The Big Smallness Michelle Ann Abate, 2016-02-12 This book is the first full-length critical study to explore the rapidly growing cadre of amateur-authored independently published and niche-market picture books that have been released during the opening decades of the twenty-first century. Emerging from a powerful combination of the ease and affordability of desktop publishing software, the promotional marketing and distribution possibilities allowed by the Internet, and the tremendous national divisiveness over contentious socio-political issues, these texts embody a shift in how narratives for young people are being creatively conceived, materially constructed, and socially consumed in the United States. Abate explores how titles such as My Parents Open Carry about gun laws, It's Just a Plant about marijuana policy, and My Beautiful Mommy about the plastic surgery industry occupy important battle stations in ongoing partisan conflicts while they are simultaneously changing the landscape of American children's literature. The book demonstrates how texts like Little Zizi and Me Tarzan You Jane mark the advent of not simply a new commercial strategy in texts for young readers; they embody a paradigm shift in the way that narratives are being conceived, constructed, and consumed. Niche-market picture books can be seen as a telling barometer about public perceptions concerning children and the social construction of childhood, as well as the function of narratives for young readers in the twenty-first century. At the same time, these texts reveal compelling new insights about the complex interaction among American print culture, children's reading practices, and consumer capitalism. Amateur-authored self-published and specialty subject titles reveal the way in which children's childhood and children's literature are both highly political and heavily politicized in the United States. The book will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of American Studies, children's literature, childhood studies, popular culture, political science, microeconomics, psychology, advertising, book history, education, and gender studies.

The Traps of Youth Albert Lee Daw, 2015-06-10 Of all the traps of youth, the most deadly are the loss of 14 precious years of life from premature death from lifetime nicotine poisoning from smoking and by highway crashes during their dangerous teen years when they are living life with gusto and are easily distracted while living very much in the now. More awareness of these traps may increase one's survival.

America A to Z, 1997 A parade of fun facts, fantastic photographs, and inside information gathered together in an all-American celebration. Hundreds of illustrations, including vintage photographs and woodcuts, drawings by well-known artists like Norman Rockwell, and portraits of movie stars, writers, entertainers, politicians, and other public figures enhance every page. America A to Z reveals the origins of everything from blue jeans to hot dog buns the Boy Scouts to the League of Women Voters It introduces the heroes of the Alamo the occupants of the Oval Office the denizens of the locker rooms in every sport and the men and women who have exercised their creative genius in laboratories automobile factories and fashion showrooms on typewriters and piano keyboards Readers will peek behind the scenes at the FBI and the Mall of America get the inside scoop on Walter Winchell and find out what Paul Revere really shouted on his ride through Boston which children s author got his start writing advertising copy and who invented Lincoln Logs A great family reference America A To Z makes it fun for kids to look up facts for adults to journey down memory lane and for everyone to get a close up look at America s rich and diverse history and culture Needle
