8 Build Positive RelationshipsWe spend 8 hours every day with our colleagues That s usually more time than we spend with the person we ve chosen to marry our friends or our family Why would you not want to have pleasant and professional relationships with these people I work with a lot of teams that are stressed out with high workloads and big demands but their number one stressor seems to be interpersonal relationships It s tough dealing with other people all day long especially when they aren t people you would have chosen to spend a significant part of your life with We need to find ways to manage all our relationships professionally and focus on building strong relationships with the people we do enjoy In a recent study of workplace dynamics reported in the Harvard Business Review researchers found that having a lot of coworkers who eventually developed into friends significantly increased employees performance as judged by their supervisor One possible reason for this was people seeking advice If you have friends in the company it s far easier to ask for help without fearing you ll be judged a poor performer In addition having friends in the company especially if they work in other departments gives you access to information through informal networks you might not otherwise get Another reason might be morale Employees with close friends at work reported being in a good mood more often which could spill over into positive effects on the work being performed If you do choose to build stronger connections at work take the time to ask people about themselves and their lives I ve been consistently surprised when I get to know people better everyone has an interesting story You ll often find common ground new respect and compassion for others
