Tang Soo Do A Korean Martial Art Question And Answer:

Tang Soo Do a Korean Martial Art Question and Answer Book Len Losik, Len Losik Ph D, 2018-02-02 This book is but one source of many regarding the popular but all too fictitious facts about Korean martial arts As one of the most published authors on Korean martial arts there is no shortage of experts in the martial arts community and no shortest of critics One cannot be qualified as knowledgeable simply by the time spent in the physical training aspects of Tang Soo Do while allowed to ignore the academic aspects This author's facts and suggestions are no more correct or valid than any other person's that publish what they have learned or been exposed too Since almost all known sources of historical information about ancient and recent Korean martial arts and fighting arts was destroyed and then rewritten by the Japanese occupational forces during the 19th and 20th century occupation of Korea there is no one person regardless of their title or time in training who can have any more verifiable information than the rest of us Again due to the extermination and conversion of nearly all historical facts on Korean martial arts and Korean history any Grandmaster Master and Instructor can be an expert using the fictitious facts they get exposed to during their training and only then can just state their personnel opinions and opinions are not facts This book and all books simply provides the author's perspective as only any book can and particularly books on Korean martial arts For those individuals who want people to read the books from whom they believe have the correct facts we know that as fascism For those practitioners who need to believe that their Grandmaster Master or Instructor is THE source of all correct information about Tang Soo Do and Korean Martial Arts these same people need to believe that only they know who the true experts are and so can not value the contributions of others ideas and perspectives we usually call this behavior when followers believe that there is only one all knowing all seeing person and they know who it is as cult behavior and cults are illegal in the United States but not Korea It is our freedom of speech that motivates authors to write and publish books with new and different interpretations of age old facts and common knowledge so let the community decide the worth of what is published This small book presents simple and complex answers and suggestions to just a few of the many questions that ought to get asked during Tang Soo Do training and these are solely the author's opinions and interpretations Students and instructors in Tang Soo Do should ask these and many others and answer for themselves at sometime in their training Most books on Tang Soo Do show the wonderful physical aspects and results from the training with little regard for an academic education in the style they train in It is hoped by the author that the questions and answers in this book will spark more serious discussions and dialog not less as many suggest and to help to expose what historical references exist as the fiction they are as all history books are fiction History is all fiction and usually written by the victor For those who find this book unacceptable please use this book as the motivation to write and publish your own book and contribute to the community in a meaningful way Those that complain the quickest and the most are the least likely to do the work others do and provide their own opinions for others to scrutinize Its always easier to be critical of the work of others than expose what you know and what you don't The knowledge of Tang Soo Do training is not in the hands of a few individuals but spread throughout every school and is in the minds of every person working to get better and be a better person in Tang Soo Do Use the knowledge that when criticism for others comes to you easier than praise all your training didn't stick but was left at the door jam when you left the dojang

Tang Soo Do the Complete Story Len Losik, Ph.D., Len Losik Ph D, 2016-09-19 Tang Soo Do The Complete Story describes the creation history and evolution of the 20th century Korean style of martial arts It includes who the individuals were that opened the first Kwans teaching Tang Soo Do and Kong Soo Do and where each had earned their Black Belt while attending college in Japan that returned home to open the Kwans that taught Tang Soo Do as World War II was ending and the colonial occupational forces were being removed by the U S military planning to invade Japan It also includes the creation and history of some of the other Kwans that taught their version of Tang Soo Do mixing Chuan Fa Kwon Bup Shaolin Fighting Art and Tai Chi Chuan Tae Kuek Kwan such as the Moo Duk Kwan Kang Duk Kwan Kuk Moo Kwan Jung Do Kwan Yun Moo Kwan O Do Kwan Sang Moo Kwan Chang Moo Kwan Chung Do Kwan Moo Duk Kwan The author includes a list of the Hyungs of Tang Soo Do a list of important events that led to the creation of Tang Soo Do a Korean martial arts chronology covering many thousands of years a comprehensive Hyung to Kata conversion table for Tang Soo Do Hyungs The author also includes a substantial 80 reference Bibliography Glossary and Index for the serious reader's convenience

