Culture Meets Culture in the Movies David H. Budd,2010-07-27 This is an examination of the interactions between people of different cultures as portrayed in relatively modern commonly available American and European films The cinema is a desirable medium through which to show cultural differences because it vividly portrays settings actions and emotions all of which greatly influence viewers perceptions Films showing relations of the United States north and south Japan China India Asia and Africa meeting the West the clash between American Indians and white settlers various other intercultural contrasts multicultural voices in film and the connection between popular film and intercultural studies all are examined in this work Each chapter concludes with a filmography Culture Meets Power Stanley R. Barrett,2002-12-30 In recent years the concept of power has soared to the top of the anthropological agenda while the concept of culture has been found inadequate in understanding the contemporary world The purposes of this study are to explain why power has become a central interest in the discipline to evaluate the explanatory potential of power to demonstrate how to analyze power in the ethnographic context and to consider whether the culture concept can be salvaged In chapter one the process by which the profile of power became elevated as a result of globalization is analyzed included here is the critique of culture In chapter two a broad overview of the conception of power from early political anthropology to key works in philosophy political science and political sociology is attempted Some anthropologists have recently tried to rescue the culture concept this is the focus of chapter three Although the argument in this study is that power is fundamentally important it would be a mistake to think that power is any less ambiguous than culture or any other concept thus in chapter four it is shown that for each of 20 major assumptions about power there is a plausible counter assumption Chapter five ties the study together by exploring the debates about power in the context of ethnography The study ends with a postscript on the terrorist attacks on America of September 11 2001 a poignant reminder that culture and power sometimes intersect to produce human tragedy on a grand scale People who Came Before ,1999 Study Guide for Fundamental Concepts and Skills for Nursing - E-Book Susan C. deWit,Patricia A.
