

THE LONE EAGLE

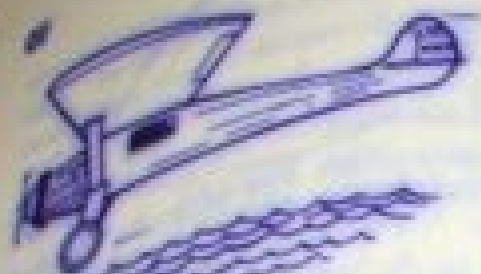

As a boy or girl in this country, you may not be interested in a nondescript flight from New York to Paris, France. But in 1927 an airplane had to fly alone across the Atlantic.

Charles A. Lindbergh, young, brave, and determined, was a pilot. He flew alone in "The Spirit of St. Louis" from New York to Paris on May 20, 1927. He faced many dangers. The ocean was his enemy. He had to carry 450 gallons of gasoline with him. He had to stay at the controls every minute of the trip.

He had only a compass to guide him through the dense fog. Sometimes he had to climb above the clouds to escape the threat. It took him 33 and 1/2 hours to fly the more than 3,600 miles. Lindbergh was the hero of the hour. While in Europe, he was mobbed by cheering people, decorated by various governments. When he returned, he was honored by the President and his fellow citizens. So "The Lone Eagle" is one of our great aviation heroes. Read about his flight in the book WE.

What was the name of his airplane?
How long did it take him to make the trip?
How many miles did he fly?
How many gallons of gasoline did he take?
What was the date of his take-off?
Where did he go?

He had to stay at the controls every minute of the trip.

He had to carry 450 gallons of gasoline with him. He had to stay at the controls every minute of the trip.

He had to carry 450 gallons of gasoline with him. He had to stay at the controls every minute of the trip.

He had to carry 450 gallons of gasoline with him. He had to stay at the controls every minute of the trip.
