Who Said That First? Max Cryer,2010-04 Believe it or not this is probably the first book to attempt to identify the original sources of some of the English language's most common expressions. We might think we know who first said famous for fifteen minutes, annus horribilis, the cold war, and let them eat cake. It's a no-brainer, you might say, but Max Cryer has a surprise or two in store for you. I kid you not. In this very readable book, he explores the origins of hundreds of expressions we use and hear every day and comes up with some surprising findings. Never economical with the truth, he might just have the last laugh. We learn what they didn't say: We are not amused, Elementary, my dear Watson, Let them eat cake, First catch your hare. We learn that the Bible doesn't mention Salome or seven veils. We learn about the origins of the infamous Mile High Club. Written in Max Cryer's delightfully witty style, WHO SAID THAT FIRST is a wonderful book to dip into or settle a friendly dispute. Remember, good books are few and far between, and you get what you pay for. So buy this book, go ahead, make my day. Max Cryer is a writer, entertainer, and broadcaster who hosts a weekly radio slot on Radio Live on the quirks of the English language. In a long career, he has been a schoolteacher, a compere, and television host, as well as a performer on the opera stage in London and in cabaret in Las Vegas and Hollywood. Now a full-time writer living in Auckland, he has written many books, including LOVE ME TENDER, THE GODZONE DICTIONARY, and HEAR OUR VOICES, WE ENTREAT. The inspiration for WHO SAID THAT FIRST. During his years working in Hollywood, Max Cryer became acquainted with Lucille Ball, at the time the world's most popular comedy actress. One day when they were having lunch together, Max complimented her on the amount of pleasure she gave, and Lucille replied, "I would be absolutely nothing without the writers. It's all to do with the way things are written; they create the springboard for me." The remark stayed with Max for years, and he realised it was true. Very often, the person who said an effective or memorable line didn't actually create it. As Lucille Ball had said, the person in the background should have the credit, but was usually invisible. This is what motivated him to seek not just popular expressions, but who had actually originated them.

Common Phrases Max Cryer, 2010-10. This book is as good as gold for booksellers. I kid you not.

Hitchcock at the Source R. Barton Palmer, David Boyd, 2011-09-01. The adaptation of literary works to the screen has been the subject of increasing and increasingly sophisticated critical and scholarly attention in recent years, but most studies of the subject have continued to privilege literature over film by taking the literary sources as their starting point. Rather than examining the processes by which a particular author has been adapted into a diversity of films by different filmmakers, the contributors in Hitchcock at the Source consider the processes by which a varied range of literary sources have been transformed by one filmmaker into an impressive body of work. Throughout his career, Alfred Hitchcock transformed a variety of literary sources, novels, plays, short stories, into what is arguably the most coherent and distinctive narratively, stylistically, and thematically of all directorial oeuvres. After an introduction surveying the nature and diversity of Hitchcock's sources and locating the current volume in the context of theoretical work on adaptation, nineteen original essays range across the entirety of Hitchcock's career, from the silent period through to the 1970s. In addition to addressing the process of adaptation in particular films in terms of plot and character, the contributors also consider less obvious matters of tone technique and ideology Hitchcock s manipulation of the conventions of literary and dramatic genres such as spy fiction and romantic comedy and more general problems such as Hitchcock s shift from plays to novels as his major sources in the course of the 1930s
