Hoy, 2016-01-15 The First World War is coming to a close and American army captain Ernest Mathews awakens in a London hospital with a face he doesnt know a name he cannot remember and a past wiped clean as a slate His sole possession is a photograph of a dark haired beauty whose unknown face is the only thing capable of bringing a sense of comfort and peace to the black void that now inhabits his mind When given direction to his fathers ranch in Arizona Mathews has little choice but to travel back to America to find a man he doesnt know with the hope of discovering his memory and identity at journeys end In New York as soldiers begin to return from the war the Holden family receives the devastating news that their son Jack has been killed in action Cathy and her best friend Judy mourn the loss of Jack and the girls quickly become disillusioned with their privileged life In an attempt to find purpose and restore normalcy to her world Cathy attracts the attention of a dangerous gangster and quickly becomes the object of his twisted obsession When Cathy and Judy are discovered eavesdropping on the gang and overhear their malicious scheme they realize their lives are now in danger and impulsively decide to travel west to find Jacks best friend Ernest Mathews whom Cathy has not heard from since his return from the war Despite her risk of exposure Judy carries a secret of her own on their perilous journey a photograph of Jack a man now dead whose unspoken gaze both haunts and consoles her while he sits next to her bed each night in her dreams As the girls embark on their cross country adventure narrowly managing to evade one danger after another they find themselves in a race to reach Mathews and safety before the vicious gangster catches up with them The Long Way Home Odell Richardson Jr., 2009-11 The Long Way Home The Testimony is a first of its kind from the inner city streets of Baltimore Maryland This narrative non fiction story is NOT a glorification of the despair that plagues many urban districts throughout our country but it is an informative intense detailed urban centerpiece that goes against conventional wisdom of what society may believe about the inner city and many of its occupants This story bridges a gap many believed could not be It s a unique approach to the harsh realities of the streets and to life as a whole It s a story about change decisions and consequences This is one man's story. It's an urban story about God. This is certainly not a street tale lacking depth, one without significant meaning or positive goals. This story is about family, trials, perseverance, love, God, life, and its purpose. This read will erase any doubt and convince all that anything is possible for anyone. The author assures us all that this is a story told with two main goals in mind: to glorify God and to strive for a good future while loving every human being along the way. The Grasshopper - Third Edition Bernard Suits, 2014-04-03. In the mid-twentieth century, the philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein famously asserted that games are indefinable; there are no common threads that link them all. Nonsense said the sensible Bernard Suits: playing a game is a voluntary attempt to overcome unnecessary obstacles. The short book Suits wrote demonstrating precisely that is as playful as it is insightful, as stimulating as it is delightful. Through the jocular voice of Aesop's Grasshopper, a shiftless but thoughtful practitioner of applied entomology, Suits not only argues that games can be meaningfully defined; he also suggests that playing games is a central part of the ideal of human existence, and so games belong at the heart of any vision of Utopia. This new edition of The Grasshopper includes illustrations from Frank Newfeld created for the book's original publication, as well as an introduction by Thomas Hurka and a new appendix on the meaning of play. A long way home Nigel Hansen. A.K.A. Smurf, 2012-05-14. A quick look at my life on the open roads of Europe and the middle east overland from the UK and the trucking firms that I worked for over 35 years. All the good and bad times.

The Longest Way Home Andrew McCarthy, 2013-06-04. The author, a travel writer and actor, delivers a memoir about how travel helped him become the man he wanted to be, helping him overcome life-long fears and confront his resistance to commitment. From time immemorial, travel has been a pursuit of passion for adventurers of old seeking gold or new lands, to today's spiritual and pleasure seekers who follow in the footsteps of Elizabeth Gilbert. Some see travel as a form of light-hearted escapism, while others believe it has the power to open your mind, forcing you to confront your demons and discover your true self. The author belongs to this second category of traveler. His memoir follows his excursions to Patagonia, the Amazon, Costa Rica, Baltimore, Vienna, Kilimanjaro, Dublin, and beyond. He uses his wanderlust to examine his motives and desires and explore his ambivalence about commitment. He ponders his personal life, his acting career, and his impulse to leave home, all building toward one of the most significant moments of his life: his wedding day. His message about the transformative power of travel is universal, and his exploration of the nature and passion of relationships, both fleeting and enduring, strikes a chord with every man and woman who has ever wondered at the vicissitudes of the human heart. The Grasshopper Bernard Suits, 2005-11-09. In the mid-twentieth century, the philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein famously asserted that games are indefinable; there are no common threads that link them all.
