George Alfred Henty (8 December 1832 – 16 November 1902) was a prolific English novelist and war correspondent. He is best known for his historical adventure stories that were popular in the late 19th century. His works include The Dragon, The Raven (1886), For The Temple (1888), Under Drake's Flag (1883), and In Freedom's Cause (1885). G A Henty was born in Trumpington near Cambridge. He was a sickly child who had to spend long periods in bed. During his frequent illnesses, he became an avid reader and developed a wide range of interests which he carried into adulthood. He attended Westminster School, London, and later Gonville and Caius College, Cambridge, where he was a keen sportsman. He left the university early without completing his degree to volunteer for the Army Hospital Commissariat when the Crimean War began. He was sent to the Crimea, and while there, he witnessed the appalling conditions under which the British soldier had to fight. His letters home were filled with vivid descriptions of what he saw. His father was impressed by his letters and sent them to The Morning Advertiser newspaper, which printed them. This initial writing success was a factor in Henty's later decision to accept the offer to become a special correspondent, the early name for journalists now better known as war correspondents. Shortly before resigning from the army as a captain in 1859, he married Elizabeth Finucane. The couple had four children. Elizabeth died in 1865 after a long illness, and shortly after her death, Henty began writing articles for the

Standard newspaper In 1866 the newspaper sent him as their special correspondent to report on the Austro Italian War where he met Giuseppe Garibaldi He went on to cover the 1868 British punitive expedition to Abyssinia the Franco Prussian War the Ashanti War the Carlist Rebellion in Spain and the Turco Serbian War He also witnessed the opening of the Suez Canal and travelled to Palestine Russia and India George Alfred Henty better known as G A Henty began his storytelling career with his own children After dinner he would spend an hour or two in telling them a story that would continue the next day Some stories took weeks A friend was present one day and watched the spell bound reaction of his children suggesting Henty write down his stories so others could enjoy them He did Henty wrote approximately 144 books in addition to stories for magazines and was known as The Prince of Story Tellers and The Boy s Own Historian One of Mr Henty s secretaries reported that he would quickly pace back and forth in his study dictating stories as fast as the secretary could record them

Tales of Daring and Danger George Henty,2021-04-25 Thirty years ago in 1855 things were not so settled in the Deccan as they are now There was no idea of insurrection on a large scale but we were going through one of those outbreaks of Dacoity which have several times proved so troublesome Bands of marauders kept the country in confusion pouring down on a village now carrying off three or four of the Bombay money lenders who were then as now the curse of the country sometimes making an onslaught upon a body of traders and occasionally venturing to attack small detachments of troops or isolated parties of police They were not very formidable but they were very troublesome and most difficult to catch for the peasantry regarded them as patriots and aided and shielded them in every way The head quarters of these gangs of Dacoits were the Ghauts In the thick bush and deep valleys and gorges there they could always take refuge while sometimes the more daring chiefs converted these detached peaks and masses of rock numbers of which you can see as you come up the Ghaut by railway into almost impregnable fortresses Many of these masses of rock rise as sheer up from the hillside as walls of masonry and look at a short distance like ruined castles Some are absolutely inaccessible others can only be scaled by experienced climbers and although possible for the natives with their bare feet are impracticable to European troops Many of these rock fortresses were at various times the head quarters of famous Dacoit leaders and unless the summits happened to be commanded from some higher ground within gunshot range they were all but impregnable except by starvation When driven to bay these fellows would fight well Well about the time I joined the Dacoits were unusually troublesome the police had a hard time of it and almost lived in the saddle and the cavalry were constantly called up to help them while detachments of infantry from the station were under canvas at several places along the top of the Ghauts to cut the bands off from their strongholds and to aid if necessary in turning them out of their rock fortresses The natives in the valleys at the foot of the Ghauts who have always been a semi independent race ready to rob whenever they saw a chance were great friends with the Dacoits and supplied them with provisions whenever the hunt on the Deccan was too hot for them to make raids in that direction
