Pacini-Ketchabaw, Kathleen Skott-Myhre, 2016-01-26 Youth Work Early Education and Psychology re examines the set of relations generally referred to as working with children and youth It presents a series of propositions that highlight politicized strategies to working with young people under current conditions of late liberal capitalism Christine de Pizan Barbara K. Altmann, Deborah L. McGrady, 2020-08-11 Christine de Pizan wrote voluminously commenting on various aspects of the late medieval society in which she lived Considered by many to be the first French woman of letters Christine and her writing have been difficult to place ever since she began putting her thoughts on the page Although her work was neglected in the eighteenth and nineteenth century there has been a eruption of Christine studies in recent decades making her the perfect subject for a casebook This volume serves as a useful guide to contemporary research exploring Christine s life and work as they reflected and influenced her socio political milieu Haunting Violations Wendy Hesford, Wendy Kozol, 2000-11-30 Feminist critics place a premium on the real stories told by the victimized and the oppressed Haunting Violations offers a corrective to such uncritical acceptance of the real in confessional testimonial and ethnographic narratives Through close readings of a wide variety of texts contributors argue that depictions of the real are inherently performative crafted within the limits and in the interests of specific personal political or social projects Haunting Violations explores the inseparability of discourse and politics in quasi autobiographical works such as I Rigoberta Mench and When Heaven and Earth Changed Places Contributors consider how the Sri Lankan Mother s Front movement exploits the sanctity of the maternal and how multiple political purposes on both sides bleed through government documentary photographs of Japanese American concentration camp internees This volume also investigates how South Asian feminists use the authority of their personal experience to critique the film Mississippi Masala and how realist narratives such as Janet Campbell Hale s autobiographical Bloodlines Margie Strosser s documentary film Rape Stories and Shekur Kapur s film Bandit Queen reexamine how assumptions about power and trauma are embedded in the promise of the real Hysterical Methodologies in the Arts Johanna Braun, 2021-06-18 Hysteria is alive and well in our present time and is apparently spreading contagiously especially the second decade of the twenty first century has displayed an ever increasing interest in the term A quick Google search opens the gates to sheer endless swathes of discussions on hysteria covering almost every aspect of public discourses The arts as it is often in such cases seem conspicuously involved in and engaged with this hysterical discourse Surprisingly while the strong academic interest in hysteria throughout the twentieth century and most prominently at the turn of the century is well known and much discussed the study of how these discourses have continued well into twenty first century art practices is largely pressing on a blind spot It is the aim of this volume to illustrate how hysteria was already well established within the arts alongside and at times even separately from the much covered medical studies and reveal how those current artistic practices very much continue a century spanning cross fertilization between hysteria and the arts Morality, Violence, and Ritual Circumcision Na'ama Carlin, 2022-11-30 This book uses the Jewish ritual of circumcision to consider how violent acts are embedded within entrenched moral discourses and offers a new perspective for thinking about violence

Intervening in contemporary debates on the Jewish ritual of circumcision it departs from both the ordinary secular defences of circumcision for medical reasons and the criticisms that consider it an unethical violation of bodies that cannot consent An examination of the intersection of violence and morality this book rejects the binary logic on which popular debates on circumcision hinge arguing that in some instances violence can be a productive experience and can thus be considered beyond good and bad Engaging with the works of Jacques Derrida the author puts forward a framework of violence of ontology which is characterised as a violence that is related to existence the violence of being which resists definition through binary oppositions In so doing the author contends that circumcision is in fact a form of generative violence that is leveraged for cultural purposes and inherent in the making of bodies As such this volume offers a compelling framework that investigates the relationship between bodies identities ethics and violence and will therefore appeal to scholars of sociology social theory and religion with interests in the sociology of the body ritual and cultural studies Routledge Handbook of Gender and Security Caron E. Gentry, Laura J. Shepherd, Laura Sjoberg, 2018-09-03 This handbook provides a comprehensive look at the study of gender and security in global politics The volume is based on the core argument that gender is conceptually necessary to thinking about central questions of security analytically important for thinking about cause and effect in security and politically important for considering possibilities of making the world better in the future Contributions to the volume look at various aspects of studying gender and security through diverse lenses that engage diverse feminisms with diverse policy concerns and working with diverse theoretical contributions from scholars of security more broadly It is grouped into four thematic sections Gendered approaches to security including theoretical conceptual and methodological approaches Gendered insecurities in global politics including the ways insecurity in global politics is distributed and read on the basis of gender Gendered practices of security including how policy practice and theory work together or do not Gendered security institutions across a wide variety of spaces and places in global politics This handbook will be of great interest to students of gender studies security studies and IR in general CONTEMPORARY SOCIAL

RESEARCH: HEALTH, ECONOMY AND ENVIRONMENT: [VOLUME 2] Prasenjit Pal, Dr. Golam Mostafa, Dr. Rupam Mukherjee, Deleuze and the Body Laura Guillaume, 2011-03-22 This book will be important reading for those with an interest in Deleuze but also in performance arts film and contemporary culture Ordinary Enchantments Wendy B. Faris, 2004 Ordinary Enchantments investigates magical realism as the most important trend in contemporary international fiction defines its characteristics and narrative techniques and proposes a new theory to explain its significance In the most comprehensive critical treatment of this literary mode to date Wendy B Faris discusses a rich array of examples from magical realist novels around the world including the work not only of Latin American writers like Gabriel Garcia Marquez but also of authors like Salman Rushdie Gunter Grass Toni Morrison and Ben Okri Faris argues that by combining realistic representation with fantastic elements so that the marvelous seems to grow organically out of the ordinary magical realism

