The Long Transition Building Socialism In Tanzania:

The Long Transition Idrian N. Resnick, 1981 Education and Social Transition in the Third World Martin Carnoy, Joel Samoff, 2014-07-14 Through a comparative analysis of educational theory and practice this analytic overview illuminates the larger economic and political changes occurring in five peripheral countries China Cuba Tanzania Mozambique and Nicaragua commonly viewed as in transition to socialism Current political patterns and leadership in these countries have emerged in the context of predominantly agricultural industrially underdeveloped economies Each state has played a major role in social transformation relying on the educational system to train educate and socialize its future citizens Discussing the similarities and differences among these states the authors show the primacy of politics and the interaction of material and ideological goals in the process of social transition and how shifting policies reflect and are reflected in educational change This collection first examines critical analyses of education in capitalist societies both industrialized and peripheral and explores the utility of those perspectives in the political and educational conditions of the countries under study Together these essays offer the first systematic explanation of how and why education in socialist countries undergoing rapid change differs from education in developing capitalist countries Contributions to the study were made by Mary Ann Burris Anton Johnston and Carlos Alberto Torres Originally published in 1990 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Race, Nation, and Citizenship in Postcolonial Africa Ronald Aminzade, 2013-10-31 Nationalism has generated violence bloodshed and genocide as well as patriotic sentiments that encourage people to help fellow citizens and place public responsibilities above personal interests This study explores the contradictory character of African nationalism as it unfolded over decades of Tanzanian history in conflicts over public policies concerning the rights of citizens foreigners and the nation s Asian racial minority These policy debates reflected a history of racial oppression and foreign domination and were shaped by a quest for economic development racial justice and national self reliance The Egalitarian Moment D. A. Low, 1996 An account of the unsuccessful attempts in Asia and Africa to create egalitarian rural societies Challenge To Imperialism Carol B. Thompson, 2019-08-27 Challenge to Imperialism is the first comprehensive analysis of the Zimbabwean struggle for independence in its international context Based on extensive research in the southern African region and on interviews with the ZANU and ZAPU leaders in exile during the war this study is an analysis of the crucial support given to the Zimbabwean nationalists by the five Frontline States Angola Botswana Mozambique Tanzania and Zambia The book begins with a summary of the variable relations among the Frontline States and between those states and the Zimbabwean nationalists More than once Frontline governments put Zimbabwean nationalists in their own jails as tensions arose over leadership conduct of the war and terms for peace Yet the Frontline States maintained their support in spite of the extremely high cost to their own economic development How could these weak and economically dependent states confront the dominant interests in the region Was Lancaster House simply a capitulation to imperialist interests a constitution forced on the nationalists by the beleaguered Frontline States This theoretical analysis addresses the complexity of these questions and suggests lessons for the current struggles in Namibia and in South Africa Further Dr Thompson discusses the formation of the Southern African Development Coordination Conference SADCC as an attempt to transform the Zimbabwean political victory into regional economic cooperation This study of the political and economic background of Zimbabwean independence is important not only to those concerned about Zimbabwe and southern Africa but also to those interested in the nature of liberation struggles and in the role of the state in developing countries

Ecology, Civil Society and the Informal Economy in North West Tanzania Charles David Smith, 2017-03-02 Based on a decade of first hand experience and secondary research this richly detailed study follows daily life in four villages in Tanzania Funded by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council this comprehensive account examines the regional economy determinants of civil society and implications for democratization AIDS population growth refugees crops and goods and implications for development Charles David Smith brings together well over 200 interviews and his own experience of everyday events providing a constructive critique of current initiatives and a potent new direction that has so far been under explored by existing bodies An essential text for all serious students and researchers interested in development

Wealth, Power, and Authoritarian Institutions Michaela Collord, 2024-07-12 Through an analysis of the recent political history of Tanzania and Uganda Wealth Power and Authoritarian Institutions offers a novel explanation of why authoritarian parties and legislatures vary in strength and why this variation matters Michaela Collord elaborates a view of authoritarian political institutions as both reflecting and magnifying elite power dynamics While there are many sources of elite power the book centres on material power It outlines how diverse trajectories of state led capitalist development engender differing patterns of wealth accumulation and elite contestation across regimes These differences in turn influence institutional landscapes Where accumulation is more closely controlled by state and party leaders as was true in Tanzania until economic liberalization in the 1980s rival factions remain subdued Ruling parties can then consolidate relatively strong institutional structures and parliament remains marginal Conversely where a class of private wealth accumulators expands as occurred in Tanzania after the 1980s and in Uganda after the National Resistance Movement took power in 1986 rival factions can more easily form simultaneously eroding party institutions and encouraging greater legislative strength Collord uses this analysis to reassess the significance of a stronger legislature She considers its influence on distributive politics both regressive and progressive She also considers its relation to democratization particularly in a context of broader liberalizing reforms The book ultimately encourages a closer examination of how would be democratic institutions interact with an underlying power distribution shaping in whose interests they operate Oxford Studies in African Politics and International Relations is a series for scholars and students working on African politics and International Relations and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on contemporary developments in African political science political economy and International Relations such as electoral politics democratization decentralization gender and political representation the political impact of natural resources the dynamics and consequences of conflict comparative political thought and the nature of the continent s engagement with the East and West Comparative and mixed methods work is particularly encouraged Case studies are welcomed but should demonstrate the broader theoretical and empirical implications of the study and its wider relevance to contemporary debates The focus of the series is on sub Saharan Africa although proposals that explain how the region engages with North Africa and other parts of the world are of interest General Editors Nic Cheeseman Peace Medie and Ricardo Soares de Oliveira Africa Air University (U.S.).
