George Whalley,2016-01-23 The Pleasures of Academe James Axtell,1998-01-01 For years American colleges and universities have been criticized by the media cash strapped state legislators and many others Bearing the brunt of these attacks are the professors accused of working too little and of neglecting their teaching responsibilities in favor of research In this lively and timely book the distinguished historian James Axtell offers a compelling defense of higher education Drawing on national statistics broad ranging scholarship and delightful anecdotes Axtell reminds us of the dedication of professors and the increasing demands placed on them He describes the professorial work cycle the evolution of scholarship in the past three decades the importance of habitual scholarship and the best ways to judge a university He discusses with imagination and wit the many pleasures of academic life including intercollegiate sports the benign pathology of loving and collecting books teaching and service outside the classroom life in college towns and working vacations Axtell persuasively confronts the major critics of higher education arguing that they have perpetuated misunderstandings of tenure research teaching curricular change and professorial politics New World Myth Marie Vautier,1998 In this comparative study of six Canadian novels Marie Vautier examines reworkings of myth in the postcolonial context While myths are frequently used in literature as transhistorical master narratives she argues that these novels destabilize the traditional function of myth in their self conscious reexamination of historical events from a postcolonial perspective Through detailed readings of Fran ois Barcelo s La Tribu George Bowering s Burning Water Jacques Godbout s Les T tes Papineau Joy Kogawa s Obasan Jovette Marchessault s Comme une enfant de la terre and Rudy Wiebe s The Scorched Wood People Vautier situates New World myth within the broader contexts of political history and of classical biblical and historical myths Encyclopedia of the Novel Paul Schellinger,2014-04-08 The Encyclopedia of the Novel is the first reference book that focuses on the development of the novel throughout the world Entries on individual writers assess the place of that writer within the development of the novel form explaining why and in exactly what ways that writer is important Similarly an entry on an individual novel discusses the importance of that novel not only form analyzing the particular innovations that novel has introduced and the ways in which it has influenced the subsequent course of the genre A wide range of topic entries explore the history criticism theory production dissemination and reception of the novel A very important component of the Encyclopedia of the Novel is its long surveys of development of the novel in various regions of the world Under Conrad's Eyes Michael John DiSanto,2009 An innovative account of Joseph Conrad s engagement with nineteenth century thought George Orwell: A Reassessment Ira B Nadel,Peter Buitenhuis,1988-11-24 Austen, Eliot, Charlotte Bronte and the Mentor-Lover P. Menon,2003-05-23 This lucid and tightly argued study uses the motif of the mentor lover embodying diverse permutations of sexual love power and judgement to explore evaluate and compare the works of Jane Austen Charlotte Bront and George

Eliot as they contend with issues of sexuality family selfhood freedom conduct and gender The figure also provides a means to probe their relationship to the reader as they become mentor lovers through authorship each eliciting a different form of love and electing a different style of instruction

Gottfried Keller and His Critics Richard R. Ruppel, 1998 Survey of the criticism devoted to Gottfried Keller the important nineteenth century writer in German The works of Gottfried Keller 1819 1890 rank alongside those of Goethe and Thomas Mann yet this volume is the first in any language to examine the critical assessment and scholarly expertise devoted to him ranging from the early stages of journalistic criticism to the present day Professor Ruppel begins by exploring the literary industry in the nineteenth century the literary market place the tastes of the reading public and the expectations of editors before going on to survey representative journalistic assessments of Keller's writing including critical correspondence from Keller's contemporaries Subsequent chapters examine in chronological order the most important milestones in Keller scholarship particularly twentieth century criticism and the Anglo American tradition There is also a brief history of the translations of Keller's works into English investigating some of the difficulties confronting English translators of Keller's poetically creative German The study concludes with an overview of recent scholarly assessments covering the past twenty five years

Making Canada New Dean Irvine, Vanessa Lent, Bart A. Vautour, 2017-03-17 An examination of the connections between modernist writers and editorial activities Making Canada New draws links among new and old media collaborative labour emergent scholars and scholarships and digital modernisms In doing so the collection reveals that renovating modernisms does not need to depend on the fabrication of completely new modes of scholarship Rather it is the repurposing of already existing practices and combining them with others whether old or new print or digital that instigates a process of continuous renewal Critical to this process of renewal is the intermingling of print and digital research methods and the coordination of more popular modes of literary scholarship with less frequented ones such as bibliography textual studies and editing Making Canada New tracks the editorial renovation of modernism as a digital phenomenon while speaking to the continued production of print editions
