State Formation in Palestine Inge Amundsen,George Giacaman,Mushtaq Husain Khan,2004-07-08 This book examines key questions and challenges the widely prevalent view that the Palestinian Authority collapsed because of its internal governance failures its lack of commitment to democracy and corruption It argues that the analytical framework of good governance is not appropriate for assessing state performance in developing countries and that it is especially inappropriate in conflict and post conflict situations Instead an alternative framework is proposed for assessing state performance in a context of economic and social transformation This is then applied in detail to different aspects of state formation in Palestine showing that the institutional architecture set up by the Oslo agreements was responsible for many of the serious failures

Impossible Peace Mark Levine,2013-04-04 In 1993 luminaries from around the world signed the Oslo Accords a pledge to achieve lasting peace in the Holy Land on the lawn of the White House Yet things didn t turn out quite as planned With over 1 000 Israelis and close to four times that number of Palestinians killed since 2000 the Oslo process is now considered history Impossible Peace provides one of the first comprehensive analyses of that history Mark LeVine argues that Oslo was never going to bring peace or justice to Palestinians or Israelis He claims that the accords collapsed not because of a failure to live up to the agreements but precisely because of the terms of and ideologies underlying the agreements Today more than ever before it s crucial to understand why these failures happened and how they will impact on future negotiations towards the final status agreement This fresh and honest account of the peace process in the Middle East shows how by learning from history it may be possible to avoid the errors that have long doomed peace in the region

Survival 49.3 Dana Allin,2023-05-31 Survival the Institute of Strategic Studies quarterly journal is a leading forum for analysis and debate of international and strategic affairs With a diverse range of authors eight to ten articles per issue plus thoughtful reviews and review essays Survival is scholarly in depth while vivid well written and policy relevant in approach Shaped by its editors to be both timely and forward thinking the journal encourages writers to challenge conventional wisdom and bring fresh often controversial perspectives to bear on the strategic issues of the moment

Violence, Nonviolence, and the Palestinian National Movement Wendy Pearlman, 2011-10-24 Why do some national movements use violent protest and others nonviolent protest Wendy Pearlman shows that much of the answer lies inside movements themselves Nonviolent protest requires coordination and restraint which only a cohesive movement can provide When by contrast a movement is fragmented factional competition generates new incentives for violence and authority structures are too weak to constrain escalation Pearlman reveals these patterns across one hundred years in the Palestinian national movement with comparisons to South Africa and Northern Ireland To those who ask why there is no Palestinian Gandhi Pearlman demonstrates that nonviolence is not simply a matter of leadership Nor is violence attributable only to religion emotions or stark instrumentality Instead a movement's organizational structure mediates the strategies that it employs By taking readers on a journey from civil disobedience to suicide bombings this book offers fresh insight into the dynamics of conflict and mobilization

Security Sector Transformation in Southeastern Europe and the Middle East Thanos P. Dokos, 2007 For most countries security today is primarily measured in non military terms and threats to security are non military in nature These threats include incompetent government corruption organized crime insecure borders smuggling illegal migration ethnic and religious conflict and of course terrorism

Euro-Mediterranean Relations After September 11 Annette Junemann, 2004-06 A comprehensive study of the nexus between democratization and security in the Mediterranean which are seen as essentially complementary yet threatened by political trends witnessed since the September 2001 attacks Contributors from a variety of European and Mediterranean countries address the impact of a restructured security system Europe's effort to establish an autonomous security and defence policy and attempts among the Mediterranean Partner Countries MPCs to build regional security regimes

Experimental Legal Education in a Globalized World Mutaz Qafisheh, Stephen A. Ronenbaum, 2016-06-22 Legal education is currently undergoing a paradigm shift Traditional law instruction lecturing and memorizing have become a fading fashion with legal clinics increasingly cropping up These allow law students to practice while studying and to contribute to social justice as part of the educational process Students no longer accept one way interaction from their professors and demand interaction with their peers in various corners of the globe The Middle East is no exception here Legal clinics can be found in most countries of the region though there is scant literature on legal education in the area particularly with regards to clinical legal education This book fills this gap and offers comparative cases that will benefit legal educators and justice practitioners in the Middle East and beyond The region needs reform in all dimensions including the political economic social religious legal and educational Legal education lies at the heart of securing such long awaited reforms The book examines legal education within selected locations in the region underscoring successful pedagogical models from various parts of the world This peer reviewed book focuses on practical legal education where learning is student centered particularly clinical legal education field work street law pro bono service legal advice simulations placements internships moot courts and mock trials problem based learning

