Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 1915 Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 1915 Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 1915 Studies in the History of Natural Theology Clement Charles Julian Webb, 2015-06-25 Excerpt from Studies in the History of Natural Theology The following pages contain the substance of three courses of lectures delivered by the author as Wilde Lecturer on Natural and Comparative Religion in the University of Oxford during the academical years 1911 12 and 1912 13 They may be considered as contributions to the history of Natural Theology in Europe The first is a general introduction to the subject the second deals with the Natural Theology of Plato as expounded in the tenth book of the Laws the third with mediaeval Natural Theology as represented by six writers St Anselm Abelard St Thomas Aquinas Raymond of Sebonde Pietro Pomponazzi and Lord Herbert of Cherbury The inclusion of the thinker last named who might at first seem to belong to the modern rather than to the mediaeval period was suggested by the plan of Dr Pfeiderer's Religionsphilosophie auf geschichtlicher Grundlage Dr Pfeiderer takes Spinoza as the first representative of the Philosophy of Religion which he regards on grounds which I have ventured to criticize as a branch of speculation unknown alike to antiquity and to the Middle Ages I cannot for my own part draw so sharp a line between the Philosophy of Religion and the Natural Theology which admittedly existed in those earlier periods No one can be more conscious than myself of the superficiality of the treatment which is here accorded to a subject requiring and deserving a far more thorough investigation I can only plead in my own excuse that an Oxford college tutor can only undertake work such as belongs to the Lectureship which I was privileged to hold from 1911 to 1914 if he is prepared to accomplish less than might reasonably be demanded from a lecturer able to devote the whole or even the major part of his time to the duties of the lectureship About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works

A Natural History of Natural Theology Helen De Cruz, Johan De Smedt, 2014-12-19 An examination of the cognitive foundations of intuitions about the existence and attributes of God Questions about the existence and attributes of God form the subject matter of natural theology which seeks to gain knowledge of the divine by relying on reason and experience of the world Arguments in natural theology rely largely on intuitions and inferences that seem natural to us occurring spontaneously at the sight of a beautiful landscape perhaps or in wonderment at the complexity of the cosmos even to a nonphilosopher In this book Helen De Cruz and Johan De Smedt examine the cognitive origins of arguments in natural theology They find that although natural theological arguments can be very sophisticated they are rooted in everyday intuitions about purpose causation agency and morality Using evidence and theories from disciplines including the cognitive science of religion evolutionary ethics evolutionary aesthetics and the cognitive science of testimony they show that these intuitions emerge early in development and are a stable part of human cognition De Cruz and De Smedt analyze the cognitive underpinnings of five well known arguments for the existence of God the argument from design the cosmological argument the moral argument the argument from beauty and the argument from miracles Finally they consider whether the cognitive origins of these natural theological arguments should affect their rationality Studies in the History of Natural Theology - Scholar's Choice Edition Clement Charles Julian Webb,2015-02-19 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant A Natural History of Natural Theology Helen De Cruz,Johan De Smedt,2024-06-11 An examination of the cognitive foundations of intuitions about the existence and attributes of God Questions about the existence and attributes of God form the subject matter of natural theology which seeks to gain knowledge of the divine by relying on reason and experience of the world Arguments in natural theology rely largely on intuitions and inferences that seem natural to us occurring spontaneously at the sight of a beautiful landscape perhaps or in wonderment at the complexity of the cosmos even to a nonphilosopher In this book Helen De Cruz and Johan De Smedt examine the cognitive origins of arguments in natural theology They find that although natural theological arguments can be very sophisticated they are rooted in everyday intuitions about purpose causation agency and morality Using evidence and theories from disciplines including the cognitive science of religion evolutionary ethics evolutionary aesthetics and the cognitive science of testimony they show that these intuitions emerge early in development and are a stable part of human cognition De Cruz and De Smedt analyze the cognitive underpinnings of five well known arguments for the existence of God the argument from design the cosmological argument the moral argument the argument from beauty and the argument from miracles Finally they consider whether the cognitive origins of these natural theological arguments should affect their rationality God and Greek Philosophy Lloyd P. Gerson,1994 Zoology in Early Modern Culture: Intersections of Science, Theology, Philology, and Political and Religious Education ,2014-10-09 This volume tries to map out the intriguing amalgam of the different partly conflicting approaches that shaped early modern zoology Early modern reading of the Book of Nature comprised among others the description of species in the literary tradition of antiquity as well as empirical observations vivisection and modern eyewitness accounts the translation of zoological species into visual art for devotion prayer and religious education but also scientific and scholarly curiosity theoretical philosophical and theological thinking regarding God s creation the Flood and the generation of animals new attempts with respect to nomenclature and taxonomy the discovery of unknown species in the New World impressive Wunderkammer collections and the keeping of exotic animals in princely menageries The volume demonstrates that theology and philology played a pivotal role in the complex formation of this new science Contributors include Brian Ogilvie Bernd Roling Erik Jorink Paul Smith Sabine Kalff Tam s Demeter Amanda Herrin Marringje Rikken Alexander Loose Sophia Hendrikx and Karl Enenkel Readers' Guide to Periodical Literature ,1920
