Tele Ology Studies In Television:

Tele-ology John Hartley, 2003-09-02 A collection of Hartley's writings on television which includes his views on TV as a global and local force and TV as a corporate and domestic political and artistic object of study Television After TV Lvnn Spigel, Jan Olsson, 2004-11-30 A critical reassessment of television and television studies in the age of new media Television Studies Reader Robert Clyde Allen, Annette Hill, 2004 The Television Studies Reader brings together key writings in the expanding field of television studies providing an overview of the discipline and addressing issues of industry genre audiences production and ownership and representation The Reader charts the ways in which television and television studies are being redefined by new and alternative ways of producing broadcasting and watching TV such as cable satellite and digital broadcasting home video internet broadcasting and interactive TV as well as exploring the recent boom in genres such as reality TV and docusoaps It brings together articles from leading international scholars to provide perspectives on television programmes and practices from around the world acknowledging both television s status as a global medium and the many and varied local contexts of its production and reception Articles are grouped in seven themed sections each with an introduction by the editors Institutions of Television Spaces of Television Modes of Television Making Television Social Representation on Television Watching Television Transforming Television An Introduction to Television Studies Jonathan Bignell, 2004 This comprehensive introduction to the field of television studies provides resources for thinking about key aspects of television studies outlines significant strands of critical work in the field and includes activities and think points Television and the Public Sphere Peter Dahlgren, 1995-10-01 In this broad ranging text Peter Dahlgren clarifies the underlying theoretical concepts of civil society and the public sphere and relates these to a critical analysis of the practice of television as journalism as information and as entertainment He demonstrates the limits and the possibilities of the television medium and the formats of popular journalism These issues are linked to the potential of the audience to interpret or resist messages and to construct its own meanings What does a realistic understanding of the functioning and the capabilities of television imply for citizenship and democracy in a mediated age Television Studies Jonathan Gray, Amanda D. Lotz, 2019-01-15 Television Studies provides an overview of the origins central ideas and intellectual traditions of this exciting field What have been the primary areas of inquiry in television studies Why and how did these areas develop How have scholars studied them How are they developing What have been the discipline s key works This book answers these questions by tracing the history of television studies right up to the digital present surveying emerging scholarship and addressing new questions about the field s relationship with the digital The second edition includes an examination of how internet distributed services such as Netflix have adjusted the stories industrial practices and audience experience of television For all those wondering how to study television or even why to study television this new edition of Television Studies will provide a clear and engaging overview of key topics The book works as a stand alone introduction and by placing key works in a broader context can also provide an excellent basis for an entire course Australian Television Culture Tom O'Regan, 2020-07-24 Australian television has been transformed over the past decade Cross media ownership and audience reach regulations redrew the map and business culture of television leading business entrepreneurs acquired television stations and then sold them in the bust of the late 1980s and new television services were developed for non English speaking and Aboriginal viewers Australian Television Culture is the first book to offer a comprehensive analysis of the fundamental changes of this period It is also the first to offer a substantial treatment of the significance of multiculturalism and Aboriginal initiatives in television Tracing the links between local regional national and international television services Tom O Regan builds a picture of Australian television He argues that we are not just an outpost of the US networks and that we have a distinct television culture of our own a truly innovative book The author ambitiously strives for a large scale synthesis of policy program analysis history politics international influences and the Australian television system s place in the world Associate Professor Stuart Cunningham Queensland University of Technology Prime Time Animation Carol Stabile, 2013-09-13 In September 1960 a television show emerged from the mists of prehistoric time to take its place as the mother of all animated sitcoms The Flintstones spawned dozens of imitations just as two decades later The Simpsons sparked a renaissance of primetime animation This fascinating book explores the landscape of television animation from Bedrock to Springfield and beyond The contributors critically examine the key issues and questions including How do we explain the animation explosion of the 1960s Why did it take nearly twenty years following the cancellation of The Flintstones for animation to find its feet again as primetime fare In addressing these questions as well as many others essays examine the relation between earlier made for cinema animated production such as the Warner Looney Toons shorts and television based animation the role of animation in the economies of broadcast and cable television and the links between animation production and brand image Contributors also examine specific programmes like The Powerpuff Girls Daria Ren and Stimpy and South Park from the perspective of fans exploring fan cybercommunities investigating how ideas of class and taste apply to recent TV animation and addressing themes such as irony alienation and representations of the family Ideology in the Afternoon Russell E. Mumford, 1995-08-22 Why do I like soap operas Laura Stempel Mumford asks and her answer emerges in a feminist analysis of soap opera that participates in current debates about popular culture television and ideology She argues that the conventional daytime soap has an implicit and at times explicit political agenda that cooperates in the teaching of male dominance and the related oppressions of racism classism and heterosexism so that they seem