Studies Voltaire 18th Century Volume 365:

Enlightenment and Emancipation Susan Manning, Peter France, 2006 The Enlightenment has been represented in radically opposing ways on the one hand as the throwing off of the chains of superstition custom and usurped authority on the other hand in the Romantic period but also more recently as what Michel Foucault termed the great confinement in which mind forged manacles imprison the free and irrational spirit The debate about the Enlightenment project remains a topical one which can still arouse fierce passions This collection of essays by distinguished scholars from various disciplines addresses the central question Was Enlightenment a force for emancipation Their responses working from within and frequently across the disciplinary lines of history political science economics music literature aesthetics art history and film reveal unsuspected connections and divergences even between well known figures and texts In their turn the essays suggest the need for further inquiry in areas that turn out to be very far from closed The volume considers major writings in unusual juxtaposition highlights new figures of importance and demonstrates familiar texts to embody strange implications Publisher's website

Schwartz, Robert Alan Schneider, 2003 This collection of essays by French and American historians testifies to the enduring importance of Alexis de Tocqueville's The Old Regime and the French Revolution first published in 1856 Highly original in its day and now recognized as a classic The Old Regime has since the 1970s stimulated considerable research and improved our understanding of the French Old Regime Tocqueville and Beyond joins this trend to offer both an appreciation and critique of Tocqueville's remarkable book From the wide ranging perspectives of privileged nobles men of letters rural life and the evolution of centralization and liberty in France as well as the Dutch Republic these essays attest to the continuing significance of Tocqueville's classic study

Shaffer, 1987-10-29 The ninth volume of this annual journal continues the consideration of the relations of European with non European literatures begun in volume 8 It brings the series of special bibliographies on the history of comparative literary studies in the UK up to 1965 and contains the annual bibliography of comparative literature covering 1984

The Literary Channel Margaret Cohen, Carolyn Dever, 2009-02-14 The Literary Channel defines a crucial transnational literary zone that shaped the development of the modern novel During the first two centuries of the genre's history Britain and France were locked in political economic and military struggle The period also saw British and French writers critics and readers enthusiastically exchanging works codes and theories of the novel Building on both nationally based literary history and comparatist work on poetics this book rethinks the genre's evolution as marking the power and limits of modern cultural nationalism In the Channel zone the novel developed through interactions among texts readers writers and translators that inextricably linked national literary cultures It served as a forum to promote and critique nationalist clichés whether from the standpoint of Enlightenment cosmopolitanism the insurgent nationalism of colonized spaces or the non-nationalized culture of consumption In the process the Channel zone promoted codes that became the genre's hallmarks including the sentimental poetics that would shape fiction through the nineteenth century Uniting leading critics who bridge literary history and theory The Literary Channel will appeal to all readers attentive to the future of literary studies as well as those interested in the novel's development British and French cultural history and extra-national patterns of cultural exchange Contributors include April Alliston Emily Apter Margaret Cohen Joan DeJean Carolyn Dever Lynn Festa Françoise Lionnet Deidre Shauna Lynch Sharon Marcus Richard Maxwell and Mary Helen McMurran

The Seven Years War in Europe Franz A.J. Szabo, 2013-11-05 In this pioneering new work based on a thorough re-reading of primary sources and new research in the Austrian State Archives Franz Szabo presents a fascinating reassessment of the continental war Professor Szabo challenges the well-established myth that the Seven Years War was won through the military skill and tenacity of the King of Prussia often styled Frederick the Great Instead he argues that Prussia did not win but merely survived the Seven Years War and did so despite and not because of the actions and decisions of its king With balanced attention to all the major participants and to all conflict zones on the European continent the book describes the strategies and tactics of the military leaders on all sides analyzes the major battles of the war and illuminates the diplomatic political and financial aspects of the conflict

Unnaturally French Peter Sahlins, 2018-08-06 In his rich and learned new book about the naturalization of foreigners Peter Sahlins offers an unusual and unexpected contribution to the histories of immigration nationality and citizenship in France and Europe Through a study of foreign citizens Sahlins discovers and documents a premodern world of legal citizenship its juridical and administrative fictions and its social practices Telling the story of naturalization from the sixteenth to the early nineteenth centuries Unnaturally French offers an original interpretation of the continuities and ruptures of absolutist and modern citizenship in the process challenging the historiographical centrality of the French Revolution Unnaturally French is a brilliant synthesis of social legal and political history At its core are the tens of thousands of foreign citizens whose exhaustively researched social identities and geographic origins are presented here for the first time Sahlins makes a signal contribution to the legal history of nationality in his comprehensive account of the theory procedure and practice of naturalization In his political history of the making and unmaking of the French absolute monarchy Sahlins considers the shifting policies toward immigrants foreign citizens and state membership Sahlins argues that the absolute citizen exemplified in Louis XIV's attempt to tax all foreigners in 1697 gave way to new practices in the middle of the eighteenth century This citizenship revolution long before 1789 produced changes in private and in political culture that led to the abolition of the distinction between foreigners and citizens Sahlins shows how the Enlightenment and the political failure of the monarchy in France laid the foundations for the development of an exclusively political citizen in opposition to the absolute citizen who had been above all a legal subject The author completes his original book with a study of naturalization under Napoleon and the Bourbon Restoration Tracing the twisted history of the foreign citizen from the Old Regime to the New Sahlins sheds light on the continuities and ruptures of the revolutionary process and also its consequences Barbary and Enlightenment Ann Thomson, 1987-06-01 This book based on a wide range of eighteenth century works concerns European attitude towards North Africa in the century preceding the French conquest of Algiers in 1830 It studies the radical transformation of perceptions of Barbary during the period essentially by placing them in the context of the different eighteenth century systems of classification of the world We see that uncertainty as to how to classify this region its inhabitants its form of government and social evolution which led to its absence from most contemporary anthropological discussions was resolved in the early nineteenth century with the appearance of what were to become colonial stereotypes
