Studies In Modern Music First Series:

Studies in Modern Music, Second Series William Henry Hadow, 1913 The Savage Solomons as They Were & are Stanley George Curthoys Knibbs, 1929 One Hundred Years of Music Gerald Abraham, 2017-07-05

One Hundred Years of Music provides a full account of the history of music from the death of Beethoven to the modern era. It covers a period of exceptional interest. The last hundred years coincide roughly with the rise and decline of Romanticism, include the various nationalist movements and extend to the advent of neo-classicism, the twelve tone system and still more modern techniques. Abraham devotes ample space to modernist and avant garde music in which he explains the difficulties we experience in listening to the work of such composers as Schoenberg, Bartók and Berg. He also throws new light on many more familiar topics. In its earlier editions One Hundred Years of Music became a standard work on this subject; it has since been brought updated to include coverage of later developments. Abraham approaches his subject as an historian of style rather than an esthetic critic. Rather than pass judgment on particular works or composers he shows how music has developed and thus provides a clear and connected history that is more substantial than most books of musical appreciation. An extensive chronology and a full bibliography and index add to the usefulness of the book for students, professionals and musical laymen alike. This third edition incorporates some corrections of fact, further enlarges the bibliography and chronology and adds commentary on developments in music techniques. In order to correct the historical perspective the author has included a prelude and three interludes giving rough sketches of general conditions in the musical world at intervals of thirty years. As the reader's sense of chronology is very apt to get confused when a number of simultaneous streams of development have to be described, the author has inserted the date of composition or performance both if they are widely separated of each work at the first mention of it.

The Magazine of Poetry and Literary Review, 1895 The Westminster Review, 1895 Abstractionist Aesthetics Phillip Brian Harper, 2015-12-25

An artistic discussion on the critical potential of African American expressive culture. In a major reassessment of African American culture, Phillip Brian Harper intervenes in the ongoing debate about the proper depiction of black people. He advocates for African American aesthetic abstractionism, a representational mode whereby an artwork rather than striving for realist verisimilitude vigorously asserts its essentially artificial character. Maintaining that realist representation reaffirms the very social facts that it might have been understood to challenge, Harper contends that abstractionism shows up the actual constructedness of those facts, thereby subjecting them to critical scrutiny and making them amenable to transformation. Arguing against the need for positive representations, Abstractionist Aesthetics displaces realism as the primary mode of African American representational aesthetics, re-centers literature as a principal site of African American cultural politics and elevates experimental prose within the domain of African American literature. Drawing on examples across a variety of artistic production, including the visual work of Fred Wilson and Kara Walker, the music of Billie Holiday and Cecil Taylor, and the prose and verse writings of Ntozake Shange, Alice Walker and John Keene.

this book poses urgent questions about how racial blackness is made to assume certain social meanings In the process African American aesthetics are upended rendering abstractionism as the most powerful modality for Black representation
