Technological Change In A Spatial Context Theory Empirical Evidence Policy:

Technological Change in a Spatial Context Enrico Ciciotti, Neil Alderman, Alfred Thwaites, 2012-12-06 This book represents a selection of contributions to the Regional Science Association European Summer Institute held at Arco Lake of Garda Italy from 17th to 23rd July 1988 on the theme of Theories and policies of technological development at the local level As such it forms a complementary volume to the collection of invited papers entitled The Spatial Context of Technological Development edited by Professors Riccardo Cappellin and Peter Nijkamp and published by Avebury Gower The Summer Institute covered a broad range of themes and contributions from over 100 researchers It has therefore not been our intention to represent or replicate these themes directly but to provide as wide an international coverage of current research in regional science in the field of technological change as possible The papers to be found in this book are drawn from the European Community Eastern Europe Scandinavia North America and elsewhere Inevitably as the book was to be published in English most of the editorial work has been undertaken at the Centre for Urban and Regional Development Studies at Newcastle University In so doing we have attempted to standardize the English as far as possible whilst trying not to lose the characteristics of the styles of the individual authors

Technological Change in a Spatial Context Enrico Ciciotti, Neil Alderman, Alfred Thwaites, 1990-09-25 This book represents a selection of contributions to the Regional Science Association European Summer Institute held at Arco Lake of Garda Italy from 17th to 23rd July 1988 on the theme of Theories and policies of technological development at the local level As such it forms a complementary volume to the collection of invited papers entitled The Spatial Context of Technological Development edited by Professors Riccardo Cappellin and Peter Nijkamp and published by Avebury Gower The Summer Institute covered a broad range of themes and contributions from over 100 researchers It has therefore not been our intention to represent or replicate these themes directly but to provide as wide an international coverage of current research in regional science in the field of technological change as possible The papers to be found in this book are drawn from the European Community Eastern Europe Scandinavia North America and elsewhere Inevitably as the book was to be published in English most of the editorial work has been undertaken at the Centre for Urban and Regional Development Studies at Newcastle University In so doing we have attempted to standardize the English as far as possible whilst trying not to lose the characteristics of the styles of the individual authors

The Spatial Context of Technological Development Riccardo Cappellin, Peter Nijkamp, 1990

Technological Change, Economic Development and Space Cristoforo S. Bertuglia, Manfred M. Fischer, Giorgio Preto, 2012-12-06 The pressures of global competition are affecting regions throughout the world and making it increasingly necessary to understand the complex underlying mechanisms and the potential for innovation offered by new technology Success in economic restructuring depends not only on the technology itself but the professional and entrepreneurial skills available and the support of provided by institutions and information networks The very local nature these phenomena which are critical to the innovative propensity of firms operating within the region introduces an inevitable spatial dimension The time therefore seems ripe to bring together contributions from scholars working in different but related disciplines with the aim of investigating the triangular relationship between technological change economic development and space The present volume offers a compact review of current theoretical developments and valuable insights deriving from recent empirical studies carried out both within Europe and elsewhere All those contributing to this volume are actively involved in research in the field Without their intellectual contribution and willingness to participate in this joint project the book would not have been possible We should like in addition to thank Angela Spence for her capable assistance in coordinating the various stages of preparation of the book as well as her translation work and careful linguistic editing Thanks also go to Paola Stasi for her meticulous copy editing and help in preparing the indices Their work has been invaluable in moulding together in a single volume contributions from so many different sources

Spatial Change and Interregional Flows in the Integrating Europe Johannes Bröcker,Hayo Herrmann,2000-10-04 Within the broad frame of regional research in an international perspective the contributions of this volume present new theoretical methodological and empirical results as well as political strategies for the following topics economic integration in the Baltic rim innovation and regional growth economic integration trade and migration transport infrastructure and the regions Most of the topics deal with the long term integration process in Europe with a particular focus on the North European and Baltic Sea integration

