Crash Course in Time Management for Library Staff

Brenda Hough, 2018-02-05. This book offers time management tools, tips, and techniques for busy librarians so they can better serve their communities and feel greater satisfaction with work and life. Being short on resources is now the new normal for libraries, and having too little money and too few staff members always brings library staff to the same predicament: not enough time. While it is not possible to create more time by making use of the right time management tools and techniques, it is possible to make huge improvements in your productivity and, as side benefits, a decrease in job stress and frustration and a greater sense of work satisfaction. This book shows how to apply powerful time management strategies so you can get more done, deliver the best service possible to your patrons, and enjoy being in an environment that fosters greater creativity and workplace satisfaction. Topics include time tracking, task management, identifying goals and priorities, beating the obstacles of procrastination and perfectionism, as well as distractions and interruptions, and staying on top of time management when collaborating. Quotes and stories from individuals who work in libraries illustrate key points and concepts throughout the book. The final chapter explains how to set a personal plan for time management using the awareness of your own patterns, obstacles, and goals, and the experience you have gained with various time management techniques and tools to create your own unique time management strategy and make time management an ongoing long-term priority.

The Wiley

International Handbook of Mentoring

Beverly J. Irby, Jennifer N. Boswell, Linda J. Searby, Frances Kochan, Ruben Garza, Nahed Abdelrahman, 2020-02-14. The first collection in the area of mentoring that applies theory to real-world practice, research, programs, and recommendations from an international perspective. In today's networked world, society mentoring is a crucial area for study that requires a deep international understanding for effective implementation. Despite the immense benefits of mentoring, current literature on this subject is surprisingly sparse. The Wiley International Handbook of Mentoring fills the need for a comprehensive volume of in-depth information on the different types of mentoring programs, effective mentoring practices, and emerging practical and applicable theories. Based on sound research methodologies, this unique text presents original essays by experts from over ten different countries, demonstrating the ways mentoring can make a difference in the workplace and in the classroom. These experts have an understanding of mentoring worldwide, having worked in mentoring in over forty countries. Each of the Handbook's four sections—mentoring paradigms, practices, programs, and possibilities—include a final synthesis chapter authored by the section editors that captures the essence of the lessons learned, applies a global context, and recommends research avenues for further exploration. This innovative volume demonstrates how mentoring in any culture can help employees to complete tasks and advance in their positions, aid in socialization and assimilation in various settings provide diverse groups access to resources and information navigate through personalities politics policies and procedures and much more Offers an inclusive international perspective that supports moving mentoring into a discipline of its own and lays a theoretical foundation for further research Shows how emerging practical theories can be implemented in actual programs and various scenarios Examines a wide range of contemporary paradigms practices and programs in the field of mentoring including a panorama of introspections on mentoring from international scholars and practitioners Includes historical and epistemological content background information and definitions and overviews of fundamental aspects of mentoring The Wiley International Handbook of Mentoring is an essential volume for a global readership particularly teachers of mentoring courses trainers and researchers and practitioners in a variety of fields such as business education government politics sciences industry or sports

Virtual Coach, Virtual Mentor David Clutterbuck, Zulfi Hussain, 2010-10-01 In the case of virtual coaching and mentoring or e mentoring and ecoaching or coaching mentoring by wire choose your own preferred nomenclature there are hundreds perhaps thousands of programs and initiatives across the world Yet there is comparatively little in the way of comparison of good practice or academic evaluation of what does and doesn't work We found numerous individual case studies but a dearth of empirical research and no significant collection of cases to illustrate the diversity of applications Virtual Coach Virtual Mentor provides a wide variety of perspectives on a rapidly growing phenomenon We hope and intend that it should make a timely and significant contribution to good practice and to encouraging more practitioners and their clients and more organizations to experiment with using electronic media to enrich coaching and mentoring The view of ecoaching and e mentoring is firmly one that these new media are less a replacement for traditional face to face than an enhancement of learning alliances in general We see no evidence of fewer face to face coaching or mentoring relationships on the contrary they continue to become more popular and widespread Rather we see that virtual coaching and mentoring both enrich predominantly face to face relationships by connecting partners at times between formal meetings and open up coaching and mentoring to new audiences and new applications

Handbook for Learning Mentors in Primary and Secondary Schools Margaret Roberts, Dot Constable, 2013-04-03 Written with the needs of learning mentors in mind this book outlines the school organization in which the mentor will find themselves and deals with the tasks and responsibilities they will have to consider in the completion of their daily duties Topics covered include being an effective learning mentor working within school systems and structures identifying pupils at risk of underachieving suggested strategies for supporting pupils how to access appropriate training relationships with colleagues Intended for mentors in schools and training providers working with mentors this handbook is a fully comprehensive guide
