Culture, Conflict, and Counterinsurgency Thomas H. Johnson, Barry Zellen, 2014-01-22 The authors of Culture Conflict and Counterinsurgency contend that an enduring victory can still be achieved in Afghanistan However to secure it we must better understand the cultural foundations of the continuing conflicts that rage across Afghanistan and neighboring Pakistan and shift our strategy from an attritional engagement to a smarter war plan that embraces these cultural dimensions They examine the nexus of culture conflict and strategic intervention and attempt to establish if culture is important in a national security and foreign policy context and to explore how cultural phenomena and information can best be used by the military In the process they address just how intimate cultural knowledge needs to be to counter an insurgency effectively Finally they establish exactly how good we ve been at building and utilizing cultural understanding in Afghanistan what the operational impact of that understanding has been and where we must improve to maximize our use of cultural knowledge in preparing for and

engaging in future conflicts Richard Wright's Travel Writings Virginia Whatley Smith, 2009-11-12 Attracted to remote lands by his interest in the postcolonial struggle Richard Wright 1908-1960 became one of the few African Americans of his time to engage in travel writing He went to emerging nations not as a sightseer but as a student of their cultures learning the politics and the processes of social transformation When Wright fled from the United States in 1946 to live as an expatriate in Paris he was exposed to intellectual thoughts and challenges that transcended his social and political education in America Three events broadened his world view his introduction to French existentialism the rise of the Pan Africanist movement to decolonize Africa and Indonesia's declaration of independence from colonial rule in 1945 During the 1950s as he traveled to emerging nations his encounters produced four travel narratives Black Power 1953 The Color Curtain 1956 Pagan Spain 1956 and White Man Listen 1957 Upon his death in 1960 he left behind an unfinished book on French West Africa which exists only in notes outlines and a draft Written by multinational scholars this collection of essays exploring Wright's travel writings shows how in his hands the genre of travel writing resisted adapted or modified the forms and formats practiced by white authors Enhanced by nine photographs taken by Wright during his travels the essays focus on each of Wright's four separate narratives as well as upon his unfinished book and reveal how Wright drew on such non-Western influences as the African American slave narrative and Asian literature of protest and resistance The essays critique Wright's representation of customs and people and employ a broad range of interpretive modes including the theories of formalism feminism and postmodernism among others Wright's travel books are proven to be innovative narratives that laid down the roots of such later genres as postcolonial literature contemporary travel writing and resistance literature