Interaction, Evolution and Chaos in Space Peter Nijkamp,Aura Reggiani,2012-12-06 For many decades scholars from various disciplines have been intrigued by the question whether there are unifying principles or models that have a validity in different disciplines The building of such analytical frameworks bridging the gaps between scientific traditions is a very ambitious task and has not been very successful up till now In the past in a static context several such principles have been defined and advocated at the edge of the natural sciences on the one hand and social sciences in particular economics and geography on the other hand mainly based on the paradigm of social physics Some important contributions to the integration of the spatial systems sciences and physics can be found in gravity theory and entropy theory which have formed the corner stones of interaction models in space This book is about spatial interaction models It describes the origin the history and the correspondence of such models from a social physics perspective It is emphasized that such models need a clear behavioural underpinning as a sine qua non for a valid use in spatial systems analysis This view also explains the use of micro based disaggregate choice models as a tool for analyzing spatial systems This is mainly analyzed in Part A of this book

Systems of Innovation and Development José Eduardo Cassiolato,Helena Maria Martins Lastres,Maria Lucia Maciel,2003-01-01 This book represents a significant contribution to the debates surrounding globalization and local systems of innovation The diverse perspectives on global and local processes combined with original insights on developing countries should be of value to scholars and students of economics social science political science and business administration The book should also be of interest to policymakers in governmental and non governmental bodies particularly international development agencies The Networked Firm in a Global World Eirik Vatne, Michael Taylor, 2018-01-18 This title was first published in 2000 Illustrated by a wide range of international case studies this volume elaborates extends and critiques one of the key models of local growth which emphasizes learning networking and embeddedness in relation to the role of small and medium sized firms SMEs In doing so it provides a comprehensive understanding of the changing role of SMEs in an era of globalization Creating Value with Science and Technology Eliezer Geisler, 2001-08-30 Do science and technology create value for society and the economy and how might one go about measuring it How do we evaluate its benefits Can we even be certain that there are benefits Geisler argues that there are benefits and that they outweigh in value the negative impacts that inevitably accompany them His revolutionary new book goes on to show that they can also be measured and evaluated and in one volume all of the existing knowledge on how to do it is compiled then Geisler's own methods are offered The result is a compelling argument that the value of science and technology in our lives has indeed been positive and that the economic well being of all individuals organizations and nations rests upon them Geisler starts off by describing his conceptual framework for the evaluation of science and technology and the impact and benefits that proceed from them He discusses the nature of evaluation in general terms and then in the specific context of science technology and innovation together He reviews the state of our present knowledge and assesses the nature of value creation itself Throughout Geisler remains fixed on his driving thesis Although there are certainly some negative impacts from science and technology on the whole the results of its outputs are positive He shows how they have contributed to a range of activities and institutions particularly to the improvement of health and human welfare worldwide Finally after discussing the theories of evaluation he gets down to the practice providing readers with a way to assess science and technological innovations for themselves Innovation and Entrepreneurship in Biotechnology, an International Perspective Damian Hine, John Kapeleris, 2006-01-01 This book is aimed at providing a large audience including practitioners politicians and decision makers with useful insights in relation to innovation and entrepreneurship in the biotechnology industry It offers an international perspective and a set of theoretical lenses to underline the roles and the effects of entrepreneurship and scientific innovation as key factors to support new firm emergence and to achieve and maintain competitiveness in this so important industry Alain Fayolle EM Lyon CERAG Laboratory France and Solvay Business School Belgium The biotechnology industry across the globe is growing dramatically in line with rapidly emerging scientific and technological developments This book explores both the theoretical and practical aspects of entrepreneurship in the biotechnology industry focusing on the innovation processes underpinning success for new biotechnology firms NBFs It argues that biotechnology is at a crossroads to date the science has been solid yet commercial success remains elusive and that it will be the commercial success of NBFs which will dictate the long term viability of this crucial industry The authors go on to examine the roles played by both entrepreneurship and innovation in the competitiveness of biotechnology companies through a focus on intellectual property strategies product development valuing biotechnology ventures funding innovation and R D alliances and networking changing industry structures evidenced through the shifting value chain and the impact of globalization on the changing industry and organizational life cycles International case studies with a focus on human biosciences support the important theoretical developments at the heart of this book Innovation and Entrepreneurship in Biotechnology offers original and valuable insights to researchers academics and students as well as to practitioners involved with innovation and entrepreneurship in the field of biotechnology

Work Organization and Europe as a Development Coalition John Richard Ennals, Björn Gustavsen, 1999-01-01 This text proposes a development project within the field of work organisation with participation from across Europe It includes chapters on the nature and history of the idea of development coalition largely rooted in the Scandinavian experience and case studies from other European countries
