Talking About Particulars:

Things, Facts and Events, 2022-04-19 The volume deals with ontological and semantical issues concerning things facts and events Ontology tells us about what there is whereas semantics provides answers to how we refer to what there is Basic ontological categories are commonly accepted along with basic linguistic types and linguistic types are accepted as basic if and because they refer to acknowledged ontological categories In that sense both disciplines are concerned with structure the structure of the world and the structure of our language An extended introduction overviews the topic as a whole presenting in detail its history and the main contemporary approaches and discussions More than 20 contributions by internationally acknowledged scholars make the volume a comprehensive study of some very fundamental philosophical entities

Mental Causation Anthony Dardis, 2008 Two thousand years ago Lucretius said that everything is atoms in the void it's physics all the way down Contemporary physicalism agrees But if that's so how can we how can our thoughts emotions our values make anything happen in the physical world This conceptual knot the mental causation problem is the core of the mind body problem closely connected to the problems of free will consciousness and intentionality Anthony Dardis shows how to unravel the knot He traces its early appearance in the history of philosophical inquiry specifically in the work of Plato Aristotle Descartes and T H Huxley He then develops a metaphysical framework for a theory of causation laws of nature and the causal relevance of properties Using this framework Dardis explains how macro or higher level properties can be causally relevant in the same way that microphysical properties are causally relevant by their relationship with the laws of nature Smelling an orange choosing the orange rather than the cheesecake reaching for the one on the left instead of the one on the right mental properties such as these take their place alongside the physical motor of the world in making things happen

Beyond Behaviorism Vicki L. Lee, 2016-07-15 Originally published in 1988 this title explores and contrasts means and ends psychology with conventional psychology that of stimuli and response The author develops this comparison by exploring the general nature of psychological phenomena and clarifying many persistent doubts about psychology She contrasts conventional psychology stimuli and responses involving reductionistic organocentric and mechanistic metatheory with alternative psychology means and ends that is autonomous contextual and evolutionary

Talking about Troubles in Conversation Gail Jefferson, 2015 In groundbreaking research Gail Jefferson explores in fine detail the interactional complexities of talking about troubles not in any professional or therapeutic setting but in their ordinary conversations with family and friends

Metaphysics Michael J. Loux, 2001 Metaphysics Contemporary Readings is a comprehensive anthology that draws together leading philosophers writing on the major themes in Metaphysics Chapter sections cover Universals Particulars Modality and Possible Worlds Causation Time and Realism and Anti Realism The readings are designed to complement Michael Loux's Metaphysics A Contemporary Introduction 2nd Edition

Talk about Beliefs Mark Crimmins, 1992 Talk About Beliefs presents a new account of beliefs and of practices of reporting them that yields solutions to foundational problems in the philosophies of language and mind Crimmins connects issues in mental representation with semantic issues in language for talking about cognition to provide a theoretically fruitful account of belief and belief reports that is logically consistent with intuitive judgments of such notorious problems as Frege's puzzles about substitution and cognitive significance Quine's puzzle about de re Castaneda and Perry's puzzle about indexical beliefs and other more complicated variations Crimmins's account relies on and to some extent vindicates the traditions of representationalism in the philosophy of mind and of structured propositional semantics In reporting a person's beliefs Crimmins argues we systematically make claims not only about the propositional content of the beliefs but also about cognitive representations He elaborates and defends this proposal by providing a careful assessment of pragmatic and semantic contributions to the claims expressed in belief reports Crimmins's thesis forms a promising framework within which to approach issues in the philosophy of mind such as tacit belief do you believe that pencils do not eat criteria for having concepts do blind persons have the concept of red and restrictions of acquaintance on objects of thought can you believe something about the first person born in the next century consists and that certain scientific or normative projects are engaged in uncovering the essences of such properties In light of this an important question arises what kind of things should we take properties themselves to be In Properties Douglas Edwards gives an engaging accessible and up to date introduction to the many theories of properties available Edwards charts the central positions in the debate over properties including the views that properties are universals that properties are constructed from tropes and that properties are classes of objects and assesses the benefits and disadvantages of each Attempts to deny the existence of properties are also considered along with pluralist proposals which aim to accommodate the different kinds of properties that are found in various philosophical debates Properties is the ideal introduction to this topic and will be an invaluable resource for scholars and students wishing to learn more about the important roles that properties have played and continue to play in contemporary philosophy An Identity Theory of Truth J. Dodd, 2016-04-30

This book argues that correspondence theories of truth fail because the relation which holds between a true thought and a fact is that of identity not correspondence According to Julian Dodd facts are not complexes of worldly entities they are as Frege believed true thoughts The supposed truthmaker is nothing but the truthbearer The author christens this response to correspondence theories the modest identity theory which he goes on to distinguish from those identity theories propounded at some time or other by Russell Moore Bradley John McDowell and Jennifer Hornsby It is acknowledged that the modest identity theory provides neither a definition of truth nor an account of what truth consists in The modest identity theory's role is by contrast that of diagnosing the failure of correspondence theories and thereby preparing the ground for a proper deflation of the concept of truth a deflation defended in the latter part of the book They Ain't Proper M.B. Guel, 2023-05-01

