Television Violence And Public Policy:

Television Violence and Public Policy James Hamilton, 2000-08-16 Discusses why and how we should rate the content of television programs for violence

Television Violence P. T. Kelly, 1999 If one culprit is suspected above all others for encouraging society to become more violent and unfeeling it is television This medium which has become so pervasive in the last 50 years seems to play an enormous role in the lives of the vast majority of people But who controls the content which exerts such an enormous influence and to an extent controls the people What are they doing now and what will they be doing tomorrow Is violence essential to sell toothpaste and hamburgers What are our children becoming and what will their children be like Will every child carry a gun or other weapon just waiting for someone to trigger their violent nature and ignite their preprogrammed anger

Television Violence and Public Policy James Hamilton, 2000-08-16 Discusses why and how we should rate the content of television programs for violence

Television and Public Policy David Ward, 2009-04-09 Television and Public Policy analyzes the current state of television systems in a selected group of countries exploring the political economic and technological factors that have shaped the sector over the past two decades By positioning the television sector within issues of media policy and the regulatory framework the book questions what these trends mean for television and the historical political and cultural role in our societies

Violence on the Russian & American Media Screen and Youth Audience Alexander Fedorov, 2003 The comparison of the Russian and American experience regarding media violence standards for rating Russian media programs and a course of study on media violence for students will have a significant impact upon Russian society will raise Russian societal and governmental attention to the infringement of the Rights of the Child on the Russian screen will help to mobilize Russian society against unnecessary violence in the media will raise the level of responsibility expected of those who disseminate violence on the television cinema video PC games etc and will decrease the atmosphere of Russian social indifference to this problem This publication was prepared in part under a grant funded by the United States Information Agency and administered by the Kennan Institute for Advanced Russian Studies of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars Washington D C The statements and views expressed herein are those of the author and are not necessarily those of the Wilson Center The final phase of research for this book was supported in part under a grant funded by the United States Information Agency and administered by the Kennan Institute for Advanced Russian Studies of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars Washington D C The statements and views expressed herein are those of the author and are not necessarily those of the Wilson Center The initial phase of research for this book was supported by Open Society Institute 1998 grant No 809 ECHO Program Central European University Budapest Senior Visiting Grant 1998 October Russian Science Foundation for Humanities RGNF 1999 2000 grant N 99 06 00008a and partly published in Russian Foundation for Humanity Journal 2001 N 1 pp 131 145 Another short publications Media I Skole og Samfunn Norway 2001 N21 p 41 2000 N 1 pp 16 23 1999 N 5 pp

Congress. Senate. Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, 2001 Media Violence and Children Douglas A. Gentile, 2014-09-30 Stripping away the hype this book describes how when and why media violence can influence children of different ages giving parents and teachers the power to maximize the media's benefits and minimize its harm There are many opinions about media violence and children but not all are supported by science In this book the top experts gather the latest results from 50 years of scientific study as the basis for a comprehensive in depth examination of the complex issues surrounding the effects of media violence of different types Each chapter focuses on a particular issue of concern including hot topics such as brain development cyber bullying video games and verbal aggression Articles take into account factors such as economics differences based on the ages of children and differences between types of media violence This book provides the information parents and those who work with families need to make the best choices It includes chapters specifically relevant to the types of bullying schools have the most trouble identifying and controlling Most importantly the writing is both intelligent and accessible so that parents educators pediatricians and policymakers can understand and apply the findings presented Television and the American Family Jennings Bryant, J. Alison Bryant, 2001 This second edition of a trend setting volume provides an updated examination of the interaction between families and the most pervasive mass medium television Charting the dynamic developments of the American family and television over the past decade this volume provides a comprehensive representation of programmatic research into family and television and examines extensively the uses families make of television how extensions of television affect usage families evolving attitudes toward television the ways families have been and are portrayed on television the effects television has on families and the ways in which families can mediate its impact on their lives The volume is an invaluable resource for scholars and students in the areas of media and society children and media and family studies The Impact of Watching Violent Television Programs on Secondary School Children in Tanzania Watson Lupogo Masiba, 2016-06-14 Violent television programs are highly preferred by children They stimulate their emotions and increase curiosity about violence related issues This means that watching violent television programs has an impact upon their way of perceiving the world around them and acting in response to it This study investigated the impacts of watching violent television programs on secondary school children in Tanzania The specific objectives were to examine children's accessibility to the TV ascertain the types of violent TV programs and the time children spend watching them determine the ways in which watching violent TV programs affects their academic performance find out the impact of watching violent TV programs on their discipline and examine the role of parents in addressing the impacts of watching violent TV programs upon their children Results indicate that most secondary school children watch violent TV programs at home in the sitting rooms They spend an average of three hours per day on weekdays and seven and half hours on weekends watching movies music drama and informational programs that were identified as the most violent ones Obviously spending lots of time watching violent TV programs decreases children s academic performance and discipline This book is important because it discusses the parents role in discouraging and limiting children from watching violent TV programs and choosing appropriate TV programs for them