destabilizes the dominant form of realism based on empirical definitions of reality gives it visionary power and thus constitutes what might be called a remystification of narrative in the West Noting the radical narrative heterogeneity of magical realism the author compares its cultural role to that of traditional shamanic performance which joins the worlds of daily life and that of the spirits Because of that capacity to bridge different worlds magical realism has served as an effective decolonizing agent providing the ground for marginal voices submerged traditions and emergent literatures to develop and create masterpieces At the same time this process is not limited to postcolonial situations but constitutes a global trend that replenishes realism from within In addition to describing what many consider to be the progressive cultural work of magical realism Faris also confronts the recent accusation that magical realism and its study as a global phenomenon can be seen as a form of commodification and an imposition of cultural homogeneity And finally drawing on the narrative innovations and cultural scenarios that magical realism enacts she extends those principles toward issues of gender and the possibility of a female element within magical realism

Theory in the "Post" Era Christian Moraru, Andrei Terian, Alexandru Matei, 2021-08-26 Shortlisted for the AATSEEL 2022 Award for Best Edited Multi Author Scholarly Volume AATSEEL is The American Association of Teachers of Slavic and East European Languages Theory in the Post Era brings together the work and perspectives of a group of Romanian theorists who discuss the morphings of contemporary theory in what the editors call the post era Since the Cold War's end and especially in the third millennium theorists have been exploring the aftermath and sometimes just the after of whole paradigms the crisis or passing of anthropocentrism the twilight of an entire ontological and cultural condition as well as the corresponding rise of an antagonist model of an anti meta or neo alternative with examples ranging from posthumanism and post postmodernism to post aesthetics postanalog interpretation or digicriticism post presentism post memory post or neo critique and so forth It is no coincidence the contributors to this volume argue that this post moment is also a time when theory is practiced as a world genre If theory has always been a worlded enterprise a quintessentially communal cross cultural and international project this is truer at present than ever Perhaps more than other humanist constituencies today's theorists work and belong in a theory commons that is transnational if still uneven economically politically and otherwise Theory in the Post Era reports the results of Romanian theory experiments that join efforts made in other places to foster a theory for the post age

Diffractional Reading Kai Merten, 2021-05-27 Putting the New Materialist figure of diffraction to use in a set of readings in which cultural texts are materially read against their contents and their themes against their readers or against other texts this volume proposes a critical intervention into the practice of reading itself In this book reading and reading methodology are probed for their materiality and re considered as being inevitably suspended between or diffracted with both matter and discourse The history of literary and cultural reading including poststructuralism and critical theory is revisited in a new light and opened up for a future in which the world and reading are no longer regarded as conveniently separate spheres but recognized as deeply entangled and intertwined. Diffractional Reading ultimately represents a new reading of reading itself firstly by critiquing the distanced perspective of critical paradigms such as translation and intertextuality in which texts encountered processed or otherwise subdued secondly showing how all literary and cultural readings represent different agential cuts in the world-text-reader constellation which is always both discursive and material and thirdly the volume materializes dynamizes and politicizes the activity of reading by drawing attention to reading's intervention in and co-creation of the world in which we live.

Philosophical Posthumanism Francesca Ferrando, 2019-06-27 The notion of the human is in need of urgent redefinition. At a time of radical biotechnological developments and in light of the political and environmental imperatives of our age, the term posthuman provides an alternative. The philosophical landscape which has developed as a response to the crisis of the human includes several movements such as Posthumanism, Transhumanism, Antihumanism, and Object-Oriented Ontology. This book explains the similarities and differences between these currents and offers a detailed examination of a number of topics that fall under the posthuman umbrella, including the anthropocene, artificial intelligence, and the deconstruction of the human. Francesca Ferrando affords particular focus to Philosophical Posthumanism, defined as a philosophy of mediation which addresses the meaning of humanity not in separation but in relation to technology and ecology. The posthuman shift thus emerges in the global call for social change, responsible science, and multispecies coexistence.

Bodies of Tomorrow Sherryl Vint, 2007-01-01 Bodies of Tomorrow argues for the importance of challenging visions of humanity in the future that overlook our responsibility as embodied beings connected to a material world. Human Nature in an Age of Biotechnology Tamar Sharon, 2013-10-11 New biotechnologies have propelled the question of what it means to be human or posthuman to the forefront of societal and scientific consideration. This volume provides an accessible critical overview of the main approaches in the debate on posthumanism and argues that they do not adequately address the question of what it means to be human in an age of biotechnology. Not because they belong to rival political camps but because they are grounded in a humanist ontology that presupposes a radical separation between human subjects and technological objects. The volume offers a comprehensive mapping of posthumanist discourse divided into four broad approaches: two humanist-based approaches (dystopic and liberal posthumanism) and two non-humanist approaches (radical and methodological posthumanism). The author compares and contrasts these models via an exploration of key issues from human enhancement to eugenics to new configurations of biopower, questioning what role technology plays in defining the boundaries of the human, the subject, and nature for each. Building on the contributions and limitations of radical and methodological posthumanism, the author develops a novel perspective: mediated posthumanism, that brings together insights in the philosophy of technology, the sociology of biomedicine, and Michel Foucault's work on ethical subject constitution. In this framework, technology is neither a neutral tool nor a force that alienates humanity from itself but something that is always already part of the experience of being human and subjectivity is viewed as an emergent property that is constantly being shaped and transformed by its engagements with biotechnologies Mediated posthumanism becomes a tool for identifying novel ethical modes of human experience that are richer and more multifaceted than current posthumanist perspectives allow for The book will be essential reading for students and scholars working on ethics and technology philosophy of technology poststructuralism technology and the body and medical ethics