1880s The Wild West An easy solitary life on the outskirts of Ghosthallow is all Lou Ramirez wants They want to buy some house plans build a home and live their quiet life far from townsfolk's prying eyes But somehow instead of house plans a housewife is delivered to their door Clementine Castellanos desperately needs a way out from under her family debt and it seems as though selling her services as a wife is the only way to do it Expecting a rough harsh man to be her new husband Clementine is pleasantly surprised to instead be dropped off at the ranch of an equally surprised Lou Lou would rather Clementine leave them to their lonely existence but Clementine is too charmed by the quiet and mysterious rancher to give up She may have come into Lou's life easily but she certainly isn't planning to leave that way Undeterred by Lou's prickly demeanor Clementine is determined to get her reluctant spouse to open up to her When the past comes back to haunt the pair the fight for their independence and their love may become more deadly than either of them ever expected S is for Silence Sue Grafton, 2006-11-28 California private investigator Kinsey Millhone is hired to solve a decades old cold case in this undeniably entertaining Los Angeles Times 1 New York Times bestseller from Sue Grafton Cases don't get much colder than that of Violet Sullivan who disappeared from her rural California town in 1953 leaving behind an abusive husband and a seven year old named Daisy But PI Kinsey Millhone has promised the now adult Daisy she'll try her best to locate Violet dead or alive All signs point to a runaway wife the clothes that disappeared the secret stash of money Violet bragged about the brazen flirtations she indulged in with local men including some married ones Kinsey tries to pick up a trail by speaking to those who remember Violet and perhaps were more involved in her life than they let on But the trail could lead her somewhere very dangerous Because the case may have gone cold but some people s feelings about Violet Sullivan still run as hot as ever

Process, Action, and Experience Rowland Stout,2018-02-23 There has been a philosophical upheaval recently in our understanding of the metaphysics of the mind The philosophy of mind and action has traditionally treated its subject matter as consisting of states and events and completely ignored the category of ongoing process So the mental things that happen experiences and actions have been taken to be completed events and not ongoing processes But events by their very nature as completed wholes are never present to the agent or subject only ongoing processes can be present to a subject in the way required for conscious experience and practical self knowledge This suggests that a proper understanding of processes is required to understand subjective experience and agency This volume explores the possibility and advantages of taking processes to be the subject matter of the philosophy of mind and action The central defining feature of the process argument is its use of the progressive as opposed to perfective aspect But beyond this philosophers working on the metaphysics of processes do not agree The contributors to this volume take up this argument in the metaphysics of processes Are processes continuants Are they particulars at all or should we rather be thinking of process activity as a kind of stuff Process Action and Experience considers whether practical reasoning and practical self knowledge require thinking of action in process terms and it considers arguments for the processive nature of conscious experience

On Schopenhauer's Fourfold Root of the Principle of Sufficient Reason White,2021-09-20 Dr White s book is the first to be written on Schopenhauer s important foundation work On the Fourfold Root of the Principle of Sufficient Reason It presents the arguments and analyses of Schopenhauer s work in systematic form and assesses the worth of those arguments and analyses with particular emphasis on their positive merits Schopenhauer divides the phenomenal world into four classes of object discussing each of these in turn and the chapters of White s book generally follow that order But the book also contains a chapter of introduction showing how the Fourfold Root fits into Schopenhauer s general scheme of philosophical thought and an appendix outlining the historical background to Schopenhauer s views Given that it is the only work of its kind White s book will be of use and interest to all students and it is written in such a way that it should be intelligible to the beginner in Schopenhauer as well as helpful to the more established student

106-1 Committee Print: Investigation Of Illegal Or Improper Activities In Connection With 1996 Federal Election Campaigns, Witness Deposition Testimony, S. Prt. 106-30, Part 10 of 10, 1999 ,2000 Resemblance Nominalism Gonzalo

Rodriguez-Pereyra,2002-07-04 Gardeners poets lovers and philosophers are all interested in the redness of roses but only philosophers wonder how it is that two different roses can share the same property Are red things red because they resemble each other Or do they resemble each other because they are red Since the 1970s philosophers have tended to favour the latter view and held that a satisfactory account of properties must involve the postulation of either universals or tropes But Gonzalo Rodriguez Pereyra revives the dormant alternative theory of resemblance nominalism showing first that it can withstand the attacks of such eminent opponents as Goodman and Armstrong and then that there are reasons to prefer it to its rival theories The clarity and rigour of his arguments will challenge metaphysicians to rethink their views on properties
