Talking At Trena's Everydays Conversations At An African American Tavern:

Talking at Trena's Reuben A. Buford May, 2001-08-01 Talking at Trena's is an ethnography conducted in a bar in an African American middle class neighborhood on Chicago's southside May's work focuses on how the mostly black working and middle class patrons of Trena's talk about race work class women relationships the media and life in general May recognizes tavern talk as a form of social play and symbolic performance within the tavern as well as an indication of the social problems African Americans confront on a daily basis Following a long tradition of research on informal gathering places May's work reveals through close description and analysis of ethnographic data how African Americans come to understand the racial dynamics of American society which impact their jobs entertainment particularly television programs and their social interactions with peers employers and others Talking at Trena's provides a window into the laughs complaints experiences and strategies which Trena's regulars share for managing daily life outside the safety and comfort of the tavern

Race Talk in a Mexican Cantina Tatcho Mindiola, 2021-07-01 People avoid speaking about race in the presence of another racial group for fear of saying something wrong and creating friction This was not the situation at JB's a small Mexican cantina located in one of Houston's oldest Mexican barrios Mexicans made up most of the regular patrons but a small number of whites also visited the bar on a regular basis This situation created the circumstances for race talk in which the Mexican patrons needled and criticized the white patrons because of their whiteness The white patrons likewise criticized the Mexican patrons but their remarks were not as strident in comparison to those they received When Tatcho Mindiola visited the bar and heard the race talk he realized that it was a unique situation He thus became a regular patron and over a three year period kept notes on the racial exchanges he observed and heard which form the basis of this insightful volume

Urban Nightlife Reuben A. Buford May, 2014-09-02 Sociologists have long been curious about the ways in which city dwellers negotiate urban public space How do they manage myriad interactions in the shared spaces of the city In Urban Nightlife sociologist Reuben May undertakes a nuanced examination of urban nightlife drawing on ethnographic data gathered in a Deep South college town to explore the question of how nighttime revelers negotiate urban public spaces as they go about meeting socializing and entertaining themselves May's work reveals how diverse parties define these spaces in particular the ongoing social conflict on the streets in bars and nightclubs and in the various public spaces of downtown To explore this conflict May develops the concept of integrated segregation the idea that diverse groups are physically close to one another yet rarely have meaningful interactions rather they are socially bound to those of similar race class and cultural backgrounds May's in depth research leads him to conclude that social tension is stubbornly persistent in part because many participants fail to make the connection between contemporary relations among different groups and the historical and institutional forces that perpetuate those very tensions structural racism remains obscured by a superficial appearance of racial harmony Through May's observations Urban Nightlife clarifies the complexities of race class and culture in contemporary America illustrating the direct influence of local government and nightclub management decision making on interpersonal interaction among groups Watch a video with Reuben A Buford May Watch video now <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VCs1xExStPw>

Rhetoric in Detail Barbara Johnstone, Christopher Eisenhart, 2008-10-29 The eleven studies in this volume illustrate and advance the synthesis of discourse analysis with rhetorical studies Rhetoric in Detail shows how a variety of techniques from discourse analysis can be useful in studying such concerns as agency legitimation controversy and style and how concepts from rhetoric including genre and figuration can enrich the work of discourse analysts The authors research sites range from government commissions political speeches newspaper reports and letters to interviews and conversations in beauty salons and online Methodological overviews interspersed throughout survey critical discourse analysis interactional sociolinguistics grounded theory computer aided corpus analysis narrative analysis and participant observation and provide suggestions for further reading Rhetoric in Detail is an invaluable source for rhetoricians looking for systematic grounded ways of approaching new more vernacular sites for rhetorical discourse and for discourse analysts interested in seeing what they can learn from the tradition and practice of rhetorical analysis

African American Mystery Writers Frankie Y. Bailey, 2014-01-10 The book describes the movement by African American authors from slave narratives and antebellum newspapers into fiction writing and the subsequent developments of black genre fiction through the present It analyzes works by modern African American mystery writers focusing on sleuths the social locations of crime victims and offenders the notion of doing justice and the role of African American cultural vernacular in mystery fiction A final section focuses on readers and reading examining African American mystery writers access to the marketplace and the issue of the double audience raised by earlier writers
