Technology and Enterprise Development Sanjaya Lall, Giorgio Barba Navaretti, Simon Teitel, Ganeshan Wignaraja, 2016-07-27 The process of capability development is central to industrialization but the current literature focuses on the advanced developing countries This book based on a World Bank sponsored study of enterprise development in Ghana is the first to examine in detail how firms in least developed countries in Africa acquire technological capabilities It analyses why Ghanaian firms are generally relatively uncompetitive why some firms are better than others and how the structural adjustment is affecting manufacturing development Technology and Enterprise Development Sanjaya Lall, 1994 The process of capability development is central to industrialization but the current literature focuses on the advanced developing countries This book based on a World Bank sponsored study of enterprise development in Ghana is the first to examine in detail how firms in least developed countries in Africa acquire technological capabilities It analyses why Ghanaian firms are generally relatively uncompetitive why some firms are better than others and how the structural adjustment is affecting manufacturing development Technology and Enterprise Development Lall, 1995-10 The process of capability development is central to industrialization but the current literature focuses on the advanced developing countries This book based on a World Bank sponsored study of enterprise development in Ghana is the first to examine in detail how firms in least developed countries in Africa acquire technological capabilities It analyses why Ghanaian firms are generally relatively uncompetitive why some firms are better than others and how the structural adjustment is affecting manufacturing development The Politics of Trade and Industrial Policy in Africa Charles Chukwuma Soludo, Michael Osita Ogbu, Ha-Joon Chang, 2004 This book maps the process and political economy of policy making in Africa Its focus on trade and industrial policy makes it unique and it will appeal to students and academics in economics political economy political science and African studies Detailed case studies help the reader to understand how the process and motivation behind policy decisions can vary from country to country depending on the form of government ethnicity and nationality and other social factors

Contemporary Issues in Multicultural and Global Education Msengi, Clementine M., Lartey, Grace K., Sprott, Katherine R., 2022-05-13 In response to the COVID 19 pandemic many educational institutions across the globe had to close in person learning and turn to online learning Previous predictions on the future of education discussed the globalization of education through online learning that breaks down geographical barriers However many students parents and educators are still finding it challenging to adapt to new methods of instruction Creating global and multicultural classrooms creates additional challenges especially when considering diverse at risk and low income student populations Further study of these challenges is required to improve the future of global education Contemporary Issues in Multicultural and Global Education discusses research strategies best practices and insights dealing with important issues related to multicultural and global education Covering topics such as remote learning and sustainable leadership this premier reference source is ideal for educators policymakers administrators curriculum designers researchers academicians and students      Competitiveness Strategy in Developing Countries Ganeshan Wignaraja, 2003-10-04 Globalization and structural adjustment offer many opportunities for export orientated industrialization in developing economies As a group competitiveness in the developing countries has improved but while East Asian economies have had rapid export growth and technological upgrades South Asian and African economies have lagged behind Old structures institutions behavioural patterns and public policies are ill adapted to deal with the challenges posed by technological change and economic liberalization Consequently there is an urgent need for change in government and private sector attitudes and strategies This volume seeks to generalise the lessons across developing country and enterprise cases and sheds light on which trade and industrial strategies and instruments work best and which do not work in relation to manufacturing competitiveness      Trade, Technology, and International Competitiveness Irfan-ul-Haque, R. Martin N. Bell, 1995-01-01 World Bank Technical Paper No 300 Provides an overview of past experiences with the introduction of agricultural technologies in World Bank funded projects in Mediterranean climates with an emphasis on the Middle East and North African region The authors review the adequacy of present crop and livestock technologies identify technical and socio economic constraints on their adoption and describe prospective technologies for pilot testing and full scale introduction in future Bank funded projects      Structural Adjustment in Ghana, 1983-94 Eboe Hutchful, 1995

Trade Liberalisation in Sri Lanka Ganeshan Wignaraja, 1998-04-12 The East Asian experience suggests that technological development is fundamental to export success in outward oriented economies This study analyses export performance in Sri Lanka at a national and firm level focusing on the acquisition of industrial technological capabilities during a period of trade liberalization It compares Sri Lanka's record with Korea Taiwan and Thailand Analysis of the export and technological record of enterprises of varying performance highlights the policies which enhance competitiveness in developing and transition economies      Industrialization and Globalization John Weiss, 2002-03-28 In a refreshingly accessible style John Weiss presents a survey of industrialization in developing countries since 1945 as well as a study of the predominant theories of industrial growth in the Third World This authoritative text analyzes the possibility of different paths to industrialization the dominant neoclassical view and the challenges      Technology and the Environment in Sub-Saharan Africa John. O Adeoti, 2024-11-01 This title was first published in 2002 Why do firms adopt pollution control technologies How can environmental policy be strengthened How can technology and industrial policies achieve green innovation This volume critically examines whether the stimulus response notion of environmental policy functions as the primary motivation for the adoption of pollution control technologies It also questions whether technology and industrial policies can help to achieve the objective of green innovation Interesting and well researched empirical case studies offer important insights into the observed trends in the quantitative analysis Focusing in particular on Nigerian industry John Adeoti exposes the gains from and constraints upon firms technology investment in pollution control      Learning from the