God and Karate on the Southside Joseph E. Yi, 2009-06-16 Recent demographic changes have sparked debate about the civic health of American democracy Democracy requires people of different backgrounds to be disposed toward working together and it requires little noticed meeting places where neighbors interact with each other share their thinking and address common problems As issues of ethnic and social diversity become increasingly foregrounded social scientists find pervasive social distrust and civic withdrawal in racially and ethnically heterogeneous communities whether in big cities Los Angeles or small Yakima WA In this book Yi argues that increasing diversity can revitalize social and civic connectedness if our institutions rise up to the challenge of finding common ground and shared enterprise for people of different backgrounds He highlights two types of organizational actors in the USA One type renews and adapts longstanding religious cultural and civic traditions to a dynamic multiethnic society The second type attempts to introduce Americans to the many religious and cultural traditions from outside the United States These tendencies point to a dynamic many stranded model of liberal plural democracy which fosters and benefits from a variety of group affiliations and types of engagement Organizations that combine internal authoritative community with external plural outreach such as some evangelical mega churches and karate schools connect people across racial and economic divides In these bridging organizations people find a sense of unity among diversity they get to know each other as individuals rather than as representatives of disliked groups Using fieldwork on churches karate schools and other organizations in a racially mixed Chicago Southside neighborhood as well as a broader analysis of race and religion in the 1972 1998 General Social Survey Yi combines classical democratic theory with compelling personal stories and rigorous empirical analysis God and Karate in the Southside is the first Black Belt, 1980-04 The oldest and most respected martial arts title in the industry this popular monthly magazine addresses the needs of martial artists of all levels by providing them with information about every style of self defense in the world including techniques and strategies In addition Black Belt produces and markets over 75 martial arts oriented books and videos including many about the works of Bruce Lee the best known martial arts figure in the world Black Belt, 1978-07 The oldest and most respected martial arts title in the industry this popular monthly magazine addresses the needs of martial artists of all levels by providing them with information about every style of self defense in the world including techniques and strategies In addition Black Belt produces and markets over 75 martial arts oriented books and videos including many about the works of Bruce Lee the best known martial arts figure in the world

Foundations of Korean Martial Arts: Masters, Manuals and Combative Techniques Michael DeMarco, M.A., et al., 2017-01-29 Most of what are referred to as Korean martial art styles are actually derived from Japanese Okinawan karate systems or find their roots in Chinese boxing The Korean peninsula has existed as a fragile territory between China and Japan and thus shared many cultural elements from their neighbors To what degree has the Japanese and Chinese arts influenced those practiced in Korea over the centuries Can we distinguish any original Korean martial art style Chapters in this anthology are derived from the Journal of Asian Martial Arts specifically in response to such questions as asked above The authors provide great detail on the military martial manuals that recorded both battlefield arts and personal combative arts and use these sources to give a picture of the martial traditions practiced in Korea for hundreds of years In chapter one Stanley Henning provides an excellent overview of martial arts in Korea since the earliest dynasties These include bare hand arts as well as those with weaponry His overview illuminates the time and place of highly influential military manuals as discussed in the chapter by Manuel Adrogu John Della Pia s two chapters focus on a particular manual the Mu ye Dobo Tongji 1790 providing details of open hand and weapons training in particular with the unique Korean native sword Two chapters provide the theory and practice of qigong methods for health and martial effectiveness Dr Patrick Massey et al offer results on the use of breathing methods affecting lung capacity Sean Bradley s chapter goes deeply into the medical theories that parallel the practice of Sinmoo Hapkido s qigong methods The final two chapters focus on practical fighting applications from Hapkido Marc Tedeschi s chapter provides sound advice for self defense against multiple opponents In addition to detailing principles that give any defender a helpful advantage Tedeschi shows nineteen examples of techniques against two three and four opponents that include pressure point striking throws arm bars locks and a variety of kicks In the closing chapter Sean Bradley discusses a few of his favorite techniques where he learned them and why they are memorable Rich in historical details and practical advice this anthology will prove to be a prized reference work to all interested in the Korean martial traditions
