Talking Points In Dermatology I:

Talking points in dermatology Julian L. Verbov, Talking Points in Dermatology - III J. Verbov, 1989-01-31 Urinary Tract Infection G.R. Catto, 2012-12-06 Urinary tract infection remains one of the most common reasons for an individual seeking medical advice Although the associated morbidity varies widely in adults such infections are less common but may constitute severe life threatening illness in children and in the elderly Diagnostic tests and treatment have been rationalized in recent years but many practising doctors still have difficulty in appreciating the patho physiological principles involved Particular difficulty is often experienced when treating patients with recurrent urinary tract infections covert bacteriuria vesico ureteric reflux elderly patients and those with indwelling catheters These topics are fully discussed in this volume Each chapter has been written by a recognized expert and practical aspects of patient management have been emphasized The information presented in this volume should prove of interest not only to nephrologists but to all practising clinicians VII ABOUT THE EDITOR Professor Graeme R D Catto is Professor in Medicine and Therapeutics at the University of Aberdeen and Honorary Consultant Physician Nephrologist to the Grampian Health Board His current interest in transplant immunology was stimulated as a Harkness Fellow at Harvard Medical School and the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Boston USA He is a member of many medical societies including the Association of Physicians of Great Britain and Ireland the Renal Association and the Transplantation Society He has published widely on transplant and reproductive immunology calcium metabolism and general nephrology Relationships in Dermatology J. Verbov, 2012-12-06 This is the eighth volume in the New Clinical Applications Dermatology Series Awareness of relationships is of prime importance in dermatology Professor Scully and Dr Porter cover the skin and mouth in a comprehensive and informative manner Mr Peter Wright effortlessly and concisely brings the eye and the skin together Dr C Rowland Payne both relates and speculates on the enigma of sarcoidosis Professor Elder concludes the book with a scholarly update on porphyria and the skin I thank all the above for their fine contributions This volume should have widespread appeal JULIAN VERBOV ABOUT THE EDITOR Dr Julian Verbov is Consultant Dermatologist to Liverpool Health Authority and Honorary Clinical Lecturer in Dermatology at the University of Liverpool He is a member of the British Association of Dermatologists representing the British Society for Paediatric Dermatology on its Executive Committee He is Editor of the Proceedings of the North of England Dermatological Society He is a Fellow of the Zoological Society of London and a Member of the Society of Authors He is a popular national and international speaker and author of more than 200 publications Mycobacterial Skin Diseases Marwali Harahap, 2012-12-06 We have endeavoured in this book to bring the reader up to date information which will contribute to an enhanced ability to diagnose and treat mycobacterial skin diseases This volume is mainly concerned with conveying to dermatologists microbiologists immunologists dermatologists in training registrars in other specialties and interested family practitioners a concise appraisal of some recent developments in the various aspects of mycobacterial skin diseases The chapters dealing with bacteriology pathology and immunology have been planned to appear at the beginning of the book to provide the necessary conceptual framework for the section on clinical science which deals with the variety of clinical states. The value of the clinical descriptions is vastly enhanced by a careful reading of the earlier chapters. The contributing authors have been most cooperative in making this the tenth volume in the New Clinical Applications in Dermatology series an excellent treatise. I thank each of them for their superb contributions. If this book stimulates and encourages a greater interest in and a better understanding of mycobacterial skin diseases and enables physicians to serve more effectively those who suffer the time and effort spent to produce it will be amply rewarded.

PROFESSOR MARWALI HARAHAP

IX SERIES

EDITOR S FOREWORD

It was with great pleasure that I heard of Professor Harahap's wish to produce a volume on mycobacterial skin diseases.

Drugs and the Kidney

G.R. Catto, 2012-12-06

In recent years both doctors and patients have become increasingly aware that many essential drugs may induce unfortunate side effects in susceptible individuals. The kidney is the principal route of excretion for many of these substances and may as a result become involved in pathological processes. Developments in haemodialysis and haemo perfusion may be of value in increasing the rate of excretion of potentially toxic substances but it is essential that the advantages and disadvantages of these techniques are fully appreciated by all with an interest in clinical practice. This book details the recent advances in understanding of analgesic nephropathy, interstitial nephritis, elimination of poisons and drug monitoring. Each chapter has been written by a recognized expert in the field and provides information of relevance and practical importance to the average clinician. The developments of the last decade have emphasized that drug toxicity is a subject on which all clinicians but perhaps especially nephrologists should be fully informed.

ABOUT THE EDITOR

Professor Graeme R D Catto is Professor in Medicine and Therapeutics at the University of Aberdeen and Honorary Consultant Physician Nephrologist to the Grampian Health Board. His current interest in transplant immunology was stimulated as a Harkness Fellow at Harvard Medical School and the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Boston USA. He is a member of many medical societies including the Association of Physicians of Great Britain and Ireland, the Renal Association and the Transplantation Society.

Haemodialysis

G.R. Catto, 2012-12-06

For more than a generation haemodialysis has been the principal method of treating patients with both acute and chronic renal failure. Initially developments and improvements in the system were highly technical and relevant to only a relatively small number of specialists in nephrology. More recently as advances in therapy have demonstrated the value of haemoperfusion for certain types of poisoning, the basic principles of haemodialysis have been perceived as important in many areas of clinical practice. In this volume the potential advantages of bicarbonate haemo dialysis are objectively assessed, the technical and clinical aspects of both haemofiltration and haemoperfusion discussed and the continuing problems associated with such extracorporeal circuits analysed. All the chapters have been written by recognized experts in their field. The increasing availability of highly technical facilities for appropriately selected patients should ensure that the information contained in the book is relevant not only to nephrologists but to all practising clinicians

National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), Glomerulonephritis G.R. Catto, 2012-12-06 Glomerulonephritis has always been regarded as a complex subject Different forms of the disease can cause death in a matter of weeks nephrotic syndrome which might or might not prove responsive to steroid therapy or no symptoms at all Improved pathological techniques and criteria have permitted a more accurate diagnosis and prognosis to be established for many patients With increased understanding of the immunological mechanisms involved it has become apparent that many patients presenting with a variety of symptoms and signs may have glomerulonephritis as their primary pathological process This book examines the clinical pathological and aetiological factors involved in the common forms of glomerulonephritis Each chapter has been written by a recognized expert in the field and provides information of relevance and practical importance to the average clinician The developments of the last decade have emphasized that glomerulonephritis is no longer a matter only for the nephrologist but a subject on which all clinicians should be well informed

Multisystem Diseases G.R. Catto, 2012-12-06 During the last decade facilities for treating patients with end stage renal failure have expanded in all Westernized countries Partly as a consequence interest has been stimulated in many multisystem diseases which may progress to chronic renal failure Some of these diseases such as diabetes mellitus are common but still have controversial aspects to their investigation and management Others such as lupus nephritis are relatively rare but respond well to recent advances in therapy In addition to diabetes mellitus and lupus nephritis this volume has chapters on multiple myeloma and Henoch Schonlein purpura All the chapters have been written by acknowledged experts who have emphasized the practical aspects of patient management The information contained in this volume should thus prove of interest not only to nephrologists but to all practising clinicians
