English Literature David Lawton,2017 David Lawton approaches later medieval English vernacular culture in terms of voice As texts and discourses shift in translation and in use from one language to another antecedent texts are revoiced in ways that recreate them as public interiorities without effacing their history or future The approach yields important insights into the voice work of late medieval poets especially Langland and Chaucer and also their fifteenth century successors who treat their work as they have treated their precursors It also helps illuminate vernacular religious writing and its aspirations and it addresses literary and cultural change such as the effect of censorship and increasing political instability in and beyond the fifteenth century Lawton also proposes his emphasis on voice as a literary tool of broad application and his book has a bold and comparative sweep that encompasses the Pauline letters Augustine's Confessions the classical precedents of Virgil and Ovid medieval contemporaries like Machaut and Petrarch extra literary artists like Monteverdi later poets such as Wordsworth Heaney and Paul Valery and moderns such as Jarry and Proust What justifies such parallels the author claims is that late medieval texts constitute the foundation of a literary history of voice that extends to modernity The book's energy is therefore devoted to the transformative reading of later medieval texts in order to show their original and ongoing importance as voice work The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1892 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1862

Narrative Personae and Desire in Modernist Fiction Kevin Ohi,2025-09-25 Examining modernist fiction in the context of a longer tradition of narrative impersonality Narrative Personae and Desire in Modernist Fiction explores how narrative language renders subjective states of interiority and desire Inspired by linguistic analyses of the speakerless sentences of narrative language and their unoccupied centers of perception Kevin Ohi argues that modernist texts are populated by quasi persons narrative voices that are impersonal while trailing effects of personality and characters whose personhood is suspended the incisive rendering of psychology and desire produced by externalizations of consciousness Certain first person texts highlight the constitutive tension between the functions of narrator and character joined in that first person while in third person texts a charismatic or impervious central voice can be shown nevertheless to hold the psychologies it empties from the characters it describes At stake is the particular way that modernist narrative responds to the question of literature's capacities for addressing psychic life In Virginia Woolf's Jacob's Room William Faulkner's As I Lay Dying Ford Madox Ford's The Good Soldier Eudora Welty's The Golden Apples Ronald Firbank's Concerning the Eccentricities of Cardinal Pirelli and James Purdy's Mourners Below this volume finds a paradoxical merger a humanizing effect achieved by narrative depersonalization and its evocations of psychology and desire The Saturday Review of