Asian Tigers Sanjaya Lall,1996-11-04 This is a collection of papers on industrial policy the role of governments in promoting industrial development and the particular significance of technology development Two essays deal with the general debate on industrial policy and the nature of technology development two are critical appraisals of the World Bank's approach to the debate on governments and markets four are case studies of policy making on aspects of industrialisation three in Asia and one in Africa

Acquisition of Technological Capability in Small Firms in Developing Countries H. Romijn,1998-11-18 An authoritative examination of how small firms in developing countries acquire technological capability the knowledge and skills required to operate technology effectively and to adapt it to local conditions It fills a gap in the established literature on technological capability which has neglected the small scale sector in spite of the important role it plays in employment generation The author develops a methodology for a quantitative assessment of the learning process using case material from the small scale capital goods sector in Pakistan's Punjab Province

The Technological Response to Import Liberalization in SubSaharan Africa Sanjaya Lall,1999-02-24 Many African countries liberalized in the belief that international competition would stimulate efficiency growth and technological dynamism The results are mixed but largely disappointing This book examines why looking at technological reactions to liberalization in garments and engineering in Tanzania Kenya and Zimbabwe countries with different levels of industrialisation and differing degrees of liberalization Its findings aimed at practitioners and researchers explain why the assumptions underlying liberalisation are often flawed why capabilities differ and why they lag behind other regions

Technology and Skills in Zimbabwe's Manufacturing S. Teitel,2000-10-03 Small Sub Saharan African countries are facing difficult times trying to accelerate their economic growth while at the same time attempting to liberalize their economies For many independence has brought political freedom without concomitant economic and social improvement for their indigenous populations Zimbabwe fits this description and while it has made significant strides in educating its populations and distributing some agricultural land it still lags in modernizing its manufacturing industries which survived for many years with little or no capital investment and restricted access to imports This study based on a detailed analysis of the results of a survey of manufacturing firms in selected industries shows the origin of the technologies they have mastered the use made of external and domestic sources of technology the skills being applied their training and other needs as well as the policies that could favourably affect future industrial development in Zimbabwe

Failing to Compete Sanjaya Lall,Carlo Pietrobello,2002 Despite years of liberalization African manufacturing is conspicuously unable to compete in the global market Its exports are minuscule its response to competition is weak technical efficiency is low and there are few signs of technological dynamism

Management Challenges for Africa in the Twenty-First Century Felix M. Edoho,2000-12-30 Edoho and his contributors examine the management challenges facing African governments and businesses on the eve of a new millennium As the authors make clear Africa's future is defined by how Africa does in the 21st century For Africa a major challenge is how to effectively and efficiently manage its vast wealth Africa is not poor because it is poor it is poor because it cannot manage its development process The shortages of managerial knowledge skills and talents are pervasive Consequently the region lacks the ability to organize production and run operations effectively and efficiently The task of developing managerial manpower in Africa is not only imperative it is urgent After outlining theoretical and applied perspectives on management the volume examines the public and private sector planning and management It then explores the globalization of management technology provides case studies of African management dilemmas looks at management ethics and morality and concludes with an analysis of the role of management in African national development As the authors make clear abundant resources will not of themselves usher in an African economic renaissance Africa needs skills to identify and analyze its resources to undertake investment and to establish and run all kinds of organizations Until Africa develops its indigenous managerial talents development will continue to be elusive and the process traumatizing An important resource for scholars students and policy makers involved with African economic development

International Bibliography of Economics 1994 British Library of Political and Economic Science at the London School of Economics, 1995 The IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institutions whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences

Globalization, Growth and Marginalization A.S. Bhalla, 1998-09-12 Globalization is defined in economic terms to mean freer flows of trade foreign direct investment and finance and liberalization of trade and investment policies Impacts of globalization and information technology are examined in terms of growth and productivity poverty and income distribution and employment Experiences of Africa East and Southeast Asia South Asia and Latin America in the era of globalization are discussed It is argued that benefits of freer trade and capital flows need to be managed carefully in order to minimise the costs and maximise gains

Literacy for Sustainable Development in the Age of Information Naz Rassool, 1999-01-01 This text discusses the complexities that surround literacy in the modern world It examines prevailing definitions and views of literacy and evaluates these against the technological skills and knowledge demands of the information society Within a world increasingly concerned about sustainable development the book highlights the importance of multiliteracies and adequate levels of communicative competence in facilitating effective participation in the democratic process

Adopting the Beat of Appearance: An Psychological Symphony within Technology And Enterprise Development Ghana Under Structural Adjustment

In some sort of taken by monitors and the ceaseless chatter of fast communication, the melodic splendor and mental symphony produced by the published word often disappear in to the back ground, eclipsed by the relentless sound and disturbances that permeate our lives. Nevertheless, located within the pages of Technology And Enterprise Development Ghana Under Structural Adjustment a wonderful literary treasure overflowing with raw thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Crafted by an elegant musician of language, that charming masterpiece conducts visitors on an emotional trip, well unraveling the concealed melodies and profound affect resonating within each carefully crafted phrase. Within the depths of this touching evaluation, we will discover the book is key harmonies, analyze its enthralling publishing fashion, and surrender ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