inevitable All My Children General Hospital Another World One Life to Live Days of Our Lives The Young and the Restless a close reading of their texts will also answer some larger questions about television and its place in the broad landscape of popular culture Leaving China Wanning Sun, 2002-08-15 More than ever before China is on the move When the flow of people and images is fused meanings of self place space community and nation become unstable and contestable This fascinating book explores the ways in which movement within and across the national borders of the PRC has influenced the imagination of the Chinese people both those who remain and those who have left Travelers or no all participate in the production and consumption of images and narratives of travel thus contributing to the formation of transnational subjectivities Wanning Sun offers a fine grained analysis of the significant narrative forms and discursive strategies used in representing transnational space in contemporary China This includes looking at how stay at homes fantasize about faraway or unknown places and how those in the diaspora remember experiences of familiar places. She considers the ways in which mobility of people capital and images affects localities through individuals constructions of a sense of place Relatedly the author illustrates how economic social and political forces either facilitate or inhibit the formation of a particular kind of transnational subjectivity The Routledge Companion to Media & Gender Cynthia Carter, Linda Steiner, Lisa McLaughlin, 2013-12-13 The Routledge Companion to Media and Gender offers a comprehensive examination of media and gender studies charting its histories investigating ongoing controversies and assessing future trends The 59 chapters in this volume written by leading researchers from around the world provide scholars and students with an engaging and authoritative survey of current thinking in media and gender research The Companion includes the following features With each chapter addressing a distinct concrete set of issues the volume includes research from around the world to engage readers in a broad array of global and transnational issues and intersectional perspectives Authors address a series of important questions that have consequences for current and future thinking in the field including postfeminism sexual violence masculinity media industries queer identities video games digital policy media activism sexualization docusoaps teen drama cosmetic surgery media Islamophobia sport telenovelas news audiences pornography and social and mobile media A range of academic disciplines inform exploration of key issues around production and policymaking representation audience engagement and the place of gender in media studies The Routledge Companion to Media and Gender is an essential guide to the central ideas concepts and debates currently shaping media and gender research Framing Friction Mary S. Mander, 1999 In a culture where the media provide a steady diet of stories of conflict this collection is among the first to study the phenomenon of conflict itself as well as its relationship with the media Mary S Mander s introduction provides an intellectually rich foundation for this diverse exploration of the nature and implications of studying media and social conflict Contributors address such topics as the black press and the black community industrial and institutional control of television programming and media depictions of police mediated hostage negotiation Framing Friction is both a comparison of current modes of communications research and a persuasive call to move beyond conceiving of conflict as a state of dysfunction These essays bring a new and invigorating perspective to the role of conflict describing it as a constructive rather than a destructive social force Media in China Stephanie Hemelryk Donald, Yin Hong, Michael Keane, 2014-02-04 Multinational media companies increasingly look to China as a highly important market for the future but with what degree of confidence should they do so Media in China is about a new kind of revolution in China a revolution in which rapidly commercializing media industries confront slow changing power relations between political social and economic spheres This interdisciplinary collection draws on the expertise of industry professionals academic experts and cultural critics It offers a variety of perspectives on audio visual industries in the world's largest media market In particular the contributors examine television film music commercial and political advertising and new media such as the internet and multimedia These essays explore evolving audience demographies new patterns of media reception in regional centres and the gradual internationalization of media content and foreign investment in China's broadcasting industries This book will of use to students and professionals involved in media and communication as well as anyone interested in contemporary China Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts James Flood, Diane Lapp, Shirley Brice Heath, 2004-09-22 In an era characterized by the rapid evolution of the concept of literacy the Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts focuses on multiple ways in which learners gain access to knowledge and skills The handbook explores the possibilities of broadening current conceptualizations of literacy to include the full array of the communicative arts reading writing speaking listening viewing and to focus on the visual arts of drama dance film art video and computer technology The communicative and visual arts encompass everything from novels and theatrical performances to movies and video games In today s world new methods for transmitting information have been developed that include music graphics sound effects smells and animations While these methods have been used by television shows and multimedia products they often represent an unexplored resource in the field of education By broadening our uses of these media formats and genres a greater number of students will be motivated to see themselves as learners In 64 chapters organized in seven sections teachers and other leading authorities in the field of literacy provide direction for the future I Theoretical Bases for Communicative and Visual Arts Teaching Paul Messaris Section Editor II Methods of Inquiry in Communicative and Visual Arts Teaching Donna Alvermann Section Editor III Research on Language Learners in Families Communities and Classrooms Vicki Chou Section Editor IV Research on Language Teachers Conditions and Contexts Dorothy Strickland Section Editor V Expanding