case analysis group work role play and brainstorming The book brings together 28 chapters written by leading legal scholars from across the globe all concerned with the advancement of legal education with making it more interactive and contributing to bridging the gap between powerful and powerless communities Civilian Oversight of Policing Andrew Goldsmith, Colleen Lewis, 2000-11-10 How the police are policed is no longer just a domestic issue The involvement of police and other security forces in systematic abuses of human rights in many developing countries as well as in so called developed countries has placed the control of police on a number of international agendas More and more countries are experimenting with different forms of police accountability and many are turning to civilian oversight bodies in an attempt to improve the process This book examines recent experiences with and prospects for civilian oversight It looks at how this relatively new method of police accountability has been interpreted and implemented in a wide range of jurisdictions around the world While looking at recent experiences in countries which have used the civilian oversight process for some years the United States of America United Kingdom Northern Ireland and Australia it also looks at recent attempts to establish civilian oversight bodies in South Africa Israel Central and South America and Palestine Some chapters explain how in several of these countries oversight of police conduct is a fundamental governance issues and relates to concerns about democratisation and rebuilding civil society Other chapters deal with the complex issue of how to evaluate public complaints mechanisms and the political conditions that enable or frustrate the introduction and maintenance of effective civilian oversight Palestine in EU and Russian Foreign Policy Malath Alagha, 2016-10-04 The establishment of a Palestinian state has long been a strategic objective of EU and Russian foreign policy in the Middle East However over a decade after the creation of the road map the establishment of an independent Palestinian state has still not been achieved Palestine in EU and Russian Foreign Policy uses the school of constructivism to provide a new understanding of EU and Russian foreign policy It explores the failure of these global actors to speed up the process of establishing a Palestinian state despite this being a strategic objective and top priority of their involvement in the Middle East peace process The book then analyses the role of identity and self other perception in the making of EU and Russian foreign policy towards the Middle East peace process It is argued that Palestinian statehood provides a telling empirical example of how and to what extent the search for global actorness as a matter of international identity informs foreign policy making by global actors The book then proceeds to discuss why the EU and Russia are so eager to be involved in initiating a peace settlement Offering a new understanding of foreign policy making by global players in Middle Eastern politics this book will appeal to students scholars and policymakers working in International Relations and European Russian and Middle Eastern studies Israel's Colonial Project in Palestine Elia Zureik, 2015-11-19 Colonialism has three foundational concerns violence territory and population control all of which rest on racist discourse and practice Placing the Zionist project in Israel Palestine within the context of settler colonialism reveals strategies and goals behind the region's rules of governance that have included violence repressive state laws and racialized forms of surveillance In Israel's Colonial Project in Palestine: Brutal Pursuit Elia Zureik revisits and reworks fundamental ideas that informed his first work on colonialism and Palestine three decades ago Focusing on the means of control that are at the centre of Israel's actions toward Palestine this book applies Michel Foucault's work on biopolitics to colonialism and to the situation in Israel Palestine in particular It reveals how racism plays a central role in colonialism and biopolitics and how surveillance in all its forms becomes the indispensable tool of governance It goes on to analyse territoriality in light of biopolitics with the dispossession of indigenous people and population transfer advancing the state's agenda and justified as in the interests of national security The book incorporates sociological historical and postcolonial studies into an informed and original examination of the Zionist project in Palestine from the establishment of Israel through to the actions and decisions of the present day Israeli government Providing new perspectives on settler colonialism informed by Foucault's theory and with particular focus on the role played by state surveillance in controlling the Palestinian population this book is a valuable resource for students and scholars interested in the Arab Israeli Conflict and Colonialism

The Palestinian Reform Agenda Nathan J. Brown, 2002 Since the earliest days of the Palestinian Authority a varied group of Palestinians has sought to lay the practical foundation for Palestinian statehood through the construction of strong institutions with clear and generally liberal legal bases Although these efforts have been sometimes frustrated by the Palestinian leadership and by deep rivalries between the reform groups reformers have coalesced around a remarkably common agenda Brown examines efforts by Palestinian reformers on several issues including the rule of law public finances corruption elections and local governance
