Remediating McLuhan Richard Cavell, 2025-10-01 While current scholarly interest has assured Marshall McLuhan's 1911-80 foundational status as a media theorist much room still exists for further exploration of his writings which have taken on additional layers of significance in our contemporary digital moment Holding that media were extensions of the human McLuhan also posited that the human was a product of technology Ranging across fields as diverse as art history biotechnology and beyond this collection of essays considers McLuhan's ground breaking approach within a number of new contexts and explores the distinguishing features of his media theory

Canadian Suburban Cheryl Cowdy, 2022-04-15 Though a large proportion of Canadians live in suburban communities the Canadian cultural imaginary is filled with other landscapes The wilderness the prairie cityscapes and small towns are the settings by which we define our nation rather than the strip mall the single family home and the developing subdivision which for many are ubiquitous features of everyday life Canadian Suburban considers the cultures of suburbia as they are articulated in English Canadian fiction published from the 1960s to the present Cheryl Cowdy begins her excursion through novels set between 1945 and 1970 the heyday of modern suburban development with works by canonical authors such as Margaret Laurence Richard B Wright Margaret Atwood and Barbara Gowdy Her investigation then turns to the meaning of the suburbs within fiction set after the 1970s when a more corporate model of suburbanization prevailed and ends with an investigation of how writers from immigrant and racialized communities are radically transforming the suburban imaginary Cowdy argues there is no one authentic suburban imaginary but multiple at times contradictory representations that disrupt prevalent assumptions about suburban homogeneity Canadian Suburban provides a foundation for understanding the literary history of suburbia and a refreshing reassessment of the role of space and place in Canadian culture and identity

Marshall McLuhan's Mosaic Elena Lamberti, 2012-01-01 One hundred years after Marshall McLuhan's birth Elena Lamberti explores a fundamental yet neglected aspect of his work the solid humanistic roots of his original mosaic form of writing In this investigation of how his famous communication theories were influenced by literature and the arts Lamberti proposes a new approach to McLuhan's thought Lamberti delves into McLuhan's humanism in light of his work on media and culture exploring how he began to perceive literature not just as a subject but a function inseparable from communal existence Lamberti pays particular attention to the central role played by Modernism in the making of his theories including the writings of Ford Madox Ford James Joyce Ezra Pound and Wyndham Lewis Reconnecting McLuhan with his literary past Marshall McLuhan's Mosaic is a demonstration of one of his greatest ideas that literature not only matters but can help us understand the hidden patterns that rule our environment transformed by the forces that are hidden deeply within the electronic telecommunications revolution of the sixties For McLuhan the new mediums of film television and the emerging realm of the digital were the modern equivalent of Gutenberg's printing press Essays by M McLuhan Edited and with a Commentary by M A Moos Personnel Bibliography Series United States. Harley Parker Gary Genosko,2025-08-25 This is the first book about the life and work of Harley Parker 1915 1992 Canadian museum exhibition designer typographer and painter As friend and collaborator of media luminary Marshall McLuhan Parker's influence extended far beyond the realm of art In this groundbreaking intellectual biography Genosko shows that Parker's unique perspective on museums is based on his application of McLuhan's medium theory to exhibition design His emphasis on the role of the senses anticipated much of contemporary sensory studies which will bring his work into focus for a new generation of scholars A highlight of Parker's career as Head of General Display at Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum 1957 1968 was his Hall of Invertebrate Fossils which opened to considerable acclaim in early 1967 That same year he mounted a multimedia gallery at the Museum of the City of New York These milestones underscore Parker's profound impact on museum studies and communication theory Central to this comprehensive study is the rediscovery of Parker's lost manuscript The Culture Box which would have confirmed his role as a central figure in the Toronto School of Communication had it not been lost for some fifty years Scholars in communication cultural and museum studies will benefit from this exploration of Parker's thought as will those interested in sensory studies and the enduring value of McLuhan's ideas