Instructional Environments Teaching Learning and Assessing the Communicative and Visual Arts Nancy Roser Section Editor VI Research Perspectives on the Curricular Extracurricular and Policy Perspectives James Squire Section Editor VII Voices from the Field Bernice Cullinan and Lee Galda Section Editors The International Reading Association has compiled in the Handbook of Research on Teaching Literacy Through the Communicative and Visual Arts an indispensable set of papers for educators that will enable them to conceptualize literacy in much broader contexts than ever before The information contained in this volume will be extremely useful in planning literacy programs for our students for today and tomorrow Making and Selling Culture Richard Ohmann, 1996-11-25 An inside look at cultural industries featuring interviews with key players from such companies as Twentiety Century Fox National Public Radio and Coca Cola To what extent do moviemakers television and radio producers advertising executives and marketers merely reflect trends beliefs and desires that already exist in our culture and to what extent do they consciously shape our culture to their own ends In depth interviews with ten executives from the culture industry and five scholarly analyses examine that question and address the issues of power and authority meaning and identity that arise when cultural producers define and react to audiences In their own words leaders from companies like Twentieth Century Fox National Public Radio and Warner Bros Television describe their perception of the sometimes paradoxical relationship between culture and what influences it For example while the former president of Coca Cola North America claims the company has never tried to create a trend he notes that we market in more countries than belong to the United Nations a product that has insinuated itself into the lives of the people to a point where it has become you know it s there These reflections by key players provide an unprecedented view as editor Richard Ohmann writes into the ways cultural producers imagine or know markets and how such knowledge figures in their decisions about what events experiences and products to make Psychological and Philosophical Studies of Jung's Teleology Garth Amundson, 2024-04-11 This important new volume addresses an underappreciated dimension of Jung s work his concept of the teleology or future orientation of psychic reality. The work authored by an international group of Jungian scholars expands upon the socio cultural psychological therapeutic and philosophical import of this key pillar of the Jungian oeuvre offering a compelling alternative to current culturally dominant ideas about how change occurs The book addresses varied aspects of his teleological thought generally and its application to the psychotherapeutic endeavor specifically engaging Freudian neo Freudian and related theoretical orientations in an informed dialogue about the critical issue of the emergent unfolding of subjectivity in treatment This is an illuminating read for those interested in the study of Jungian theory psychoanalysis social psychology religion transpersonal psychology indigenous wisdom traditions and The Age of Netflix Cory Barker, Myc Wiatrowski, 2017-09-12 In 2016 Netflix with an philosophical metapsychology already enormous footprint in the United States expanded its online streaming video service to 130 new countries adding more than 12 million subscribers in nine months and bringing its total to 87 million The effectiveness of Netflix s content management lies in its ability to appeal to a vastly disparate global viewership without a unified cache of content Instead the company invests in buying or developing myriad programming and uses sophisticated algorithms to narrowcast to micro targeted audience groups In this collection of new essays contributors explore how Netflix has become a cultural institution and transformed the way we consume popular media The Death Of Discourse Ronald K L Collins, David M Skover, 2019-09-12 In this innovative book the authors persuasively argue that the First Amendment to the Constitution has risen in the late twentieth century like an ill guided individual with knife in hand to murder a longstanding tradition of fine and meaningful discourse in the United States We are bombarded with the cacophony of advertisement the luridity of pornography and the pointlessness of prime timepoor substitutes for intelligent consideration of ideas In this innovative book the authors persuasively argue that the First Amendment to the Constitution has risen in the late twentieth century like an ill guided individual with knife in hand to murder a long standing tradition of fine and meaningful discourse in the United States What has died is the essential kind of political discourse which promotes democracy informs citizens enlivens debate and carries reason method and purpose Instead we are bombarded with the cacophony of advertisement the luridity of pornography and the pointlessness of prime time With satirical spirit and wityet to a very serious purpose the narrative of this lively study calls upon many of the very tricks it criticizes. The text is augmented by amusing tales poetry to zaps eyebites and boxes of aphorisms resonating between high and low culture between Plato and Geraldo and Madonna and Mahler to make its points the discussion reveals how discourse in contemporary America has lost its integrity and its soul Practice Terence Hawkes, Jean Howard, 2005-07-19 First published in 1994 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an Consuming China Kevin Latham, Stuart Thompson, Jakob Klein, 2012-08-21 Post Mao China has been informa company characterized in literature and the media as a burgeoning consumer society Consuming China investigates this characterization by examining the cultural significance of consumption and consumerism in the People's Republic of China today In questioning the notion of consumption this impressive work suggests that it is not simply a symptom of economic reform within China neither a product of the emergence and transformation of contemporary Chinese capitalism Rather the essays offer a new perspective on Chinese consumption by focusing on more than just consumerism looking at the practices of consumption in relation to different manifestations of social and cultural change Drawing on case studies from Taiwan Hong Kong and the People's Republic of China Consuming China affords a greater understanding of the practice of Chinese consumption and will appeal to China scholars and anthropologists and to those with an interest in cultural and gender studies
